CONFIRMING HIS STORY

ORCHARD'S TESTIMONY BEING SUBSTANTIATED BY OUTSIDE WITNESSES.

FRISCO GROCER ON THE STAND

It Was at His Store That Murderer Watched the Doings at the Bradley Home While Waiting to Kill.

Boise, Idaho, June 14.—When the trial of William B. Haywood was resumed this morning, L. B. Gubbini, a grocer of San Francisco, took the stand for the state, to give additional evidence bearing on the story told by Orchard of his attempts to kill Fred Bradley, of San Francisco. Gubbini was proprietor of the store near the Bradley home, where Orchard says he made his rendezvous while he was watching the Bradley house.

The prosecution devoted itself at this morning's session to a corroboration of Orchard's testimony relative to his attempts on the life of Bradley and in an endeavor to directly connect Pettibone with the operations of Orchard.

It was again shown that Orchard hung around the Bradley home, engaged a room in the vicinity, and met the servants of the Bradley household. He was seen moving his effects the night before the explosion, and was traced to the house again after the explosion occurred.

Then the state, by the record of the postoffices at San Francisco and Denver, traced a registered letter from "J. Wolff," Denver, at 1725 Stout street, which was the address of Pettibone's store, to J. Dempsey at San Francisco, sent in August, 1904, when Orchard was there for the purpose of killing Bradley.

Dempsey was the alias used by Orchard in San Francisco. Orchard swore that the letter contained $100.

The defense did but little cross-examining and contented itself with a general objection to all of the testimony offered, and showing it was the Pinkertons who arranged for the attendance of all the state's witnesses.

A LITTLE BOY KILLED

Horse Fell on Him While Driving Cows to Pasture.

Raleigh Ream, the 9-year-old son of L. B. Ream, a hardware dealer at Green Ridge, was killed at 8 o'clock this morning, one mile south of that place, by his horse falling upon him in a ditch while driving cows to pasture.

When the lad failed to return home search was made for him, and his dead body was found in the ditch by the roadside.

The arrangements for the funeral have not been made.

Engagement to Be Announced

The engagement of a popular Sedalia girl living on West Seventh street, and an equally popular West Fifth street young man, who is now living elsewhere, will be formally announced tomorrow.

BURIAL OF MR. FRIEMEL

SERVICES AT SACRED HEART CHURCH DURING THE FORENOON.

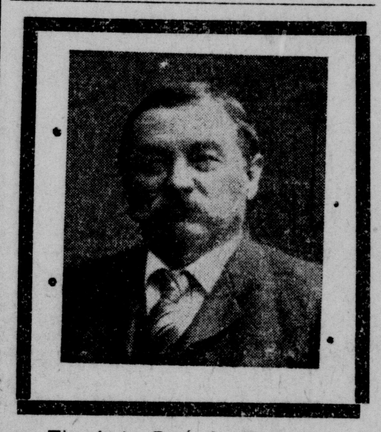

REV. FR. S. NEIBERG OFFIDIATED

Band of Music, Three Fraternal Orders, City Officials, Relatives and Friends Made Up Large Funeral Cortege.

The last rites over the remains of Prof. L. E. Friemel, who died suddenly of cerebral appoplexy at Pertle Springs Tuesday, were conducted at solemn requiem mass, by Rev. Fr. Neiberg, at Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock this morning.

Members of the Knights of Columbus, Eintracht lodge of the A. O. U. W., Pioneer Verein society, city officials and numerous sorrowing relatives and friends attended the services.

The three former organizations, preceded by the Sedalia Military band, marched to deceased's residence on West Second street, thence to the church and after the services marched to the Catholic cemetery, where burial was made. The pallbearers whose names were previously printed in this payer served.

The line of march was unusually long, while the beautiful and exquisite floral offerings that rested on the casket attested in a slight degree to the esteem in which deceased was held.

Rev. Fr. Neiberg delivered a touching eulogy on the life of deceased. He referred to the beloved dead as one of the church's most foremost members, ever willing to assist in the upbuilding of the church, and that his greatest pleasure was to be surrounded by his wife and children.

To the grown sons, whose sadness was noticeable to all, Fr. Neiberg admonished them to carry on their person a photo of their deceased father, sa that throughout their lives they might look upon it and be guided by the Christian example which he practiced throughout his life.

RUSSIAN PREMIER DEMANDS THE EXPULSION OF MANY MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT

HE ACCUSES THEM OF TREASON

Police and Militia Take Possession of All Entrances to the Legislative Building and Clear Press and Public Galleries

St. Petersburg, Inue 14.—Premier Stolypin today demanded that the lower house of parliament exclude from the house all members of the social democratic faction, numbering fifty-five and sanction the arrest of sixteen of their leaders.

He charges them with having entered into a conspiracy to overthrow the government and establish a democratic republic.

Continuing, the premier announced that unless the house immediately yield the parliament would be dissolved.

The press and public galleries were cleared and police and troops took possession of all entrances to the parliament building, while the house went into a secret session to debate the question as to whether they would obey the order or not.

Killed Another Official.

St. Petersburg, June 14.—Colonel Kotlaroff, deputy commandant of the port of St. Petersburg, was murdered this morning by a workman, who is believed to be a revolutionist. The assassin was captured.

DEATH WAS SUDDEN

That of John Van Buskirk at Sweet Springs, Mo.

John Van Buskirk died quite suddenly early Tuesday morning of heart failure, says the Sweet Springs Herald. He had been subject to heart trouble for some years, but did not consider it serious. He arose as usual on the morning of his death and fed his team, preparatory to the work of the day, and while waiting for breakfast he was suddenly attacked and died in a few minutes.

Mr. Van Buskirk was 69 years of age. He came to Missouri from Ohio in 1866 and settled on the farm on which he has since lived as one of the best citizens of Saline county.

He was buried Wednesday at 11 a. m. at Antioch church. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. S. H. Carter.

He leaves a wife, a brother and a sister and a host of friends to mourn his death.

SCHMITZ FOUND GUILTY

THE MAYOR OF SAN FRANCISCO CONVICTED OF EXTORTING MONEY.

A DECISION IS QUICKLY REACHED

Judge Dunne's Charge Was as Fair and as Nicely Balanced as Possible—Schmitz Showed No Emotion.

San Francisco, Cal., June 14.—Judge Dunne today denied bail to Mayor Schmitz, who was convicted last night of extortion, and ordered him taken to jail. The mayor asked for his release on bail until June 27, when sentence will be pronounced.

San Francisco, Cal., June 14.—Mayor Eugene Schmitz was found guilty of the charge of extorting money from restaurant keepers in the verdict of the jury brought in last night. The case went to the jury at 6 o'clock. Three hours later the decision had been reached.

Schmitz sat unmoved with his left hand to his chin. He apparently did not understand and asked Barrett:

"What is it?"

"Guilty," sair Barrett.

Schmitz's hand dropped to the table, but he showed no other signs of emotion.

The morning of the last day of the mayor's trial was taken up with Mr. Campbell's closing address to the jury for the defense.

The afternoon, from 2:30 o'clock until after 5, was consumed by Assistant District Attorney Heney in a fiery closing speech for the state.

The reading by Judge Dunne of his charge to the jury occupied the best part of an hour. Throughout all the afternoon the unprecedented crowd that filled every seat in the audience room and galleries of the synagogue sat or stood tight-wedged, tense and unweary.

It was the sentiment, equally expressed at both ends of the long table where the opposing lawyers sat, that Judge Dunne's charge was as fair and as nicely balanced in the scales of judicial indifference as a judge's charge may be.

Judge Dunn, in defining to the jury what the law means by a threat in connection with extortion, said it must be such a threat as would naturally cause a man of reasonably firm mind to give up his property in fear.

He cautioned that a threat in extortion need not be verbal or direct. It may be unspoken, and merely implied, and come fully within the meaning of the law. He charged that even if Schmitz received part of the money paid to Ruef by the French restaurant men, but did not know at the time of receiving it that it had been paid under threat, the defendant must be acquitted.

Mayor Schmitz dictated the following statement to the Associated Press:

"No matter what the decision of the jury which was gotten under most adverse circumstances regarding myself, I still maintain and affirm that I am absolutely innocent of the crime charged and will fight the case to the last resort. As I said before my trial, I did not expect nor did I receive fair or even decent treatment at the hands of Judge Dunne, and realizing his prejudice I made every effort to have the case transferred to any other judge in the state. I do not take this as a defeat and the decision makes me all the more determined to seek and secure justice in another court."

The first ballot of the jury was cast verbally and stood eleven for conviction, one for acquittal. One juror, Burns, cast the dissenting vote. Then the twelve men began a discussion of the evidence, which lasted for nearly an hour. At the end of that time the first formal ballot was cast. It was a written ballot and was unanimous for conviction. The jurymen issued this statement to the Associated Press immediately after their dismissal by the court:

"In Justice to Juror Burns it should be explained that he did not vote for acquittal because he was dissatisfied with the evidence or believed [illegible] of the [illegible] secutive reading of these momentarily confused Mr. Burns. As soon as he understood the matter he cast his vote with the other eleven, and the verdict was accomplished."

Mr. Burns approved this statement as correct.

TWO COURTS MAY CLASH

STATE CIRCUIT COURT MAKES ORDER CONTRARY TO MANDATE OF FEDERAL JUDGE

NOW A QUESTION OF JURISDICTION

United States Judge Enjoins State Officials, State Judge Commands Railway to Obey New Laws—Which Is Highest?

Kansas City, Mo., June 14.—Upon application of Attorney General Hadley, Judge Parks of the circuit court here this morning issued orders upon the representatives here of eighteen of the principal Missouri railroads, compelling them to obey the 2 cents per mile passenger rate and the maximum freight rate bills which went into effect last midnight.

This action brings the circuit court into direct conflict with the United States district court, before which these same railroads are suing for an injunction to prevent the state officials from enforcing these laws. Similar action was taken in St. Louis today.

When the case of the railroads was called before Judge McPherson today he ordered it postponed until tomorrow morning. The court said that in the meantime his order of yesterday, restraining the state officials from enforcing the acts in question would continue in effect.

THE WINDSOR BAR SOLD

Ira Nicholson, of Kansas City, Becomes the Owner.

Will DeBold, proprietor of the Windsor bar at Second and Lamine avenue, today sold his saloon to Ira Nicholson, of Kansas City, who assumed charge at once and will open the place as soon as he secures a license from the county court. The price paid was $3,200.

Mr. DeBold is figuring on selling his residence at Thirteenth and Ohio streets, and when the deal is consummated he and his family will leave for Denver, Colo., where he will engage in the laundry business with his brother, Henry DeBold, a former Sedalian.

Mr. Nicholson is well known in Kansas City, and formerly was employed with the George W. Peck Dry Goods Co.

On leaving the Queen City to take up his abode in the Centennial state hundreds of Sedalia friends will wish Mr. DeBold the success he deserves and is sure to attain.

"STOPPED AND LOOKED"

THEN IT WAS DAUGHTER AND FATHER WERE REUNITED, AFER 12 YEARS.

WHAT DREW THEM TOGETHER

Hewitt, With Two Sons, Left Family in StS. Louis Sixteen Years Ago —Changed Name on Pension Rolls to Heuit.

Leavenworth, Kan., June 14.—Occassionall in this practical world of ours we run onto happenings that make a story writer's romance look pale. Such a situation occurred the other day when John Hewitt, an old soldier, and Mrs. Potter, of Leavenworth, father ad daughter, long separated, passed on Delaware street, and drawn by an indefinable attraction retraced their steps and stood facing each other for a minute. Then the woman gasped, "What is your name?"

"Hewitt," the man replied, pale and trembling.

"I knew it," she cried, "and you are my father."

"Yes, I believe I am," the old man said, as he reached out his hands "I was almost sure that I knew your face. So you're my girl, and grown to a woman now."

And, regardless of passer-by, the father and daughter stood gazing at each other as though dazed by the sudden encounter.

Thei meeting was a feature of a story begun over 12 years ago wh John Hewitt took two small from his home in St. Louis and peared without a word of explanati From then on he and the two c dren were lost to his family, were never sure what had become them and who part of the t mourned them as dead.

"What did you do with my br es?" Mrs. Potter asked.

For a minute he hesitated and th said: "Well, Emmett, the baby, over at Ackenhausen's, working. Th other one is in the country."

Then he took his daughter acros the street to the saddlery company ad told her and the wonderig boy all that had happened in the years since he had left his home.

He came to Kansas and established a little grocery in North Topeka, in the meantime placing the boys in the Soldiers' Orphan home at Atchison.

After the flood, in which he lost his Topeka property, Hewitt came to the Soldiers' home and placed one boy out on a farm and brought the younger one to Leavenworth, where he went to work with the saddlery company.

Hewitt covered his tracks even changing his name to H the pension rolls. This la saved his family from findi he could not be located u d name when they wrote the p ion department. He gave little explanation for leaving his wife and family and for telling his sons that thei mother was insane.

Until his father said to him, "So this is your sister," Emmett Hew had no idea that he had any ot relatives living besides his father brother. He had, however, a m and several brothers and sisters has now gone to the Territory with a brother.

John Hewitt seemed very t his son and is a pleasant app old man. The boy, Emmett, t batching alone in North Leavenw was known as a remarkably good b and with no bad habits.

The father has lately obtained a discharge from the Home and has now gone to Topeka for a while. He seems to be a man of roving disposition, which may account for his peculiar departure from home.

His daughter, Mrs. Potter, who is a bright, fine looking woman, recently came to Leavenworth from Oklahoma with her husband, who is a paper hanger for C. M Tarr.

An odd thing about the meeting of the father and daughter is that she saw him at the Soldiers' home a short time before meeting him on the street, and struck then by the thought tha must be her but finally

TRUTH ABOUT MRS. EDDY WILL SOON BE KNOWN.

The action of Judge Chamberlain at Concord, N. H., ordering an inquiry as to the mental competency of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, will not only determine whether there is ground for the bringing of the accounting suit, but it will decide a question that has been agitating the public mind for some time—what is the present mental and physical condition of the founder and leader of the Christian Science church? For the past two years or thereabouts Mrs. Eddy has lived in retirement. She has been practically secluded from the world. fore removing herself from ordi- course with her followers, ally announced the fact that would receive no more pilgrims at home, that she would probably no more writings, and delivered at was heralded as her farewell munication to the church. Since time little has been seen or rd of Mrs. Eddy directly. his seclusion in the course of a months gave rise to many rumors to Mrs. Eddys condition. Finally, was openly asserted that her health ad failed, that she was in a state f physical collapse from which she ould never rally, and that her mind ad begun to give way. It was said, nd great pains were taken to prove he statement by observations at the house, that an imposter had been set up in Mrs. Eddy's place, resembling her in appearance, and that it was the purpose of those in charge of her affairs to keep up the deception, even after her death. This charge subsequently was partially disproved by the granting of an interview upon the request of several eastern newspapers to their representatives. The result of this meeting unsatisfactory. Mrs. Eddy made pearance only for an instant. A ds were exchanged amid a dramatic setting, when it nced that the interview wa end and the newspaper men withdrew. Their accounts agreed that Mrs. Eddy was in a greatly eakened and emaciated condition. here was some difference as to the tate of her mind, though she seemed be in a stupor from which she s with difficulty aroused.

he suit filed by the relatives of Eddy, as next friends, was the of these reports and investis as to her health and surgs. It was charged in the that she is mentally int to attend to her own afnd that her advisers have tadvantage of her infirmities to e possession of her great wealth to exercise the power she wields rough the church for their benefit. Manifestly, the only way to decide he rightfulness of Mrs. Eddy's prospective heirs to prosecute such a suit s to determine by judicial inquiry whether she is competent or incompetent.

In this investigation she will be subjected to the methods ordinarily employed in cases of this kind, which means that evidence will be adduced o show the exact condition of her ind and health. The result will both satisfy public curiosity, which is equally strong within and without the Christian Science church, as well as decide the legal point involved.

BILITY FOR ONAL

in one of his addresses at the Jamestown exposition, related to the subject of damages for injuries sustained by employes. His approval of the employers' liability act, and his opinion that it should be strengthened, if anything, instead of modified, as the corporations have asked, is well taken. The responsibility of employers for injuries to workmen who are engaged by them in a dangerous occupation, provided the employe himself is not careless, or is not the direct cause of the accident, is well established. It is founded on the protection of the laborer and his family against want or distress where he is incapacitated or his earning power reduced.

The principle that employers shall be held accountable in damages for injuries resulting from defective machinery, etc., and from risks which theor employes are compelled to assume has been so thoroughly incorporated into our law, and so manifestly just that the public will never consent to its abridgement.

Mr. Roosevelt, however, would extend the law still further. In fact, he would wipe it out altogether and substitute a new statute founded on an altogether different basis. He would make the employer responsible for all accidents, regardless of how they occurred or who caused them. Workmen, he says, should receive a certain limited and definite compensation for all accidents in industry, irrespective of negligence. His advocacy of paying a certain limited and definite sum to the vicitm or his family has several things to recommend it, chief of which would be the avoidance of litigation in claims for damages and the removal from court of an immense number of law suits of this character, which are costly to the stte, defendant and plaintiff, as well as an obstruction of court business.

But the proposal to make the employers liable for every class of accidents, including those in which the workman is to blame because of carelessness or incompetency, is one that will be resisted by all users of labor in whatever capacity. It is of just as great importance that the employer should be protected as the employe. The former is willing to assume a reasonable liability, which means a division of the risk that forces workmen to be cautious, but to make him responsible for any and every accident that occurs would be an absolute injustice.

According to the census figures, there are 4,833,630 breadwinners among the women of this country. If there were that many good breadmakers among them there would be a falling off in the demand for dyspepsia tablets.

ALL ABOUT THE NATURE FAKERS

Boston Philanthropist Makes Vigorous Attack in "Our Dumb Animals"—Bitter Reply to Assault on Long.

Boston, Mass., June 14.—George P. Angell, president of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, feels bitter toward President Roosevelt because of the latter's attack on "nature fakers," and especially the criticism on the Rev. William J. Long. In the next issue of Our Dumb Animals, the official publication of the society, Mr. Angell will say over his own signature.

"If in his boyhood President Roosevelt had been humanely educated probably he would have written differently about the starving cattle on western ranges and the shooting of animals simply for the fun of wounding and killing them. He would not be so anxious to put rifles into the hands of American schoolboys that they might be better prepared to shoot human beings, and he would not be engaged in his present controversy with the Rev. William J. Long.

"There can be no doubt of President Roosevelt's courage to lead a Balaklava charge of the Six Hundred, or explore the bottom of the Atlantic in a submarine, or float over the top of Washington monument in an airship, to test the military value of that kind of navigation, and there can be no doubt that he has done much good work since he became president, and we hope he may do much before the end of his term.

"But we cannot help thinking of him as a powder mill liable at any time to explode and do vast damage, and we most earnestly wish—as we suggested some months since—that he might have in his cabinet as 'secretary of peace' some strong man to whose wise counsels he would respectfully listen, so that he may studiously avoid everything which would plunge our nation into another war.'

Of the controversy between President Roosevelt and the Rev. Dr. Long he says: "One has only to read the books of the two men to determine upon which side of the scales lies the verity of this controversy.

"Long went into the untracked wilderness practically alone and unarmed, bent on the study of animals in their native lair, with the love of dumb brutes in his heart and a desire to know them and impart his studies to his fellow men.

"Roosevelt on the other hand, went into the field armed to the teeth with repeating rifles, etc. His books are steeped in blood of wanton slaughter, and he revels in telling of the wounding of beasts, the killing of fawns and mother animals, and of disregard for the unwritten laws of camp life in shooting in camp confines. Far from being the foremost authority on American animals, Theodore Roosevelt has written himself down as being not even a true sportsman."

The harsh forest laws of William the Conqueror are responsible for the meaning of good luck now so often associated with the term windfall. Our Coffee Business Growing
We have been compelled on account of the constant growth of our coffee trade to install another mill—one of the Stimpson's latest patterns. The new mill will grind coffee as coarse or as fine as you want it. No. 6 is the coarsest grind and the finest is the pulverized. If once we get the grind you like we will tell you the number, so when you order coffee you can always have the same grind. Call and see it work.

MANY JOBS FOR GIRL

IS STATION AGENT THOUGH ONLY 19 YEARS OLD.

New England Young Woman Looks After Tickets and Freight, Carries the Mail and Acts as Baggage Master.

Rutland, Vt. — Nineteen and a girl yet station agent, mail carrier, express agent, baggage master and freight agent for the Central Vermont railroad—that is Miss Bessie Elizabeth Henley of East Granville in the Green Mountain range. And she has held all these jobs since she was 17 years old.

Admiring friends claim that Miss Hanley is the only young woman in New England holding such a position or such a multitude of positions that are so distinctively in the sphere of the male. Although just emerged from childhood when appointed, she has done the work of her office for two years without a black mark against her record. Failure to be on hand at train time is unknown not only to Miss Hanley, but to most of the residents of the hamlet.

East Granville is near the uppermost portion of the pass in the Green mountain range through which the Central Vermont railway makes its way from one side of the state of Vermont to the other. A lumbering community, extending for eight miles back into the mountains to the west, finds a point of connection by the road with the world and its market places.

The amount of business transacted probably makes no appreciable difference in the dividends which stockholders of the system receive, but it is of considerable moment in the operation of traffic through the great ravine and to the safety and convenience of thousands of passengers on the through trains between Boston and Montreal, as well as to the hundreds of cars of freight which daily pass the point. For on the care and watchfulness of the girl in charge of the company's depot, under the sheer cliff of the mountainside, depend their safety.

No difficulty is experienced by Miss Hanley in handling everything that comes East Granville way. She finds the railroad men all anxious to assist her. Although not many trunks are taken on at the little depot of which she has charge, when one does show up it has as much in it as the railroad will carry without excess rates; and the station agent's heart sank when she saw the first old-fashioned Saratogas intended for transportation.

There are no baggage trucks for the use of the agent, and she did not feel equal to the task of carrying the heavy boxes from the station platform three car lengths up the track to the express car. Willing brakemen saw her dilemma and came to her aid, and four powerful arms made short work of it. So also with much of the express matter billed to the town. One man would have difficulty in handling it, but Miss Hanley's volunteers solve the problem in no time, piling the articles on the freight shed platform, where they are left to be called for by the consignees.

Not many difficulties have been encountered by the young woman in the discharge of her duties. East Granville is not regarded as a particularly healthy location for tramps under any circumstance, and in the winter time it is too cold for them.

You need a tonic that will put the sap of life into your system and fortify you against all diseases. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea is recognized as the greatest strengthener known. Tea or tablets, 35 cents.—W. E. Bard Drug Co.

Solemn Smell.

The church was beautifully decorated with sweet flowers and the air was heavy with their fragrance. As the service was about to begin small Kitty pulled her mother's sleeve and whispered, "Mamma, doesn't it smell solemn?"

Special opportunities for "economical shoppers" at Bondi's during pay day week. Starts Saturday morning.

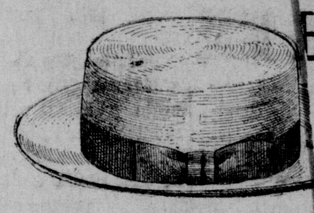

Proper Dish Washing.

The dirty dishes and plates should be put into a dish-tub of warm water at once when taken from the table; by this means half the trouble of washing-up will be saved, as it will prevent the gravy-juice, mustard, etc., from cooling and drying on the plates and dishes. When you commence washing them, add sufficient boiling water to make it very hot, and with a dishcloth wash on both sides, one at a time. Then rinse in a pan of cold water, or under a running tap; this makes them clean and bright looking, and removes any little grease that might remain. Now put them in a rack, or on one side to drain.

Buttered Apples.

A REMARKABLE GAIN

Reported by a Henry County Farmer in Cattle

Mr. W. P. Gibson called on the Windsor Review Monday and gave a bit of news regarding one of his neighbors, Mr. Isaac Hanthorn, who is certainly entitled to the blue ribbon as a cattle feeder.

Mr. Hanthorn has twenty-three head of beef stuff on full feed, and in one month—from May 6 to June 6, being weighed on the same scales and under the same conditions—they made the remarkable gain of 171 pounds per head, or about 7½ pounds each per day.

Mr. Hanthorn could hardly believe such a gain possible, and fearing there was something "out of kilter" with the scales, examined them to make sure they were all right and drove the cattle on and weighed them the second time, with the same result. He will weigh them again on the 6th of July.

REGARDING RAILROADS

COACH, CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

One of the largest verdicts for damages ever given in the supreme court in New York was awarded by a jury when Sarah L. E. Reed was awarded $101,789 for the loss of her husband, who was killed by a New York Central train at the Van Cortlandt Park crossing three years ago.

Mr. Reed, who was a paper bag manufacturer, was riding in an automobile with George Noakes, Mrs. Noakes and Noake's son and daughter. The automobile was struck by a train.

Reed was killed and Miss Noakes and the chauffeur each lost a leg. The chauffeur recovered a verdict of $10,000 and Miss Noakes $35,000.

The testimony in all the suits showed that the approaching train was hidden from view by a stationary one, and that the warning bell at the crossing was out of order.

Pullman People to Fight.

Denying that it is a common carrier and therefore not amenable to the laws regulating commerce between the states, the Pullman Sleeping Car Co. yesterday gave to the interstate commerce commission what amounts to a notice that the constitutionality of the railroad act, in so far as it applies to sleeping car companies, will be put to the test. The Pullman company, in asserting that it is not a common carrier, contends that its operations are not subject to regulation or control by the interstate commerce commission.

To Stop at Knobnoster.

The state board of railway and warehouse commissioners yesterday afternoon requested Prosecuting Attorney Cockrell, of Johnson county, to institute proceedings against the Missouri Pacific Railway company for its failure to comply with the order of the board, issued in April, relative to the stopping of certain trains on flag at Knob Noster.

The penalty for failure to obey the order of the board in such instances is punishable by fine ranging from $100 to $500.

Loss From Two-Cent Fares.

Statisticians have been at work figuring up the loss of revenue that will be sustained by the railroads from the passage of 2-cent passenger fare laws.

The result has been to show that the revenue derived from passenger traffic constitutes 27.58 per cent of the total income, and that the losses through the enforced lowering of the rates will be 20 per cent on business in states where these laws have been passed.

Lacerated His Lip.

H. E. Bachtell, a Missouri Pacific brakeman, received a painful injury at Otterville early this morning, while returning to Sedalia from Tipton on train No. 9.

He was standing in the aisle of a chair car placing a suit case in a rack, when the engineer applied the air brake to slack up at Otterville hill.

As he did so George was thrown against the rack, lacerating his upper lip.

The New Time Card.

The new time card of the Missouri Pacific goes into effect next Saturday midnight. Trains Nos. 27 and 28 will have their numbers changed to Nos. 37 and 38. The running time of train No. 9 will be reduced fifteen minutes between Sedalia and Kansas City. This is the only change affecting the Sedalia divisoni.

Kills Two-Cent Fare Bill.

The Wisconsin senate yesterday by a vote of 21 to 6 killed the 2-cent fare railway bill, after the measure had been under debate for an hour and a half.

Automatic Couplers.

Roadmaster J. T. Westbrook, of the Missouri Pacific, went to Warsaw today on business.

Edward Kenzie, the Katy engineer, and family, leave Sunday for a visit at Galveston, Texas.

J. W. Griffin, a Missouri Pacific conductor, reported for work today, after a few days' lay off.

James Nelms, a Missouri Pacific boilermakers' apprentice, is laying off on account of sickness.

Claim Agent R. A. Thickett, of the Katy at St. Louis, returned there today, after a business visit here.

H. L. White, route agent for the Pacific Express company, went to Knob Noster today on business.

W. E. Merrifield, Missouri Pacific trainmaster, returned at noon today from a business visit at Kansas City.

In future, Missouri Pacific train No. 216, from the L. and S. division, will make a regular stop at Greenwood.

M. J. McGraw, Missouri Pacific master mechanic, returned this afternoon from a business visit at Calfornia, Mo.

H. C. Reeder and F. M. Plake, Missouri Pacific spiraling engineers, went to Montserrat today on company business.

George Bonner, a Missouri Pacific telegraph operator at St. Louis, returned there last night, after visiting relatives here for a week.

"Irish" Butler, a well known Missouri Pacific boilermakers' apprentice, resumed work yesterday, after a few days' lay off, due to illness.

The 2-cent rate for all railroads in Missouri went into effect last midnight, but today J. W. McClain and C. M. Jacobs are selling tickets at the same old rates.

E. F. Lewis, west end fireman for the Missouri Pacific, and wife, returned last night from a two weeks' visit at Arrow Rock, Mo. Ed reported for work today.

General Superintendent E. A. Gould, of the Missouri Pacific at Kansas City, passed through here in his special car on No. 2 last night, en route home from St. Louis.

W. J. McKee, general superintendent of the Missouri Pacific at Coffeyville, Kan., in his special car, passed through here last night on No. 9, en route home from St. Louis.

John Gallagher, stenographer in the office of Superintendent A. J. Alexander, of the Missouri Pacific, has resumed work, after a lay off, due to illness resulting from vaccination.

Eugene Miller, a Katy shopman, dropped a piece of pipe on his right foot while at work yesterday, causing a painful injury. He is able to be down town, with the aid of crutches.

Edward Donohue, the veteran railroad man, has been indisposed and on the sick list for several days, but today is again on deck at the "Old Reliable's" station, feeling first rate.

A. W. Vance, formerly civil engineer for the Missouri Pacific, accompanied by his family, left this morning for Missoula, Mont., where he will be employed hereafter by the C., M. and St. P. road.

J. C. Hull, Missouri Pacific conductor, who has been running on the river route, returned here this morning and "bumped" H. J. Brummerhoff from trains Nos. 93 and 94, between here and Jefferson City.

O. F. Fowler, chief dispatcher for the Katy, resumed work today, after a few days' visit at Walnut, Kan. J. A. Peterson is again at work as train dispatcher, while operator Frank Scow is doing his regular work.

Richard Settles, a Missouri Pacific machinist, dropped a piece of metal on his right hand while at work at the shops today, painfully injuring the middle and ring fingers. He leaves tonight for the company's St. Louis hospital.

An official order was received here today stating that, effective June 15, the mail cars on Katy trains Nos. 1 and 2 will be run through from St. Louis to Parsons, and vice versa, instead of cutting off the cars at Sedalia.

Condition of Mr. Robinson.

Col. J. A. Robinson was brought home from McAllister Springs at 6 o'clock last night by Mrs. Robinson and Dr. Taylor, of Houstonia, and is now under the care of Dr. W. G. Cowan.

It was 2:30 o'clock this morning before the patient closed his eyes in slumber, and this afternoon there is very litle change in his condition.

Nothing serious is anticipated, and it is believed that with a few days of quietude and careful nursing Col. Robinson will be restored to his usual good health.

NEWSPAPER MEN WILL FARM.

Colony of Writers to Take Land in Little Snake River Valley.

Denver, Col.—A colony of newspaper men is to be established in the Little Snake river valley in Routt county, Colorado, where the state of Colorado will throw open for settlement this summer, under the Carey act, 50,000 acres of land. This land is under the Little Snake river canal system.

The plan is to make this colony an up-to-date farming community, where each man will own his own farm and improvements, the only connection in which the community idea will prevail, if at all, being in regard to labor.

Under the Carey act, any citizen of the United States may select 160 acres, the price of land and perpetual water right in the canal system being fixed by the state at $22.50 per acre.

Warren R. Given, a former newspaper man, has taken options on 40 sections of 160 acres each for the newspaper men.

BURNT CLAY ROADS.

Way in Which Some Sections Are Getting Good Roads at Small Expense.

Clay becomes more or less hard and impervious to water when subjected to heat. Clay has been so far considered one of the worst road-building materials, combining with the gentle rain to form a sticky mire destructive of locomotion by man or beast. The clay, however, may contain within itself the very elements of the salvation of those regions in which it predominates, as witness this from the Southwest Magazine:

"A method has been discovered for converting gumbo roads, long a dread to those who have had to travel in rural districts, into clay-ballasted highways. The process which has been conducted in the Yazoo Valley of Mississippi has been not only simple, but satisfactory and not costly.

"After grading the road to an even width between ditches, it is plowed up as deeply as practicable. After the plowing has been completed, furrows are dug across the road from ditch to ditch, extending through and beyond the width to be burned. Across the ridges formed between these furrows —which should be about four feet apart—the first course of cordwood is laid longitudinally so as to form a series of flues in which the firing is started. From 15 to 20 of these flues are fired at one time.

"The best and soundest cordwood is selected for this course and should be laid so that the pieces will touch, thus forming a floor. Another layer of wood is thrown irregularly across the floors, in crib formation, with space left between, in which the lumps of clay are piled in close enough to allow a draft for easy combustion. After the clay has been heaped upon the floor, another course of wood is laid parallel to the first.

"The third layer is placed in exactly the same manner as the first, and each opening and crack is filled with brush, chips, bark, small sticks or any other combustible material. A top layer of clay is placed over all and the finer portions of the material are heaped over the whole structure; the latter being taken from the side ditches. Finally the whole is tamped and rounded off so that the heat will be held within the flues as long as possible. When coal is available, the two top layers of wood may be omitted and the coal slack thoroughly mixed with the clay.

"It is necessary to get the fires well under way in the flues before the first layer of wood is burned through. The first action of the fire is to drive out the water contained in the clay before the actual burning and clinkering can begin. The firing should be begun on the windward side, and the best results are obtained by firing all the flues of a section simultaneously and maintaining the combustion as even as possible. In case the combustion is too rapid in any flue, it may be regulated by banking the mouth of the flue with clay.

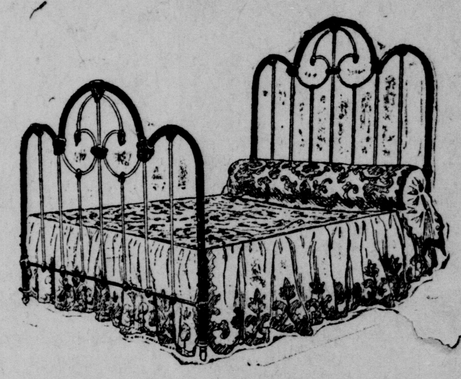

"After the firing is completed, not only the portion of clay which forms the top of the kiln, but the ridges between the flues should be burned thoroughly, so as to form a covering of burnt clay 10 to 12 inches in depth, which, when rolled down and compacted, forms a road surface of from six to eight inches in thickness.

"If properly burned, the material should be entirely changed in character, and when it is wet it should have no tendency to form mud. When the material is sufficiently cooled, the roadbed should be brought to a high crown before rolling. This can best be done with a road grader. The finished crown should have a slope of at least one-half inch to the foot.

"A burnt clay road will last indefinitely, and it has the double advantage of being dry in wet weather and free from dust in dry weather. There is splendid opportunity for road improvements of this character in the southwest."

ONE OF JOE WEBER'S CELEBRATED CHORUS GIRLS WAS TAKEN IN.

SHE IS CLEVER, BUT WAS CAUGHT

Poses as Son of Millionaire Who Had No Male Heir—New York and Chicago Ends of the Story.

Chicago, Ill., June 14.—Miss Virginia Marshall of Joe Weber's celebrated marrying chorus thought she was going to marry Montgomery Ward, Jr., son of the "watch dog of the lake front," who has so many millions he can't count 'em all.

But she isn't.

Miss Marshall thought that the only son and heir to the great Montgomery Ward estate was going to visit her yesterday for the purpose of pulling off the wedding.

But he didn't.

Miss Marshall has even gone so far as to announce the wedding. But Montgomery Ward, Jr., will not be there.

The reason is that there is no Montgomery Ward, Jr.

There is a young man in New York who poses as Montgomery Ward, Jr. He has been having a dandy time, cashing checks, borrowing on the strength of his terrific front, hiring automobiles and giving away costly presents that are charged to the account of Montgomery Ward, Sr.

But this young man is not the son of the owner of the great mail order house, for the multimillionaire has no son.

The New York Telegraph prints the announcement of this most extraordinary engagement. Charles H. Thorne, secretary of Montgomery, Ward & Co., when told of it, said:

"That's probably the young man who has been very free with checks in New York recently. We received a telegram from New York banks saying that a young man claiming to be the son of Montgomery Ward, was presenting checks to be cashed. We wired to the banks that there was no Montgomery Ward, Jr."

The New York Telegraph's article says: "'I must not tell the date,' said Miss Marshall, demurely. 'It's a secret. But,' she added, 'Montgomery Ward, Jr., my fiance, will be here tomorrow, and then I will have something very nice to tell you. We will said for Europe on our honeymoon June 28. I shall be very happy after tomorrow.'"

The little romance which was to have made her a bride began only last March, when the so-called Ward, Jr., came here on business. He went to the Weber show, saw Miss Marshal of the chorus and sought an introduction that night. After that automobile rides and little dinners did the rest.

AFRAID OF PARALYSIS

A NERVOUS SUFFERER CURED BY DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

The Medicine That Makes Rich, Red Blood and Performs Wonders as a Tonic for the Nerves.

Why are nervous people invariably pale people?

The answer to that question explains why a remedy that acts on the blood can cure nervous troubles.

It explains why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are also for nervous people.

It is because of the intimate relation between the red corpuscles in the blood and the health of the nerves. The nervous system receives its nourishment through the blood. Let the blood become thin, weak and colorless and the nerves are starved—the victim is started on the road that leads to nervous wreck. Nervous people are pale people—but the pallor comes first. Enrich the blood and the nerves are stimulated and toned up to do their part of the work of the body. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make red blood and transform nervous, irritable, ailing people into strong, energetic, forceful men and women.

Mrs. Harriet E. Porter, of 20 Liberty avenue, South Medford, Mass., says:

"I had never been well from childhood and a few years ago I began to have dizzy spells. At such times I could not walk straight. I was afraid of paralysis and was on the verge of nervous prostration. Then neuralgia set in and affected the side of my face. The pains in my forehead were excruciating and my heart pained me so that my doctor feared neuralgia of the heart. I tried several different kinds of treatment but they did me no good.

"One day my son brought me some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I found that they strengthened my nerves. I took several boxes and felt better in every way. There were no more dizzy attacks, the neuralgia left me and I have been a well woman ever since."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are invaluable in anæmia, rheumatism, after-effects of the grip and fevers and in sick headaches, nervousness, neuralgia, and even partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia.

Our booklet "Nervous Disorders, a Method of Home Treatment" will be sent free on request to anyone interested. Write for it today.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Prairie Items

Prairie, Mo., June 12.

A party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McNutty on Friday evening, June 7th. The event was in honor of Misses Lucile Berry, Hazel Berry, Valla Harrison and Master Floyd Read, who were the four graduates of Quisenberry school this year. There were about fifty guests in attendance. Games and dancing afforded the amusement. Refreshments were served at 11 o'clock, after which all returned to their homes, wishing the guests of honor many days of joy and gladness.

Mr. A. Burress is marketing strawberries this week.

Mr. C. E. Harrison was transacting business in Sedalia Saturday.

This locality was visited by a severe storm Sunday afternoon and night. Rain fell in torrents and the wind blew a gale.

About seventy-five people attended services at Quisenberry school house Sunday afternoon. Rev. Hayman filled the engagement for Rev. Miller, who was sick.

Oscar Scotten is attending school at Warrensburg this summer.

Mr. Haggard is having some lumber sawed at the mill in Dresden township, with a view of building a barn.

Mr. Neitzert was in the Queen City Saturday.

Mr. F. M. Bohon has made arrangements with Mr. Alcorn to use his engine in the threshing season.

Mrs. Birdie Finley has quite a large music class this season.

DAIRY NOTES.

Never use musty or dirty litter.

We are often inclined to mistake lack of "gumption" for "hard luck."

Keep the stable and dairy room in good condition, fresh air, dry and clean.

The imitation gives just as good satisfaction as the genuine as long as a difference is not known.

Good judgment is of more value than either knowledge or skill, although each is desirable.

When calves are fed skim milk it should be warmed to blood heat before giving or it may cause scours.

If every person were to receive credit for intentions instead of actions, many a one would be judged differently than under the present plan.

Woman Rolled Steel Water Tank Up the Street.

The spectacle of a handsome woman rolling a steel water tank up the main street Tuesday morning caused considerable comment and excited the curiosity of the people till her action was explained, says the Boonville Advertiser.

The lady was Mrs. Walter Reed, wife of one of the stockholders the Boonville Mercantile Co.

Mrs. Reed was at the Morgan street store and expressed a desire for a water tank the size of one they had in stock, about six feet in diameter. Mr. Reed said she might have it if she would take it home.

If he thought for a moment she could be bluffed he reckoned without his host, for she at once rolled it out on the street, over to Main street and nine blocks to her home. She was plied with questions, but refused to explain until the feat had been accomplished.

The cruel part of the matter, however, was that the tank leaked and had to be fixed before she could use it. Mrs. Reed is one of Boonville's most accomplished and popular young matrons, and is a woman of grit and great force of character.

PRUNE NOW.

June Is an Excellent Month to Trim the Trees.

It may be all right to advise pruning whenever your knife is sharp, but really the best time is during May and June, for during these months trees make their quickest and most vigorous growth, and the wounds made by pruning will heal quicker now than at any other season of the year. The quicker the wound heals the better for the tree. Many old horticulturists say, prune when the leaves are as big as squirrels' ears. If pruning is done before this time the wound is apt to "bleed," and will not heal so readily. If large limbs are taken off paint the stubs so that they will not dry out and crack open. Here is where many make a blunder, says Indiana Farmer. They leave too much stub in the first place, and it is probably split down one side. Before the wound is healed over this stump is cracked and decay sets in. While you are at it do a good, clean job, and sharp knives and sharp saws will help you do it.

Do Good Work.

A word about spraying. Be particular about it. Do good work. Know what you are going after, and then use the stuff that kills. To do a good job of spraying one must know all about insects and fungus diseases, their habits and then know what remedies to use and when to do the work.

Eating More Fruit.

Speaking of the future possibilities of orchard products an old nurseryman says: "Where a dollars' worth of fruit was consumed ten years ago, ten dollars' worth is wanted now. Unless all signs fail, one hundred dollars' worth will be required in ten years from now."

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.
Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

WINDSOR FOUR-COUNTY FAIR

Committee Appointed to Investigate Permanent Organization.

Pursuant to call of G. W. Schweer, chairman of the 1906 four-county fair executive committee, a mass meeting was held at the city hall in Windsor last Saturday afternoon to take up the fair proposition for 1907, says the Windsor Review.

The meeting was called to order by G. W. Schweer, who, upon motion, was chosen chairman of the meeting, and L. K. Myers secretary.

Mr. Schweer stated the object of the meeting, and called upon several to give their views upon the subject, and all were unanimous in declaring for a 1907 four-county fair. On account of the meeting being held on Saturday the crowd was very small.

A motion was made by J. F. Ridenour that a committee of six, with Mayor Churchill as chairman, be appointed to investigate and try and formulate some plan whereby a permanent fair association can be organized.

The chair appointed the following as members of the committee: J. F. Ridenour, Walter Amick, T. E. Elbert, F. C. Livingston Dave Cooper and Judge Ferguson.

Upon motion, the meeting adjourned, subject to call of Mayor Churchill, chairman of the committee.

CHEWED TOT'S FACE

Almost Off Before Child Could Pull the Brute Away.

Hartford City, Ind., June 14.—With his arms tightly clasped about the bull dog's neck, 7-year-old Raymond Smith last evening saved the life of 6-year-old Mary Carr, choking the animal off the little girl and holding it until a neighbor came and shot the ferocious brute.

On going to the Smith home to play the little girl was attacked by the dog as she entered the yard. Throwing her to the ground the canine fastened his teeth in the child's right cheek, bit out a large piece of flesh and then took a new hold above her eye.

She was bitten on the top and the back of her head and her right arm was almost chewed off. She is in a serious condition, but may recover.

Coaches for Honeymooners.

The young folk whose springtide fancies turn toward wedding bells and honeymoons will rejoice to hear that the Midland Railroad company has its fatherly eye on them, and hence a "honeymooners' carriage" has been introduced into the service of the railway, says the Dundee (Scotland) Advertiser. Happily, the carriage is not to attract the unmerciful curiosity of other passengers. It is just a plain, cozy, first-class compartment, on the coupe principle, and it holds two persons—and no more! These two-seat compartments will enable honeymooners to obtain the advantage of a reserved compartment at the price of two tickets. The new compartment is in the middle of the new composite coaches which have just been built; they are linked up by a side corridor with the other compartments of the coach. At present these carriages are known in cold official language as "Composite corridor coaches."

LOUD HOSE AND CIGARETTES

Worried School Principal and Caused a Graduation Strike.

St. Louis, June 14.—The strike of the Kirkwood High school graduating class has been called off after arrangements of a compromise with the principal, Prof. Kinkead.

All of the class will receive diplomas with the exception of Monroe Hoffman, 17 years old, who was the cause of the trouble.

The boy was suspended several weeks ago for initiating among the students a vogue of frantic hosiery which almost distracted Prof. Kinkead. He was reinstated soon afterwards.

Last Tuesday the principal found him smoking cigarettes in one of the High school rooms and recommended to the board of education that he be expelled.

His classmates immediately circulated a petition, saying they would not acept their diplomas unless Hoffman was allowed to graduate.

Later they agreed to allow the commencement exercises to proceed as planned if Hoffman was permitted to receive his diploma next September. Kinkead consented.

The first Kansas City heat prostration of the season occurred yesterday, when Reuben Fields, the freak mathemetician, became unconscious at Fifth and Main streets, says today's Kansas City Journal.

He was carried into the emergency hospital, where he soon revived. Field's home is in Warrensburg, Mo. When he rounded to, the doctors put "catch" problems to Fields thick and fast. He was ready with the answer, however, almost as soon as the questions was put When asked his occupation, as a matter of record, Fileds replied, with dignity:

"I am the noted mathemetician."

A DAIRY WITHOUT COWS

FATHER SENT HIS SON OUT TO STEAL SUPPLY OF MILK EACH MORNING

LAD SENT TO THE REFORM SCHOOL

This Boy of 13 Years and His Brother of 16 Took Everything Laying Around Loose in City of St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 14.—Five years in the State Reform school was the swift punishment meted out by Judge Williams in the juvenile court to Harry Robben 13 years old, after the boy's full confession a few hours after his arrest on a charge of stealing bottled milk.

According to the boy's alleged confession his father, Frank Robben, had sent him and his 16-year-old brother, Benjamin, out every morning between 3 and 5 o'clock with instructions to steal every bottle and can of milk they could find delivered at the doors of residences, groceries and restaurants.

The stolen lacteal fluid was taken to their father's cowless dairy at Magnolia and Minnesota avenues, he said, where it was rebottled and sold to its customers.

Frank Robben and his son, Benjamin, who were also arrested, gave bond and were released. The father said his sons took cans by mistake.

BRIDEGROOM'S ROUGH DEAL

Dressed Only in Sheet, Victim Then Gets Ride in a Wagon.

Chicago, June 14.—Yanked out of bed by a charivari crowd, a sheet artistically draped about his form and then a rough-and-tumble ride through the streets in a wagon, was the chilly method by which Van Levindusky, of Waukegan, was forced to celebrate his wedding.

All this was because he would not arise and receive his acquaintances when they called at his house to serenade the newly married folks.

"Ah, get out of this!" he called through the window in a disgusted sort of way.

The crowd, in response, secured ladders, climbed into the apartment and secured their victim.

For the next hour and a half every effort was made to impress Mr. Levindusky with the fact that he had gotten married in St. Joseph, Mich., a few days ago to Miss Nellie McCarty.

He believes it, all right.

WIFE GAVE HIM UP

Man Charged With Murder in the Second Degree.

Cleveland, O., June 14.—John Kleis, a machinist, for whom the police have been searching for nearly two months, was taken to Central Police station yesterday by his wife and given up on a charge of second degree murder.

C. A. Breitweiser, a salesman, was hit on the head with a billiard cue, and died in a hospital.

Kleis disappeared the day after the fight. His wife says she did not know what had become of him until she received a letter. It was mailed from New Jersey. He said he was coming home to her. He arrived yesterday, and his wife, aged mother and little girl went to the police station.

NEW AUTOMOBILE LAW

Professional Chauffeurs Must Begin Wearing Badges.

Today the new license law for automobilists will go into effect. Under its provisions, the owner of a motor car takes out a license for his machine, which holds good as long as he owns that particular machine. As soon, however, as he buys another machine, he must take out a new license for the new car, whether he still owns the old one. These licenses cost $5.

Beginning today, also, professional chauffeurs must take out licenses. Under this head come, in the words of the law, "any person operating a motor vehicle, as mechanic, paid employe, or for hire." The owners of cars, or their families, may act as chauffeurs without taking out a license, but servants are required to be licensed. A person desiring to be registered as a chauffeur must make oath as to his competency. Professional chauffeurs will wear badges.

A CHAPTER ON TRAMPS

THEY STEAL RIDES, ROB CARS AND STATIONS AND ALSO STONE TRAINS.

PUT OBSTRUCTION ON THE TRACKS

Railroad Heads Contribute Startling Facts for a Paper at Their National Conference of Charities.

Special to Democrat-Sentinel.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 14.—At the national conference of charities and corrections at Minneapolis, Mr. O. F. Lewis, of New York, said today that more vagrants are killed every year on American railroads than the combined totals of passengers and trainmen killed. Nor do these striking figures show signs of decreasing from year to year. Thousands of vagrants use American railroads as an easy means of transportation from city to city or state to state. American vagrants are not pedestrians. In five years, from 1901 to 1905, 24,000 trespassers were killed on American railroads in comparison with 16,000 employees and only 2,000 passengers.

Many railroads in the central states are greatly troubled with vagrants. President Jas. J. Hill, of the Great Northern, says: "Hundreds of idle men infest empty cars on the Great Northern during the summer months. Tramps attempt to secret themselves on every train at any risk. A considerable number of these are killed or injured each year. They get on or off trains while in motion, and some suffer in life or limb. Others fall off when asleep.

"It would be difficult to gather reliable statistics on this point, because a large percentage of the tramps reported as killed on the railroads are really murdered. Men returning from the harvest fields with their wages are killed for their money by their more vicious and criminal fellows, the body is flung from the train while in motion, and the reported death by railroad casualty is actually a case of homicide."

President McCrea, of the Pennsylvaia railroad, reports that the 900 vagrants arrested for trespassing in 1906 is only a small proportion of the total number of vagrants constantly traveling over that railroad.

On the Pere Marquette vagrants steal rides to a considerable extent, and many injuries and some deaths result annually.

On the C., B. &. Q. vagrants ride trains, stop trains, pilfer and burn ties and car floors. This railroad is troubled by vagrants, particularly on the main lines, at certain times of the year.

The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific is more or less troubled, as is also the Iowa Central.

The Illinois Central finds it hard to determine accurately the number who steal rides, loiter around stations and tramp along the tracks.

On the Michigan Central tramps open cars, steal rides and also goods from the cars.

The Northern Pacific is more or less troubled.

The Wisconsin Central reports less trouble than formerly, when several years ago, during the harvest season, there were migrations of tramps.

On the Chicago & Northwestern vagrants are a very considerable nuisance. The tracks are lined with vagrants, who refuse to leave the cars; they assault train crews and steal considerable from cars at stations. The expenses attendant upon their arrest are considerable.

The principle reason for the large number of vagrants is lack of co-operation between the railroads and the towns and cities along the railroads in prosecuting and convicting trespassing vagrants. Railroads wish to put the vagrants off at near stations, while towns are generally unwilling to stand the expense of prosecution and maintenance of vagrants who have no claim upon the town.

The Chicago & Northwestern has practically no co-operation with town police or other railroad companies. The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific has co-operation only exceptionally. This is also the case with the Illinois Central.

President Hill, of the Great Northern, reports that "with few exceptions the local communities do not assist the railroad companies in checking the tramp nuisance. In not a few cases actual encouragement is given those who prey on railroad property. In case where tramps have broken into cars, and were caught in the act of stealing, the local authorities have declined to take action. They declare that it is not their business to prosecute suits for the railroad company, and the thief escapes.

An effective remedy must begin with co-operation between the railroad and the authorities of every community through which it passes. There should be as prompt prosecution of the offender against a railroad as against an individual. There should be no more suspended sentences on account of leaving town. There should be a confinement at hard labor for a fixed term for every tramp.

It is now the almost universal custom for the officers before whom vagrants are brought in petty cases to order them to leave town within twenty-four hours. This rule merely passes a man on to the next village or town, which repeats the command. When all its neighbors are doing the same thing, the community receives exactly as much efuse as it gets rid of. Most of those ordered to move on take the railroad, which is made the chief sufferer by this policy.

Along the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy the town officers in small cities sometimes put vagrants on passing freight trains.

On the Big Four line, some town authorities warn vagrants not to get off trains, but to keep on moving.

The cost to railroads of vagrants injured or crippled varies very much. The general claim agent of the Chicago and Northwestern reports that 50 per cent of the people killed on railroads in this country are tresspassers. Every claim agent of any experience will say that generally the injuries are of a serious nature, and result in the injured person becoming a charge either on his friends or the public. In many instances, unfortunately, these tresspassers are children.

On the Chicago ,Rock Island and Pacific, in 1906, 134 tresspassers were killed and 243 injured. Most of the tresspassers were killed and injured while on the tracks.

General Manager F. B. Harriman, of the Illinois Central, reported that 124 persons were killed and fifty injured while they were walking on the tracks or loiterig. Along the Illinois Central county and municipal authorities almost invariably refuse to care for the injured and crippled unless the same be a resident of the county or municipality. A number of suits have been successfully contested against the Illinois Central by tresspassers who claim to have been pushed or kicked off of trains while in motion.

The direct cost to railroads is in stopping trains when vagrants are injured, conveying them to the nearest hospital, where hospital expenses are frequently paid by the railroads, because of the unwillingness of the towns to meet the bills and burial expenses, when necessary.

The Chicago and Northwestern spends several thousand dollars a year in this manner. The Great Northern kills and injures a large number of tresspassers annually.

In five years the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern has killed 595 tresspassers and injurel 1,380.

On the other hand, the Wisconsin Central kills only ten or fifteen tresspassers annually, of whom half are vagrants.

The cost to society of injured vagrants is in the end enormous, because vagrants are frequently rendered incapable of doing any further work, and in consequence go to begging or tramping, spending their time between the road, almshouse and the jail.

Every charitable society knows of many instances of persons permanently maimed by railroads, who, until the end of their lives, will be largely dependent upon the public, either through individuals or institutions, for the support of the indigent.

Few railroads maintain a system of railroad policing. The Pennsylvania is probably as well policed as any American road, but, nevertheless, is able to arrest only a small number of tresspassers that at all times are illegally using the Pennsylvania tracks.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy has no organized force.

The Chicago and Northwestern maintains special officers and watchmen in large cities and terminals.

The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific has a regular police force and special officers and watchmen at the larger stations. One special agent does all the police work on the road for the Wisconsin Central.

On the Lake Shore railroad it is found impossible to even undertake to regulate tresspassing.

The railroads make varied suggestions looking to the reduction of the illegal use of railroads by vagrants, General Manager F. O. Melcher, of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, believes that "in general the laws are too lax regarding tresspassers."

In some European countries it is a criminal offense for a person to tresspass either upon train or track, and trackmen and trainmen are vested with police power, and it is made their duty to arrest such persons and turn them over to the proper authorities for prosecution.

In some of our states the statutes really encourage the use of the railway tracks as footways. The record of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific in killing and injuring passengers is only an average of the railroads of this country.

President Hill, of the Great Northern, says the only penalty that can wipe out or sensibly reduce vagrancy is enforced labor, as work is more dreaded than all other terrors of the law.

If every tramp were sentenced, under a penalty of a diet of bread and water, to work hard before he was passed along the end would be in sight.

General Manager F. O. Harriman, of the Illinois Central, recommends the prompt enforcement of statutes authorizing the arrest and punishment of vagrants and persons improperly upon trains. The railroads can not compell the enforcement of the law without incurring much expense.

The Iowa Central believes that there are already ample laws regarding vagrancy and tresspass; but greater co-operation from county and municipal authorities in enforcing the present laws would be of benefit to all concerned.

The Chicago and Northwestern believes that tresspass laws should be enforced as strictly for the benefit of corporations as for individuals.

The Delaware and Hudson makes the valuable suggestion that the cost of prosecution and maintenance of vagrants should be a state charge instead of a town charge. Many of the railroads recommended that vagrants be put in chain gangs on the public roads. The Michigan Central believes there should be more adequate tresspass laws.

The facts presented by Mr. Lewis, which he has gathered by correspondence from leading officials of different railroads, show conclusively that the vagrancy question is a serious one, not alone to the railroads, but to society.

Because the cost to society is so indirect and not generally observed by the public, people in general have been indifferent to the fact that vagrancy is a great financial drain upon towns, counties and states. During the coming year efforts will be made throughout the country to enlist the co-operation of railroads, state boards of charities, local charitable societies and individuals in obtaining more adequate tresspass laws and more adequate enforcement of these laws.

The number of unnecessary vagrants is not known, but it is probably very large. There seems to be, in general, some kind of work for every able-bodied man willing to work. Even in England, where the question of the unemployed is so pressing, it is estimated by competent authorities that not over 3 per cent of the wayfarers are honest, unemployed workmen seeking work.

FIVE ARE TO BE LET OUT

AT LINCOLN INSTITUTE, JEFFERSON CITY, BECAUSE OF ROUBLE.

FOUR OF FACULTY AS MATRON

President B. F. Allen Will Soon Have a Faculty to Suit Him—Conspiracy to Oust Him Fails.

President B. F. Allen, of Lincoln institute, will have a faculty that will be harmonious with him in every way next year, says Thursday's Jefferson City Democrat. To that end the board of regents, which went into executive session here this afternoon, will dismiss four members of the faculty and the matron.

The members of the faculty on whom the axe will fall are A. L. Reynolds, P. I. Sanderson, P. T. Brown and O. M. Shackleford.

Rebecca Burris, the matron, will also be dismissed. These persons are charged with forming a conspiracy to have President Allen let out from the position as the head of that institution.

A member of the board stated that the charges first brought against President Allen were instigated by dissatisfied members of the faculty. In order that harmony shall prevail at the school the board will drop the teachers who are charged with creating dissention in the school.

The trouble in the school dates back to Jaunary, when the charges against President Allen were first laid before the board by Duke Diggs, Dr. Caston and George Dupee. The board took no action on the matter except to pass them over.

The matter was then taken to Governor Folk last week and he promised an investigation. He turned the matter, however, over to the board for its best judgment, and it is learned that there will be no investigation, but instead the faculty will be changed to please Mr. Allen.

OPERATOR'S SIDE OF THE STORY

'Tis Easier for the "Hello" Artist to Make a Connection Than It Is to Answer, "The Line Is Busy Now."

It is easier for an operator to establish a connection than reply "line busy," says Telephone Talk. Recollection of this simple fact may perhaps smooth out the asperities of a state of mind evoked by a hasty conclusion that the operator simply is shirking.

Follow a call into the main exchange, for example. You ask for a certain number. The operator immediately informs you the line is busy. How does she know Simply by a little admonitory clock in the receiver when she tried to "plug in" on the line asked for. She cannot tell you who is talking on the line, how long it has been in use or how long it is likely to be "busy." All the information she possesses is a "click," but it is sufficient to advise her that some one of the 150 other operators in the exchange had a prior call from or to that number.

Had the line been clear, the effort to complete the connection would have been no greater than that required to get the "click;" hence, the task of informing a caller that the line is busy is just so much extra labor—in fact, it involves a double labor, as the subscriber will usually repeat the call until he is able to transact his business.

Obviously, therefore, the desire of the operator is to establish the connection when it is first called for. She has no motive in doing otherwise.

BEAU NEAR COURT ROOM

MRS. MALSTON MARRIED HIM AS SOON AS SHE GOT THE DIVORCE.

THEN THE JUDGE SET IT ASIDE

Woman Said Her Cup of Domestic Woe Was Such That She Wanted No More, But She Soon Reconsidered.

Anderson, Ind., June 14.—Because she was married again to another man within a half hour after she secured a divorce in the Madison superior court, Judge Greenlee has set aside a decree in facor of Mrs. Nancy Jane Malston, of Elwood.

In her application and testimony for legal separation from Thomas Malston the woman indicated that [illegible] of domestic woe was such [illegible] would never again care to [illegible]trimony. But before she left [illegible]irthouse after being divorced, Lonent with George H. Barnes, a seasonable worker, of Elwood, to the been [illegible]y clerk's office and there they [illegible]red a marriage license, were married in the same hour and left for for [illegible]wood.

When Judge Greenlee heard of the tor[illegible]arriage he promptly set aside the giv[illegible]ivorce, adding to the record that the [illegible]ourt did so on its own motion.

Judgeg Greenlee explained that he did not admire the propriety of a woman being married the same day or hour of her divorce, but his principal reason for setting aside the divorce was that the woman's rush into matrimony the second time caused the court to doubt the sincerity of the testimony in her divorce trial and that she will have to go to trial again if she wants a divorce.

Just now she must free herself of husband No. 2 or the court will hold her for bigamy.

MISCALLED "HAIR TONICS"

Most Hair Preparations Are Merely Scalp Irritants, of No Value.

Most hair preparations are merely scalp irritants, miscalled hair tonics. When hair is brittle, lusterless and begins to fall out, the dandruff germ is getting in its deadly work at the root, sapping the vitality. Since science discovered that dandruff is a germ disease there has been only one preparation put on the market that will actualy destroy the dandruff germ, and that is Newbro's Herpicide. It quickly reduces scalp fever, destroys the germ; and the falling hair stops, and hair grows luxuriantly. Ask your druggist for Herpicide. It allays itching instantly and permits the hair to grow. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c and $1. W. E. Bard Drug Co., special agents.

Never can tell when you'll mash a finger or suffer a cut, bruise burn or scald. Be prepared. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil instantly relieves the pain—quickly cures the wound.

"Had dysjepsia or indigestion for years. No appette, and what I did eat distressed me terribly. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me."—J. H. Walker, Sunbury, Ohio.

There is no case of indigestion, no matter how irritable or how obstinate that will not be speedily relieved by the use of Kodol. The main factor in curing the stomach of any disorder is rest, and the only way to get rest is to actually digest the food for the stomach itself. Kodol will do it. It is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids containing the very same juices found in a healthy stomach. It conforms to the pure food and drugs law. Sold by Arlington pharmacy.

INDICTMENT DISMISSED

IN A FAMOUS MURDER CASE IN COPIAH COUNTY, MISS., CIRCUIT COURT.

THE KILLING OF DOCTOR BUTLER

Story Will Not Be Retold, the Case Against the Woman Who Did the Shooting Having Been Nolli Prossed.

Jackson, Miss., June 14.—In the Copiah county circuit court yesterday Judge D. M. Miller dismissed the indictment pending against Dr. R. B. Birdsong, husband of Mrs. Angie Birdsong, principal in the famous Monticello tragedy, charging him with being an accessory after the fact. This means that the story of the tragedy will not be again recited in court.

Dr. Birdsong was not present when his wife killed Dr. Butler, but arrived on the scene a few minutes later, and, it is alleged, was carrying a shotgun.

The grand jury of Lawrence county reached the conclusion that Dr. Birdsong had prior knowledge that the shooting was about to occur, and had possibly formed a conspiracy with his wife to kill the physician.

The doctor asserts that he knew nothing of the tragedy until the news was brought to him, and he then seized a shotgun and went to the scene, believing that his wife might need assistance.

Mrs. Birdsong is still with relatives at Hazelhurst, but will probably return to Mendenhall Sunday.

In the meantime the petition for pardon is being circulated and has received the signature of nearly everyone to whom it has been presented.

It will be given its first publication next week and be sent to the governor within the next thirty days.

THE NEW REMEDY

Take It Now That Vacation Days Are Fast Approaching.

Thousands of men and women are anxiously looking forward to the vacation days that come in June, July and August—not so much for the pleasure or enjoyment as for the chance of getting rid of their ill-health.

To thoroughly drive away troubles of the stomach most people think they have to make a business of it with dieting, exercise, and perhaps a vacation.

But Mi-o-na stomach tablets taken with regularity in a very few days will drive away indigestion, Dizzy spells, distress after eating, headaches, sleeplessness, and the many other symptoms of bad digestion and sluggishness of the digestive organs that keep people from enjoying themselves.

Day after day, at work behind desks or in the factory with poor sunlight and air, soon results in sluggishness of the entire physical and mental apparatus. The first slight symptoms of indigestion can be easily cured, but when they are allowed to increase without any help, then the stomach complaints become hard to shake off.

Strengthen the whole digestive system with Mi-o-na and you will soon find that both stomach and bowels do their work as they should.

THE "UNWRITTEN LAW

Was Barred by Judge in This Remarkable Goshen Case.

Goshen, Ind., June 14.—The jury in the case charging Frank Howland with attempting to murder Charles Carroll retired at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The court ruled there is no unwritten law rendering it justifiable for a husband to take the life of a man who invades his household. Carroll insisted he was shot by mistake.

Howland swore Carroll was discovered in an embarrassing position with Mrs. Howland, and the woman confessed.

The court instructed the jury Howland could not be held guilty of attempted murder in either the first or second degree, but could be held for attempted manslaughter.

WOW! THEN WOW AGAIN!

On a Comstock Stunt, Hunting Mayor, Find Horrid Pictures.

Marion, Ohio, June 12.—Representatives of the W. C. T. U. and several church societies received a shock yesterday when on their way to the mayor's office to ask him to compel a merchant to remove from his window a life-size portrait of a scantily attired "beauty queen."

To reach the mayor the women had to pass through police headquarters, the walls of which were adorned with pictures of girls in skirts abbreviated and bodices decollette.

Some apparently were horrified but said nothing to the mayor. However, at their request, he sent a policeman to tell the merchant to remove the picture.

The merchant sent back word that he would not remove the "lady" and the matter was dropped.

FOOT OF THE CONDUCTOR

Former Circuit, and Death Was Portion of the Victim.

Garrett, Ind., June 14.—Three thousand three hundred volts of liquid death flashed through the body of J. D. Dietrich, a Toledo and Chicago interurban conductor, here yesterday afternoon, when, in attempting to adjust the trolley pole, his foot became caught in the controllers, forming a circuit. He died instantly.

A large crowd witnessed the horrible affair. Women passengers were overcome by the sight, and several, when they revived, refused to ride upon the car, waiting for the one following.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How To Find Out.

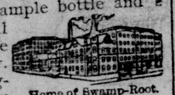

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

BOTH GRIEF AND ANGER

BROUGHT ON "HYSTERIA" FOR A FRAIL BUT FAIR NEW YORK WOMAN.

EVEN LAWYERS WHO GRILLED HER

Pitied the Little Woman Whose Boy, Hands to His Ears, Refused to Hear the Damaging Evidence.

New York, June 14.—The sensational suit brought by Mrs. Lucy M. Randolph against William Edward Dodge Stokes, the millionaire owner of the Hotel Ansonia, for the support of a four-year-old boy, said to be Mrs. Stokes's son, came to an abrupt conclusion in the supreme court in Flushing, Long Island, yesterday afternoon when Justice Jaycox ruled that the complaint was defective.

In her grief and anger over the failure of the suit Mrs. Randolph became so hysterical that court officers and spectators openly expressed fears of rash action on her part, and two officers quietly took places beside Mrs. Randolph and Mr. Stokes, watching every movement on the part of both.

The collapse of Mrs. Randolph on the witness stand came after a severe cross-examination. She burst out crying, and her little body shook with such evident grief that even Mr. Stokes's lawyers were moved to pity, and Abraham Gruber tried to quiet her by saying:

"There, there—do not cry. I shall ask you no more questions."

Tottering from the witness stand, Mrs. Randolph walked to the corridor. As she opened the door from the courtroom a photographer touched off a flashlight. The woman thought she had been shot and screamed for help. The courtroom was thrown into a commotion and the pretty plaintiff was hysterical for more than an hour, during which a recess was taken.

Upon her return to court she had a few moments of ease during a short redirect examination, but then Mr. Gruber began his argument for the dismissal of the case, and during this he spoke of the plaintiff in a manner which made her cry again, and her little boy, seemingly under advice of his nurse, put his hands to his ears as if to shut out the sounds of the words directed against his mother.

Another sensational feature of the day was the introduction of a number of letters written by Stokes to Mrs. Randolph. In not one of the letters was there a word of affection. They were all coldly mercenary and critical.

The case will be appealed.

PLAYED WITH A CORPSE

Singular Game of Checkers at Columbus, Ohio.

Columbus, Ohio, June 14.—William Edington, in a game of checkers with Judson Bagley, moved into the king row and the latter crowned his man.

There was a cessation of play and Edington joked his opponent concerning his knowledge of the game. After waiting for 15 minutes he said:

"It's your move, Jud. Make some kind of a play, and don't be so slow about it."

There was no response. An investigation disclosed that Bagley was dead, although he was sitting erect, apparently studying a move.

RAN TO LOVER AND WAS WED

Young Girl Who Was Robed in Graduation Attire.

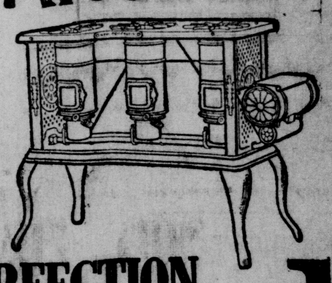

Parkersburg, W. Va., June 14.—Within five minutes after pretty Marguerite Nutler, of Grafton, W. Va., had completed her participation as a graduate in the commencement exercises yesterday at Desales Heights, a Catholic institute for girls, she was the bride of Emmett Griffin, also of Grafton.

Wearing her graduation attire, the young woman had hurried from the institution to the convent chapel, where Griffin joined her and the nuptials followed at once. It was the first wedding ever performed at the convent.

BOUNCED ENTIRE FORCE

A Mass Meeting in Helena, Ark., Names a New Chief.

Helena, Ark., June 14.—Every member of the police force of this city, a town of nearly 20,000, was dismissed last night.

Chief of Police Clancy was the first to go, followed by Sergeant Duane and the patrolmen.

A mass meeting of a thousand citizens unanimously elected Ed Scott chief, and he marshalled special men to protect the city. He will name an entirely new force at once.

The upheaval was the result of fist fights between Chief Clancy and G. H. Adams, a Pine Bluff newspaper man, who has charged many acts of alleged grafting to local officers. Congressman Bruce Macon took a decided part in the move to oust the chief and his whole department.

The mayor and city officials placed their stamp of approval on the action of the people in mass meeting.

SIX COUPLES TO WED

One Couple Each Month Until All Are Married.

Evansville, Ind., June 14.—A party of 12 young people gathered at Oak Summit Park here to celebrate the approaching nuptials of two of their number, which will take place in a few days.

Last night the crowd hunted up a notary public, where they wrote a statement which each signed, all agreeing to marry within six months.

One wedding will take place every month, until the five remaining couples have been united in wedlock.

The young people, who are among the best known in the city, refuse to have their names divulged until the first couple is married next Wednesday night.

WIDOW GETS AN ESTATE

FINDING OF WILL RAISES HER FROM POVERTY TO POSITION OF WEALTH.

A MIRROR BROKEN BY THE WIDOW

Brought to Light a Will, After a Trust Company at Louisville, Ky., Had Taken Charge of Property.

Louisville, Ky., June 14.—A touch of a feather duster, the jangle of falling glass from an ordinary mirror, and, presto, Mrs. Mary Kaninenberg, a washerwoman of this city, found herself the beneficiary of a will made by L. Millitz, a retired tanner.

The story in all of its unique and romantic features was revealed yesterday afternoon through a contest proceeding filed by Mrs. Kaninenberg through her attorneys, Carroll & Kreiger.

Millitz, who died, aged 82, October 8, 1906, had for several years made his home with Mrs. Kaninenberg. He was in his seventy-sixth year at the time. He arranged to pay a small sum for his board, and Mrs. Kaninenberg says he was always prompt in settling. Occasionally he gave the children a trifling remembrance.

It was generally understood that Millitz possessed considerable wealth, but he made no reference to it. In 1903 he made a will, leaving everything to four relatives in Germany. Shortly afterward he succumbed.

In a few days one of the wills left by Millitz was deposited with the Louisville Trust company. Mrs. Kaninenberg felt disappointed. In life Millitz had seemingly appreciated her kindnesses to him, and she fully expected to be rewarded in the distribution of his estate.

Recently, while dusting a mirror, the glass suddenly cracked and fell to pieces. A piece of paper rolled at her feet. This proved to be the will, written September 22, 1906, signed by Millitz, bequeathing to her all of his property, said to be valued at many thousands of dollars.

Having established the genuineness of Millitz's signature, she has asked the court to require the Louisville Trust company to surrender control of Millitz's estate.

TATE NOW TO TELL ALL

TO REVEAL TRUE STORY OF PEORIA, ILL., SCHOOL BOARD SAFE ROBBERY.

SAYS HE DID THE DIFFICULT JOB

Had Previously Stated That Professional Cracksmen Did the Work for $3,000—A Pardon Promised.

Peoria, Ill., June 14.—Eddie Tate has been promised a pardon from the state penitentiary and immunity from punishment by Governor Deneen if he will make a clean breast of the school board safe robbery, and he has promised to do so.

This late turn in affairs occurred shortly before noon yesterday, and Tate will go before the grand jury and tell the whole story. He will confess to doing the work himself, and his testimony will involve the names of Peorians who planned the robbery of the school board safe for the purpose of doing away with evidence against Daugherty and others.

Late yesterday morning State's Attorney Scholes and School Board Attorney Fuller received a promise from Governor Deneen that he would pardon Tate if he would tell the truth about the affair, and Tate, after receiving this assurance, promised to give up the whole story.

Before word from Governor Deneen reached Peoria Tate volunteered the following statement:

"Two 'safe men,' now at Chicago, did the job at the library building. These men are old-timers at safe work. They had the combination, and then blew the safe afterwards. As soon as they came out of the building they gave up the forged script and received $3,000 which had been promised them. The combination of the safe was given to these men before they started on the work, and they only blew the safe to throw off suspicion.

"I did not work on this job, but I had been asked to by Daugherty, and intended to do it when I had the chance to get away from Gertie, my wife. When I got out of the penttentiary the last time she said she would quit me. I think a good deal of her, and this was why I didn't do the work.

"It was on the night of January 25, in 'Kid' McCoy's saloon, at Fortieth and Broadway, New York, that one of the men told me all about doing the Peoria job. We were drinking and they told me everything, how it had been arranged through Dougherty and another prisoner prisoner in Joliet, and how they got the money ad delivered the script.

"I can prove that Daugherty wanted this done by a letter which Gertie is going to bring here. I had other letters which will prove more, if they can be found in the house we lived in in Chicago. The job was started i Joliet and framed up by Daugherty and his wriends."

GIRL TAKES RAT POISON

Bottle Was Knocked From Her Hand By a Sister.

St. Louis, June 14.—Bessie Lipschitz was entertaining her beau in the parlor of her home at 1628 Carr street, when her sister, Celia, 16 years old, entered the apartment, and, snatching a picture of herself from the hands of the visitor, drank a quantity of diluted Rough on Rats. The visitor knocked the bottle from her hand and called a policeman.

The girl was sent to the city hospital, where antidotes were administered and she will recover. It was said that hers was a case of a disappointing love affair, but this she denied.

The girl said she had been reprimanded several months ago by her father regarding supper making. It rankled in her mind, and when it was repeated Wednesday evening she obtained a bottle of Rough on Rats, which she had prepared six months ago, and, stepping into the apartment where her sister was, drank the poison. She only swallowed a small quantity. She promised not to make the attempt again.

TROUBLE OF A PROPHET

Man Who Predicted Bad Things Threatened With Dynamite.

Middle Haddam, Conn., June 14.—Horace Johnson has found that the business of being a prophet is not a bed of roses.

As a result of certain predictions he was reported to have made recently concerning certain cataclysmic things which were to happen in this vicinity before long, his life has been made miserable.

Threatening letters reach him by nearly every mail, and one of these conveyed the information that "anarchists" were lying in wait to blow up his home. His watchdog was poisoned a week ago.

CONSCIENCE TROUBLED

MAN WHO HAD COMMITTED MURDER DOWN IN THE LONE STAR STATE.

CRIME WAS ALMOST FORGOTTEN

It took Place Thirty-Five Years Ago—Convicted, Sentenced, Escaped, Surrendered, Pardoned.

Austin, Texas, June 14.—John K. Aiken, who has lived for more than a quarter of a century near Hot Sprigs, Ark., where he is a prominent member of the community, has been granted a full pardon by Gov. Campbell for a murder committed in Texas 35 years ago.

Aiken was 18 years old when he fired into a passenger train near Gauze, Texas, killing a man named J. R. Scobe.

He was tried, convicted and sentenced for life to imprisonment in the state penitentiary. He escaped after serving 18 months. He went to the home of relatives near Hot Springs, Ark., where he lived unmolested during all these years. He married and raised a family of children.

During all this time he says that his conscience troubled him and of late years his health has been badly shattered. He decided to obtain peace of mind by coming to Austin and voluntarily surrendering to Governor Campbell, which he did a week ago.

Friends rallied to his aid and a petition for his pardon was submitted to the Governor. The petition was favorably acted upon yesterday.

After his surrender here a week ago Aiken was taken to the state penitentiary at Huntsville, where he was when he received the news of the pardon. He left at once for his home.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

THE PRESIDENT AND OTHER OFFICIALS HAVE LEFT WASHINGTON.

CITY IS AS QUIET AS GRAVEYARD

Sixtieth Congress Will Have to Once More Thresh Out the Reorganization of the Consular Service.

Special to Democrat-Sentinel.

Washington, June 14.—Official Washington from now until the end of summer promises to be as dead as the proverbial ditch water. President Roosevelt has left or Oyster Bay, Secretary Root leaves next week for Utica, N. Y.; Secretary of Agriculture Wilson and Secretary of the Interior Garfield, with three other high officials, also leave for the west, where they will attend the public lands convention at Denver and endeavor to ward off adverse criticism of the administration's public land policy. There will be left practically only a handful of officials of any consequence to enliven the dullness of the dog days.

On his return from the Jamestown exposition, where he participated in the ceremonies of Georgia Bay and made to speeches, one of them before the National Editorial association, President Roosevelt put in a busy eighteen hours in his office, slammed down the cover of his desk and departed for a four months' vacation at his summer home. He will remain there continuously until September 29th, except for a trip on August 20th to take part in the Mayflower celebration at Provincetown, Mass.

When the leaves begin to turn in late September Mr. Roosevelt will leave to attend the dedication of the McKinley memorial in Canton, O. He will make an address on that occasion, on September 30th, and, unless something interferes to change his program, will proceed to Keokuk, Ia., where he will journey down the Mississippi river as far as Memphis, Tenn. The trip will be made on a steamer of the Mississippi river commission, stops being made at St. Louis and Cairo and a general inspection being made of the proposed improvements to navigation. At Memphis the president will attend the Deep Waterway convention there, in company with members of the inland waterways commission. Immediately after the convention he will return directly to Washington.

It is likely that the sixtieth congress will be compelled to thresh out again the matter of reorganizing the consular service. Although a bill providing for this was drawn by Senator Lodge ad enacted at the last session, the business interests of the country are not altogether satisfied with it. The National Business league has submitted to the administration the draft of a new law, and the matter is now under consideration. Among its provisions are:

1. Removal of the service from the sphere of political influence by enactment of a "merit" system of examination, appointment and promotion of consuls.

2. Creation of an examining board with examination scale of 80 to 100.

Minimum and maximum age limit of 21 and 40 yaers, respectively, for admission to the service.

4. Consuls to be familiar with one modern language other than English and possess a knowledge of the natural, industrial and commercial resources and the commerce of the United States.

5. Tenure of office to continue only during efficiency and conduct of the highest grade.

The remarkable strides made by the commerce of the United States within the last five years has rendered it imperative that this country shall have competent representatives abroad. Educated men are needed to foster and advance the trade being upbuilt, and the fact that graduates of colleges having departments devoted to the training of men for the public service have made the most enviable records, leads the administration to look with favor upon a further "stiffening" of the conditions governing admission to the service.

Mrs. Harvey Burks, Harrisburg, Illinois. Cured by "ZEMO" After Five Years' Torture.

+ZEMO+

HAS NEVER FAILED TO CURE

E. W. ROSE MEDICINE CO., St. Louis, Mo. HARRISBURG, ILL., May 12th, 1905.

DEAR SIRS: Believing that "ZEMO" saved my arms, if not my life, I will gladly tell all sufferers from eczema what your good medicine did for me. I suffered six years from a torturing case of itching eczema of both arms. I tried eight different doctors, and every eczema cure I could hear of without relief. The disease grew worse and spread to my neck and breast; my arms had great holes eaten in them; I soon became an invalid and was confined to my bed part of the time. My husband bought a bottle of "ZEMO"; the first application stopped the itching, and I began to improve; in six weeks and one day the disease had disappeared, and my arms were clean and smooth as my picture will show, before and after using "ZEMO." My arms were so bad some of my friends wanted me to have them taken off, but I would not agree. I am now entirely cured and have gained ten pounds in weight, and feel better than I have felt in many years. I consider my quick recovery by using "ZEMO" nothing short of a miracle. I will gladly answer all inquiries and recommend "ZEMO" to all persons suffering from any itching skin disease. Yours gratefully, Mrs. Harvey Burks.

HAD A CLOSE CALL

Major B. Coleman and His "Auto" Did Last Night.

An exceedingly narrow escape was had by Major Coleman, at the corner of Twelfth street and Ohio avenue, at 9 o'clock last night, when chauffeuring his large automobile north on Ohio street he attempted to cross the street car tracks while the Grand avenue car was going south on that thoroughfare.

Major Coleman was going at a very rapid speed At the locality stated a turn in the street causes the curbing to project rather close to the street car tracks.

George Knutz was the motorman on the car, and but for his prompt attention to duty and quick work in slowing up the car a serious accident might have resulted.

As it was, the running board of the street car just grazed and struck one side of the automobile, but doing no damage.

WILLIAM STOBER DEAD

HE DIED AT HIS HOME IN SMITHTON AT 5 O'CLOCK P. M. WEDNESDAY.

A FORMER RAILWAY MAIL CLERK

Belonged to Modern Woodmen of America and Carried $3,000 Insurance in the Order—The Funeral Tomorrow.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Smithton, Mo., June 13.— William B. Stober, for nine years a Pettis county school teacher and for over a year a railway mail clerk on the Rock Island between St. Louis and Kansas City, died at 5 o'clock Wednesday evening at the home of his mother, Mrs. Susan Stober, in Smithton, death being caused by an abcess of the lungs.

No young man in the community was more respected or highly regarded than he, and the sad news of his death will cause many a heart to sadden and many an eye to moisten with tears.

Mr. Stober enjoyed a wide acquaintance all over the county, and what is more creditable, was worthy of it in every way. Never committing an unmanly or dishonorable deed, but living a true, honorable life, being a firm, true friend, a dutiful son and brother, his short career of useful endeavor is indeed worthy of emulation.

The deceased was born near Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 24, 1878, and with the exception of three years of infancy in his native state, had spent all his life in Missouri.

He grew to manhood near Smithton, attending the public schools here and afterwards taking a supplementary course in the Chillicothe Normal college. He taught for nine years in the public schools of Pettis county, rendering efficient and eminently satisfactory service wherever employed and no teacher was more deseredly popular.

During the world's fair in St. Louis he was a government customs inspector at the fair grounds, and the high regard held for him by his colleagues and superior officers attested the character and efficiency of his work in the customs service.

After the fair he took up teaching again, only to resign to enter the railway mail service as a postal clerk, where he remained a year, until contracting a heavy cold, which settled on his lungs, it was finally forced, in January, to come home and make the last sad fight for his life.

All the aid that loving hearts and good medical attention could give, with the determined courage of the patient himself, repeatedly checked the course of the disease and gave hope of recovery, but death could not be denied, and at last ended the sufferings of this manly young fellow.

Mr. Stober leaves a widowed mother, Mrs. Susan Stober; two sisters. Miss Jennie Stober, of Smithton, and Mrs. Lee Harbin, of Elko, Nevada, and three brothers, George and Joseph Stober, of Sedalia, and Henry Stober, of Smithton.

The deceased was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America and carried $3,000 insurance in that order. He was also a member of the Smithton Methodist church, and the funeral services will be held there Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. S. F. Beggs, the pastor. The following have been chosen as pall bearers: Guy Gibson, August Selken, Otto Preuss, John Miller, George Harris, Jacob Myers.

OFFICERS WERE ELECTED

By the Ladies' Label League of Sedalia Last Night.

(Thursday's Daily.)

The Ladies' Label League held a very enthusiastic meeting last night at Tillberry's hall and elected the following officers:

President—Jessie Cone.

First vice president—Emma Miller.

Second vice president—Dovie Eiholtz.

Record keeper—Belle King.

Financial secretary—Emma Behrens.

Treasurer—Docia Lawson.

Sergeant at arms—Clara Henry.

Door keeper—May Cleveland.

There has been left at the public library rooms a bunch of fungus that has attracted considerable attention. It is a beautiful orange color, and was brought in from the country. Those interested in fungi are invited to call and see it.

Four Dresses Ruined.

Four ladies have had dresses ruined within the past few days by Ohio street loungers expectorating tobacco juice upon the garments while the women were passing along the thoroughfare.

Will Become Trained Nurse.

Miss Louise O'Connell, who has tendered her resignation as a Bell telephone operator, will leave soon for St. Louis, where she will begin training for the profession of a trained nurse.

NOW THEY ARE PARTED

AGREED ON WEDDING DAY SEPARATION IF EITHER WAS DISSATISFIED.

THERE IS ANOTHER MAN IN CASE

In Fact, There May Be More Than One if What the Disgusted Husband Has to Say Is Gospel Truth.

Columbus, Ind., June 13.—Yesterday was the fifth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. George Layman, of this place, and when in the afternoon the wife handed Layman the keys to their home and left for the home of her parents in Noblesville, to remain permanently, the husband never entered a single protest. When pressed for an explanation he told the following remarkable story of his marriage:

"When we procured our license to wed in Minneapolis, Minn., we entered into a contract to the effect that we were to separate on the wooden anniversary of our wedding if either party to the contract was dissatisfied, and that after being separated for thirty days either was to be privileged to file suit for divorce, and the other was not to contest the suit.

"This contract was duly recorded and we lived happily together until we came here, four months ago. Since we came here I have at times surprised my wife driving in company with other men. I do not believe her guilty of criminal wrongdoing, but still I shall not live with her again."

Mrs. Layman has a remarkably pretty face and a fine figure.

FLAGS FOR THE KATY

All Those Used On the System Are Made in Sedalia.

For seventeen years the Ladies' Aid society of the First Congregational church of this city has had the contract for furnishing all of the flagn on the entire Missouri, Kansas and Texas system, and shipments of 100 dozen have been made frequently.

There are four styles of these flags, viz:

Red, signifying danger.

White, a clear track.

Green, second section following.

Blue, car or engine undergoing repairs.

The company furnishes all of the material, and the ladies are paid one cent for each flag made.

The ladies consider the contract a good one, which is proven by the fact that they have held it for seventeen years.

Now at Jamestown.

T. L. Walker, a former street car motorman here, now employed at the Jamestown, Va., exposition, writes Sedalia friends that he is enjoying his sojourn there to the fullest, nevertheless he will be contented with the grand old state of Missouri in the future.

ORCHARD BROKE DOWN

REMARKABLE NERVE OF WONDERFUL CRIMINAL WAS LOST FOR FEW MOMENTS.

AGAIN TELLS DETAILS OF MURDER

Wept Like a Child, but Soon Recovered Himself and Answered Questions in His Usual Even Voice.

Boise, Idaho, June 13.—After withstanding with marveious strength of nerve and muscle the week's examination that was one prolonged confession of crime, Harry Orchard today broke down and for a few moments wept like a child.

His unnerving came with the story of his conversion and the mention of King David's murder, a Biblical figure which is supposed to be Orchard's present guide.

The defense had given a solemn tone to the scene preceding the meeting between Orchard and Detective McParland, to whom he confessed, by showing that Orchard was first illegally brought to the penitentiary and thrust into almost solitary confinement. His only cell neighbor was a condemned murderer. Orchard soon recovered himself and answered further questions in his usual even voice.

The story was told to a hushed court room, the silence being broken only by the drone of his voice He again repeated in detail the story of the assassination of Steunenberg. The victim's son was in the room and listened to the tale.

Soon after court opened in the Haywood trial this morning Attorney Richardson for the defense caused some surprise by stating that the cross-examination of Orchard would end today

Yesterday Orchard testified that he had written to Moyer from Wallace, Idaho, asking for some money. He said he had gone to Wallace after it was first proposed to kill Steunenberg. The witness today said he had had no direct answer to this letter, but as a result of it Simpkins gave him $100, which he said Haywood had sent him. Orchard admitted that he only had Simpkins' word as to where the money came from.

Met Governor Face to Face.

Former Governor Peabody and Harry Orchard met face to face this afternoon. Orchard shrankk back and trembled. The former governor smilingly held out his hand, saying, "How are you, Orchard?"

Orchard broke down completely and said: "I am ashamed to look at you, sir. I am ashamed to speak to you."

Governor Peabody reassured him in a few words and Orchard replied: "I am thankful I didn't kill you, and am spared the thought of that crime."

GRANTED THE ORDER

United States Judge Restrains State From Enforcing 2 Cent Law

Kansas City, June 13.—United States Judge McPhearson here this afternoon granted the petition of the eighteen railroads doing business in Missouri and issued a temporary order restraining the state officials from putting into effect both the maximum freight law and the two-cent passenger law recently passed by the legislature, which were to take effect June 21.

This means that the new laws can not be enforced until after a hearing is had by the court.

WILL RETURN TO ST. LOUIS

Last of Convicted Boodlers to Be Free Tomorrow.

Jefferson City, June 13—Julius Lehman and Emil Hartmann will be "dressed out" of the prison at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, that being the technical term for discharging prisoners. They are the last of the St. Louis boodlers to be freed.

Both men will leave at noon for their homes in St. Louis, where it is understood each will be given a warm reception by his friends.

Prisoner Cuts His Throat.

Bolivar, Mo., June 13.—Clyde Doner, alias William Baker, in jail here on the charge of robbing the Aldrich bank and other institutions, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by cutting his throat.

On last Saturday he made a confession to several crimes, implicating William Dunbar and Ed Wagoner, also in prison here. Doner used a razor which had been loaned to a cellmate with which to shave.

Recruits Are Wanted.

Recruiting Officer Henninger is in receipt of a communication calling for men for the white infantry, cavalry and field artiliery for service in Cuba.

Will Play at Otterville.

The Airdome baseball club goes to Otterville Sunday for a game with the club there.

THE "TRAFFIC" IN GIRLS

CHICAGO JURIST DECLARES HE CAN PROVE THE SYSTEM EXISTS NOW.

TRAPS IN MANY OF BIG CITIES

Tells How Unsuspecting Young Women Are Sold Into Slavery—Much Doing in Shop Lifting, Too.

Chicago, June 13.—Startling revelations concerning the white slave traffic and also concerning the criminal propensities of women were made here by Municipal Judge Newcomer at a banquet of the Men's club of the Austin Methodist Episcopal church.

The judge's hearers were amazed, and when he said: "I want to say right here that the white slave traffic does exist here in Chicago; right here under the nose of police protection; right here where we boast of our civilization, does the sale of young girls exist, girls who are sold for their beauty.

"I could give the names of scores of girls who have been sold into this white slave traffic, and I could also give the names of scores of young men who exist and thrive on the sale of these girls, the great majority of whom are from the country and are in utter ignorance of the traps and snares set by these wolves who pose as gentlemen.

"The white slave traffic not only exists in Chicago, but it is interstate and international. There are girls who are shipped to this city from other points and are consigned to men right here in Chicago. There are girls who are shipped from Chicago and who are consigned to other "traders."

"These are radical statements to make, gentlemen, but I am well informed upon what I speak. I may add that I have seven letters from different fathers in Chicago, asking me if I would not please find their daughters who had fallen into that deepest infamy.

"Down where the red lights blaze, and where the ribald merriment drifts from semi-curtained windows, and where women and young girls are arrayed in the gowns of shame, there is where christianity is nteded most. It remains for you, christian gentlemen, to get busy right here."

Another almost equally surprising statement was "It is astonishing to know how many women, women of repute, wives of preachers, wives of professional men, are tried for larceny, for shoplifting.

"Somehow, women can not resist the temptation of passing by articles in the department stores without picking them up and slipping them into their handbags."

Saloon Keepers to Rock Pile.

Cherokee, Kas., June 12.—Four saloon keepers of this city, who yesterday pleaded guilty to violating the prohibition law were fined $100 each and sentenced to thirty days on the rock pile today.

Gone to Oyster Bay.

Washington, Jne 12—The president left for Oyster Bay over the Pennsylvania railroad this morning to spend the summer.

IDENTIFIED HIM AGAIN

DECLARED TO BE FREDDIE SEYMOUR, OF THE STRATHCONA HORSE.

THE BOGUS "LORD" BARRINGTON

It Is Said That Acquaintances at Ottawa, Ontario, Will Assist Him—Is Now Under Sentence to Hang.

Ottawa, Ont., June 13.—The announcement by an evening paper that the man now in jail at Clayton, Mo., for the murder of Turfman McCann, has been identified as a titled Englishman who went to South Africa as a private in the Strathcona horse, created a stir here.

Officers and men of the troop now living in Ottawa have telegraphed offering assistance.

St. Louis, June 13.—The assertion that "Lord" Frederick Seymour Barrington, a prisoner in the Clayton jail under sentence to be hanged July 25 as the convicted slayer of James P. McCann in June. 1903, is a titled Englishman who served during the war in South Africa as a private in the Strathcona horse, is accepted here as simply another "identification" of the prisoner.

Percy Tressider, who claims to have been a former corporal in the British army, asserts he served through the late South African war with "Frederick Seymour." He held a lengthy consultation with the prisoner several days ago at the jail and then declared the prisoner is "Freddie" Seymour and member of a prominent English family. Yesterday Tressider was refused further admittance to the jail.

Mrs. Lillian E. Gates, of St. Louis, asserts that Barrington is really Barrington Seymour, son of a British general, and that she is well acquaint with the Barrington family. She has been trying for the past year to establish his innocence. The police authorities assert Barrington is George Frederick Barton, a noted English crook. Barrington was also identified as an English valet.

HUMMEL HAS GIVEN UP

No Appeal by the Divorce Lawyer From His Prison Sentence.

New York, June 13.—John D. Lindsay served notice upon District Attorney Jerome yesterday of the withdrawal of Abraham Hummel's appeal from the decision of the appellate division of the supreme court affirming his sentence of one year in the penitentiary. This means that Hummel intends to serve out his term. It has been easy for him thus far. He is still in the hospital.

Hummel's withdrawal of the appeal removes the only obstacle in the way of action by the Bar association upon his disbarment. His conviction of a misdemeanor was not in itself a disbarment, and formal action must be taken if he is to be fully removed from the New York legal profession. Hummel is serving a term for conspiracy in the Dodge-Morse divorce case.

THAT LOST LICENSE

Was Replaced by Another and Couple Was Married.

(Thursday's Daily.)

Joseph Bradbury, a farmer, 70 years of age, residing at Beaman, and Dora Savage, a laundress, were married at the home of Mrs. Polly Bryant Howe by Justice of the Peace Clark this afternoon.

On June 6, a marriage license was issued to the couple. The ceremony was to have been performed Tuesday afternoon. All preparations were made and the presiding judge summoned, but to the disgust of the intended groom the license became lost.

The ceremony could not be performed until a new license was secured, which was done today and the couple was united in wedlock.

Licensed to Wed.

(Thursday's Daily.)

A marriage license was issued today to Ben G. Mowey, of Mora, and Cora M. Leiter, of Sedalia.

The Tuesday Whist Club.

The Tuesday Whist club met with Mrs. George H. Scruton Tuesday afternoon. The club prizes, each sterling silver spoons, were won by Mrs. O. M. Barnett and Mrs. Mel Ilgenfritz, while the guest prize, a piece of art pottery, went to Mrs. E. E. Levens, of Nevada. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Shipments of Stock.

Judge J. P. Higgins, of Houstonia, shipped two car loads of 1350-pound cattle from his farm to the St. Louis market Tuesday afternoon, and C. O. Sellers, also of Houstonia, shipped a car load of 240-pound hogs to the same market.

McClure & Teeters shipped five car loads of hogs from Hughesville to the same market Tuesday.

Friday Will Be Flag Day.

Friday, the 14th inst. is Flag day, when patriotic citizens are asked to float Old Glory from their homes and places of business.

A MATRIMONAL BUREAU

STAID PASTOR OF MILWAUKEE CHURCH TO ESTABLISH AN AGENCY.

WILL MARRY ALL WHO SO DESIRE

The Ceremony May Be in Either German or English, Long or Short—In fact, Any Old Thing That is Desirable.

Milwaukee, June 13.—Milwaukee is to have an official matrimonial office. The minister who is to introduce the innovation is the Rev. Samuel Moldenhauer, a staid Lutheran clergyman whose record of thirty-three years and one month in one pulpit would seem to clear the promoter of the new venture of any suspicion of flightiness.

It is a serious business proposition with the Rev. Mr. Moldenhauer, and he is entering into it with all sincerity and the idea of making it an income yielding venture.

"I am prepared to marry people, either in German or English, and I can make the service fifteen, ten or five minutes long, or even briefer, according to the desires of the principles and the time at their disposal," said the Rev. Mr. Moldenhauer, and he is advertising to that effect.

COL. ROBINSON QUITE ILL

Will Be Brought From McAllister and Taken to Mayhood.

(Thursday's Daily.)

Col. J. A. Robinson, former steward at the Elks' club, is quite ill with fever at McAllister Springs. He was taken down last Saturday, and has grown worse each day since then.

Mrs. Robinson left this morning for the Springs and will return this afternoon with her husband, who will be taken to Maywood hospital for treatment.

Col. Robinson has a legion of friends in Sedalia, and also in Central and Western Missouri, who trust that the attack is not as serious as feared, and that he will soon be able to again mingle with his old-time comrades.

Sedalians Are Invited.

Dr. Ed L. Moore, formerly of this city, but now of Sharon, Pa., who is always looking out for the welfare of his friends, has sent to Charlie (Dockery) Harris and Art Hawkins, the M., K. & T. conductor, a cordial invitation to attend the Orangemen's picnic to be held at Rock Springs, Pa., July 12, and if they can arrange their "business affairs" it is possible they will accept the same.

Another Restraining Order.

Kansas City, June 12.—Federal Judge McPherson today issued an order restraining the state auditor from enforcing the bill taxing each transaction in grain futures 25 cents each.

Named as Deputy Constable

Constable J. E. Love has appointed Charles Howlett, a negro as deputy constable.

THE WOODSON CASE GIRL

SHE WEPT AS SHE DENIED THE TALES THAT WERE TOLD REGARDING HER.

THE ACCUSED DOCTOR INNOCENT

Miss Minnie Everline Declares She Paid for Jewels Doctor is Said to Have Bought—Has Quit the Asylum.

St. Joseph, Mo., June 13.—Miss Minnie Everline, supervisoress at the state insane hospital, who is named by Miss Kate Boyle, the discharged nurse, in the charges against Dr. C. R. Woodson, the superintendent, gave her testimony before the hospital board yesterday.

She sobbingly denied the charges made by Miss Boyle and others who testified last week, and showed by receipted bills and witnesses that she had purchased jewelry at a local store that Miss Boyle said had been given to Miss Everline by Dr. Woodson. As to the diamond earrings mentioned by Miss Boyle, the witness said:

"When Dr. Woodson and his daughter went east last summer I asked him to buy me two diamonds for earrings, and I gave him the money to get them. Here is the check I gave him. His daughter knew about it, and she told me she helped him pick the diamonds. I asked him to buy them for me in the east, as they could be gotten cheaper there. Mrs. Evans, the matron, saw me make out the check.

"Dr. Woodson never gave me a present in his life. I have been here nearly ten years, and he never acted as I know, acted improperly in any way. I never was a confidential friend of Miss Boyle. I never had any champagne in my room, and as to the statement Miss Boyle made about the flowers, flowers are sent to the wards daily and I distribute them. I do like any other girl would do, take a few of them for my room."

Miss Everline has tendered her resignation as supervisoress and she will return to her home in Garnet, Kansas.

Dr. Woodson began his statement before the board late in the afternoon. The investigation probably will close with Dr. Woodson's testimony today.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

To Be Held by the Maccabee Lodges Sunday Afternoon.

The memorial services of the Ladies and Knights of the Maccabee lodges of the city will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the First Congregational church, Rev. James Parsons preaching the memorial sermon.

Special music will be furnished by the choir, and after the close of the ceremonies at the church committees representing the various bodies will go to the cemetery, where the graves of the deceased members will be strewn with flowers, in accordance with the custom and obligation to ever keep green the memory of the departed.

TAGGART'S BROTHER DEAD

Took An Overdose of Chloral and Was Found in Bed.

Wooster, Ohio, June 13.—D. S Taggart, a brother of Captain E. F. Taggart, of divorce fame, died at Orrville yesterday from the effects of an overdase of chloral.

He was in Wayne county on a visit home, being located in Reno, Nevada, where he was a prominent railroad man.

He was found dead in bed by members of his family.

Hand Badly Lacerated.

(Thursday's Daily.)

Bell Hutchinson badly lacerated the upper portion of his right hand at his store on Ohio street yesterday afternoon, while working with a gasoline stove oven, the tendons being severed. Dr. W. J. Ferguson was summoned, and, assisted by Dr. Titsworth, sewed the wound at the Maywood hospital last evening. Today Mr. Hutchinson is confined to his home.

PARTY FEUDS.

Our republican friends are very prone to point out the difference of opinion amongst democrats as to men and measures, with a view of preventing the unification of the democratic party. They cannot, therefore, complain if their own factional fights are exploited, especially as they are asserting themselves most aggressively and obtrusively. These republican feuds are most prevalent in New York, Delaware, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kansas, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa and California.

In New York there is the Hughes and anti-Hughes factions; in Delaware Addicks is still a bone of contention; in Massachusetts the tariff revisionists and stand-patters are expressing themselves in anything but a kindly mood about each other; in Pennsylvania the Penrose ring is battering the reformers and graft is so prevalent that the honest republican voters are becoming more and more disgusted; in Ohio the Taft and Foraker factions are trying to destroy each other; in Kansas there is a combination of corruption and personal well the Minnesota it is the people against the machine tinctured with too much railroad boodle; in North Dakota the Northern Pacific railroad ring has been knocked out and is ready to turn the state over to the democrats rather than see the reformers successful; in South Dakota the Gamble and Kittredge factions are preparing for another death struggle; in Iowa the Cummins and anti-Cummins rings are opposing each other on whether the tariff shall continue to shelter the trusts and who shall succeed Allison as senator; in California the Harriman railroad ring has the party by the throat and here is an era of corruption and grafting, with several prominent republicans in danger of indictment and conviction. In fact the states where the republican party is united are the exception and it is almost impossible to name one where charges of grafting and rottenness are not openly made by some faction against another faction.

These republican feuds are disgusting the honest voters of that party and it is evident that it will be more and more difficult to get all the elements necessary to success combined on whoever is nominated. The bitterness engendered will also affect the nomination and election of the local tickets and there is where the democrats will have a great opportunity in some of the doubtful states and congressional districts.

But to take advantage of these differences amongst republicans the democrats must unite and while leaving to the essential principles of democracy can afford to compromise or lay by their disagreements on policies until they have defeated the common enemy.

SENATOR KNOX ENTERS THE RACE.

The announcement of Senator Knox's candidacy for president, following his indorsement for the republican nomination by the Pennsylvania state convention, opens up new speculation upon the forces that are at work in the administration party for its control next year. There is every reason to believe that Pennsylvania offers Knox as a bona fide aspirant for the nomination. That his candidacy, with reference to the position of Roosevelt, is advanced in good faith, is, however, open to grave doubt. While they were compelled, both by public opinion and as a matter of policy to indorse the national administrtion, it is an open secret that the men who are in control of the republican organization in Pennsylvania are opposed to Roosevelt and the things he stands for. The crafty Penrose, a typical political boss, and his astute colleague, Senator Knox, who was chosen by and represents the corporations that Matt Quay formerly represented, are hostile to the president, the latter openly and in a dignified manner, while the former does his work secretly and treacherously.

Mr. Knox is what might be called the last hope of the ultra-conservatives in the republican party. Foraker and Fairbanks are preferences of the anti-Roosevelt forces.

The Ohio senator seems to have been disqualified before the race is started by his blundersome attack upon Secretary Taft, which has practically rendered it certain that the latter will have he vote of Ohio in the national convention. Of the three reactionist representatives, Fairbanks unquestionably is the best proposition for the "boxers." It is doubtful if Knox could secure the support of a single delegation outside of Pennsylvania. His corporation alliances, his blank record as attorney general, his sauve opposition to Mr. Roosevelt and his utter lack of personal following and popularity, place him far beyond the range of presidential consideration.

Mr. Fairbanks, on the other hand, while not overburdened with personal magnetism, has few political enemies, is close to the president and on the best of terms with him and with a comparatively clean political record, all of which overshadows largely his extreme conservatism and his sympathy for the "interests." With Knox out of the way he might secure the votes of Pennsylvania, Indiana, New York, and other eastern states early in the balloting, which would make him a formidable candidate against Taft o rany other advanced republican.

At any rate, the "boxers" have Pennsylvania and Indiana under their thumb, and that is a great deal to start with.

THE GREATEST PHOTO.

In conjunction with the semi-centennial celebration of the Michigan agricultural college, a photograph was taken of Mr. Roosevelt in an automobile that when printed will be the largest photograph in the world. The largest photograph today is said to be five feet high. It is planned to print the present photogarphic plate 12 feet by 15, more than four times as large as the former record print. In order to do this it was necessary to rent a special building with an extra large door, and improvise a dark room of mammoth proportions.

The original photograph taken was "snapped" with an eight by ten-inch camera. From the negative an eight by ten positive was made, and, after adjusting the camera for still larger plates, an eleven by fourteen taken. From this a positive of the same dimensions was made, and then the camera was changed so as to make a negative fourteen by seventeen inches. With this negative properly touched up so as to eliminate any exaggerations due to the multiplicity of plates, the camera will be fitted up with the usual "throw-up" sliding frame, which will permit of focusing for a picture 12 by 15 feet. The completed photograph will be made from this negative in a series of stripes sixty inches wide. The bromide paper alone will cost upward of $200.

THE ITCHING PALM.

One of the truest statements made by advocates of municipal ownership is that it would put an end to bribery of public officials and public service corporations. It certainly would wherever that is practiced. But it wouldn't put an end to bribable officials, and unless the city should manufacture its own engines, machinery, street cars, electric lamps and other supplies, the quality and price of these would be largely regulated by such officials.

Every one who is familiar with public schools management knows that orders for school books and supplies are in some cities obtainable only by crossing the palms of members of school boards with a liberal supply of gold, and that a change of text books is frequently ordered merely because of their itching palms.

Municipal ownership will not change human nature, and venal officials can hold up manufacturing companies just as easily and profitably as they can lighting and traction companies.

Did it ever occur to you that a corporation isn't anxious to get rid of its money that way? But public servants who are zealous, not for the public welfare, but for their private purse, will find a way of getting their price, and more readily under public than under private ownership.

THE BIG MAN OF THE SUN

VENERABLE PATRIARCH WHO SPENDS HIS YEARS STARING AT OLD SOL.

STORY FROM THE BALTIMORE SUN

"I Am the Son of the Sun," He Cried, "and Was Born With His Blessing, Hence Shall Travel All Over the World."

I have today, writes a correspondent at Messina, in Sicily, been afforded an opportunity of interviewing one of the strangest characters in the world, says the Baltimore Sun. He is known to everybody as "l'Uomo del Sole." (The Man of the Sun.)

In appearance he is a venerable patriarch with a face tanned almost black by the sun, and with long, snow white hair, falling to his shoulders from both sides of the dividing line in the middle of the head. This as well as his long white beard, is always well brushed.

This man spends his time from morning till night in worshipping the sun. He gazes with wide-open, unblinking eyes at the ball of fire daily flooding this city with brilliant sunshine. He will gaze fixedly for hours at Old Sol, and in doing so carry on a conversation with it and utter prayers invoking the protection of his god. He does not suffer in the slightest by the terrible gaze, and to prove it he has, after a half hour's fixed stare at the sun, timed by my watch, seen plainly and described the smallest article I have pointed out to him.

Scientists, physicians, occulists and surgeons from every part of Italy have come to examine his wonderful eyes, which look as if they were attacked by some dread disease. They are, however, as good as those of the average man, but not the same. His orbits are remarkable by reason of their abnormally large pupils. The white part of the eye is crystal-like and strangely bloodshot.

Camarotto, the patriarch, is 86 years of age, of medium height, and robust, eating and sleeping well. The people of Messina have the greatest respect for him, and woe betide the youth who takes it into his head to ridicule l'Uomo del Sole. The men at work in the port, loading and discharging the ships, join together in making a weekly allowance out of their very meager pay to the sun worshipper, who is also called in the Sicilian dialect "u filusuru" (the philosopher.)

His coat is always unbottoned to give prominence to a remarkably colored waistcoat. His socks are always the same. One is white, the other red. One is short, the other long, and they cover like gaiters the ends of his trousers. The right foot is sh with a patent black boot, the left with a brown shoe.

At the head of his stick are tied three handkerchiefs of different colors. He calls this his talisman. With it he stops tempests, hurricanes and thunderstorms, which he says are signs of the fury and anger of his god, the sun.

When it rains he comes out hatless, kneels in the streets of Messina, with arms extended, and cries "Basta, basta. Oh, sole mio!" (Enough, enough, oh, my sun.) The traffic respectfully stops until he has finished his prayer and the waving of his magic wand in the air. "If it were not for me, oh, parde mio! what would happen to poor Messina, to poor Sicily, for it would most certainly be destroyed by torrents of water."

If he sees a lady hold up a parasol Carmarroto will snatch it and close it. Infamous one," he cries, "why walk in the shade when the sun is out?"

The lady may indignantly seek redress, but the sympathies of crowd and police are all with the man who can look at the sun with eyes open. The rent of the house wherein he lives is paid for him, the food he eats at any restaurant, the wine he drinks are all given him gratis by the proprietor who is honored by the presence of the sun worshipper.

With great difficulty I induced him to speak about himself.

"I am the son of the sun," he cried, once he was roused. "I was born with his blessing. I speak to the sun, the god of the world. I am his chosen, sent by him to preach his power, and I shall continue to do so forever and ever, for I shall not die. I shall travel all over the world, to France, to England, to America, to follow the sun, to preach its power, to gaze at it, to be bathed in golden light.

"I am daily defending my fellowmen from the sun. They ungratefully call me mad. Let them do so. They can not look at it for hours and hours. They would die. They would be blind, because they are unworthy toprofane the sun with their looks."

AFRAID OF PARALYSIS

A NERVOUS SUFFERER CURED BY DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

The Medicine That Makes Rich, Red Blood and Performs Wonders as a Tonic for the Nerves.

Why are nervous people invariably pale people?

The answer to that question explains why a remedy that acts on the blood can cure nervous troubles.

It explains why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are also for nervous people.

It is because of the intimate relation between the red corpuscles in the blood and the health of the nerves. The nervous system receives its nourishment through the blood. Let the blood become thin, weak and colorless and the nerves are starved—the victim is started on the road that leads to nervous wreck. Nervous people are pale people—but the pallor comes first. Enrich the blood and the nerves are stimulated and toned up to do their part of the work of the body. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make red blood and transform nervous, irritable, ailing people into strong, energetic, forceful men and women.

Mrs. Harriet E. Porter, of 20 Liberty avenue, South Medford, Mass., says:

"I had never been well from childhood and a few years ago I began to have dizzy spells. At such times I could not walk straight. I was afraid of paralysis and was on the verge of nervous prostration. Then neuralgia set in and affected the side of my face. The pains in my forehead were excruciating and my heart pained me so that my doctor feared neuralgia of the heart. I tried several different kinds of treatment but they did me no good.

"One day my son brought me some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I found that they strengthened my nerves. I took several boxes and felt better in every way. There were no more dizzy attacks, the neuralgia left me and I have been a well woman ever since."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are invaluable in anaemia, rheumatism, after-effects of the grip and fevers and in sick headaches, nervousness, neuralgia, and even partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia.

Our booklet "Nervous Disorders, a Method of Home Treatment" will be sent free on request to anyone interested. Write for it today.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

There is no case of indigestion, no matter how irritable or how obstinate that will not be speedily relieved by the use of Kodol. The main factor in curing the stomach of any disorder is rest, and the only way to get rest is to actually digest the food for the stomach itself. Kodol will do it. It is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids containing the very same juices found in a healthy stomach. It conforms to the pure food and drugs law. Sold by Arlington pharmacy.

A Duke as Railroad Laborer.

The Duke of Manchester will spend this summer in Detroit and become a laborer in the railroad shops in that city in order to become a proficient railrod man.

This announcement was made to the Detroit citizens by Eugene Zimmermann, of Cincinnati, his father-in-law. The duke is now in England, but is expected to arrive in this country in a few weeks, and Mr. Zimmerman says he will go at once to Detroit.

The duke is not compelled to labor in railroad shops for day wages, but he is anxious to learn the busines and will btgin at the bottom and work his way up, his father-in-law, who has the controlling interest, says. He is desirous of learning the railroad business, so that he will be better qualified to discuss railroad matters before the house of lords.

OTHER COLD 'SUMMERS'

SNOW AND SLEET ON FOURTH OF JULY WAS NOT UNCOMMON THING.

HAVE BEEN OTHER COLD SPRINGS

One Independence Day Hot Lemonade Was Served, According to a Writer in the Springfield, Mass., Republican.

The first weather of which I have any recollection was July 4, 1844, says a writer in the Springfield, Mass., Republican.

There was a great celebration in the middle of the town of Vernon, Vt., it may have had some political significance. I do not remember. The men drew pine trees and set them in the ground on Meeting House hill to make the pavilion, in which the tables were set for the banquet. There were exercises and an oration in the church, a procession and the local militia turned out; Major Lee and other Revolutionary war veterans were conspicuous.

My father was in the military company with epaulets of silver fringe and tassels on his shoulders, and my mother in a white gown and a white parasol with green figures, marched with the procession and sang in the choir. And I remember that the parasol gave way for a Highland shawl, that everybody suffered with the cold and that there were snow flakes in the air, if not a regular snowfall; and of Dr. Cyrus Washburne, the marshal of the day, coming to my grandmother, under whose wing I was, for a cup of hot tea, and making one of his facetious remarks about Providence playing into his hands, that he might have plenty of business for the remainder of the summer, and her rebuking him for his irreverence, as he intended she should, there being always some sort of a lively tilt between the two.

In June, 1852, there was a thunder shower during which there was a fall of snow and sleet that covered the ground to a depth of several inches. I remember how my father's well kept garden in West Northfield looked, with the corn, peas, onions and other early vegetables sticking up through the snow; and that as we were walking about in the snow, Eastman Belding came along, and, stopping in a neighborly fashion to exchange experiences about the weather, he said:

"Had you heard the news that Franklin Pierce, of New Hampshire, got the nomination for president yesterday? My Republican came just before I left home, and I saw it in that."

And my father said: "He will be elected, but he's a nobody; why did they not nominate somebody while they were about it? There are plenty in the party."

The spring of 1865 was nearly, if not quite, as backward as this. I remember hearing a man remark that pestilence and famine always followed a war, and that the late spring betokened the famine. I also recall that a large garden was ploughed and planted that year on July 4, and there was a good crop and a quick one. The vegetables could almost be seen to grow.

One Fourth of July, in the late sixties, I think, I remember of hot lemonade being served at our home in West Northfield; and a few days later in Belchertown, where I was on a visit, I remember hearing Mrs. D. Thompson say that she had not had her stove taken from her sitting room, and of the fire she had on Independence day, and that previously throughout the season she had had a fire much of the time.

People forget; the seasons do not differ so much after all. This is a cold spring, but there have been others.

The "Katy's" New Bulletin.

Depot spectators and hangers-on at Clinton are getting quite numerous, in consequence of which Superintendent N. J. Finney, of the Katy, today issued a bulletin to passenger conductors, requesting that the gangways of vestibuled equipment and gates of other equipment on trains Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4, be closed and watched and no passenger be permitterd to get on or off the train at Clinton, except at the depot.

This is done, so the bulletin states, to keep the public from riding on the trains through the yards, as the speed limit has been reduced and now affords a temptation to the people to hop on and off the trains.

A CONCRETE MILK HOUSE.

Any Farmer May Make One at Small Expense.

A house for keeping milk cool in the summer and storing fruit and vegetables in the winter may be constructed out of concrete from floor to roof. A man in a little Missouri town built one in the following manner, says the Kansas City Star. An excavation was made in the ground four feet deep the desired length and breadth of the building. Two posts were then set in the ground at each corner, leaving a space between them the thickness of the walls. Inch boards a foot wide were placed on the inside of these posts next the ground. The first layer of concrete which was made from cement and tolerably coarse gravel was put between them. After this was finished another round of boards was put just above the first ones and these were filled between with concrete also. Then another course of concrete was put above this and so on until the desired height was reached. As the concrete hardened the boards were removed. The door frame was set between the boards in one end of the building when the walls had been built up to a level with the top of the ground, and it was made secure by long bolts extending from the sides of frame into the concrete walls. The roof was made an oval shape by semicircle rafters, the ends of which rested on the top of the side walls. After being covered over with boards a layer of concrete was spread on, leaving a place for a cement chimney at the center of the roof. The rafters and sheeting were left to give strength to the concrete. The floor was also made of cement and inclined slightly toward one corner where an eight-gallon jar had been sunk, into which any water might drain. The doors of the house were made double, one opening inward and the other outward. When shut they kept out the heat in summer and the cold in the winter.

WHERE HOLSTEINS ORIGINATED.

Brief History of This Type of Dairy Animal.

The cattle known in America as Holstein-Friesians belong to the short horn, low-land race, native to the low-lying, fertile lands of Europe bordering on the North Sea, of which race, from the dairy standpoint, the Holstein-Friesian family is the most highly developed. These cattle might have been better named Friesian, since Friesland, and the neighboring provinces of Holland, is the central home from which this breed of cattle has been so widely disseminated over the old world, and from which some 10,000 head of foundation stock has been brought to America. The Friesian people are among the most conservative of the Germanic race, still holding to and speaking among themselves the old Friesian language, although also able to speak Dutch, the official language of Holland. They have been equally conservative in holding to their ancient industry of cattle rearing, an occupation for which their low-lying lands are especially fitted, and, as the Roman historian Tacitus speaks of them nearly 1,900 years ago as cattle breeders, paying a tribute in cattle and hides to the Roman empire, so we find them to-day making dairy husbandry their main industry. Holding mainly to one occupation down through the centuries, and passing the business from father to son, it would be strange indeed, says Farmers' Review, if their breed of cattle did not reach a very high degree of development; so it is in no way surprising that we should find these Friesian dairymen possessed of a breed of cattle which, as an all-around dairy breed, is superior to any other breed known.

DEATH CAME SUDDENLY

PROF. LEOPOLD ERNEST FRIEMEL STRICKEN AT PERTLE SPRINGS.

DIED 4:30 O'CLOCK P. M. TUESDAY

The Remains Brought to Sedalia This Morning—Had Resided Here for More Than Quarter of a Century.

(Wednesday's Daily.)

Prof. Leopold Ernest Friemel, director of the Sedalia Military band, and one of the best known and well liked residents of the city, died suddenly of cerebral apoplexy at Pertle Springs, a suburb of Warrensburg, at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, while the strains of music were filling the air at the druggists' convention at the Springs.

The sudden death was a heart-rending shock to the family and friends, and the consternation it caused among the band members can not be described.

Prof. Friemel accompaied the band to Pertle Springs Tuesday morning, where they had a four days' engagement to furnish music for the Druggists' convention. He complained of heart trouble and of the pain which the organ caused him, but like previous instances, it was not thought to be of a serious nature.

Throughout the day he had performed his duties as bandmaster, and shortly after 4 o'clock, when the band boys had finished playing a certain piece, they proceeded to cross the bride to a spot known as "The Chapel."

On the way to "The Chapel" a steep hill must necessarily be climbed, and after crossing the bridge Prof. Friemel made slight complaint of the pain about his heart. He dropped out of line and sat down. His action was noticed by the other band members, but they paid little attention to it, not surmising for an instant that anything serious would result.

Soon after dropping out of line a severe spell seized the patient. Dr. Otto F. Claus, a Warrensburg physician, was hurriedly summoned, and after working with the patient for some time pronounced him dead.

The news was quickly conveyed to the band members, who immediately notified the relatives here.

The remains were taken to C. A. Danner's undertaking establishment on Holden street, where they were embalmed and prepared for burial, then shipped to Sedalia, arriving here at 11:05 o'clock this morning, being in charge of William Latour, who had been attending the convention.

The body was taken to the parlors of the Sedalia Undertaking company, and later removed to the family residence, 619 West Second street, where it will lie until the time of the funeral.

The news of Prof. Friemel's death was received by the family and Sedalia friends in a most pitiful manner. Early yesterday morning the family and friends bade good-by to Prof. Friemel, not in the least anticipating that anything out of the ordinary would occur, and when the intelligence reached here of his death there was many a tear shed in memory of the deceased.

Born in Germany on October 6, 1845, Prof. Friemel learned the saddlery trade, which he followed for many years. In 1871 he migrated to America, settling in Missouri. He lived at Jefferson City, California and Schell City, and in 1873 removed to Sedalia, where he has since resided.

On August 15, 1871, he was married at Tipton, Mo., to Miss Anna Louisa Ritchel, of that place, the Rev. Fr. Keuper performing the ceremony. With his bride he came to Sedalia, and of the union the following children were born: Leo, government clerk in the district court at Ryan, I. T.; Otto and Arthur, civil engineers for the Missouri Pacific at St. Louis; Ernest, employed in a hardware store at Fort Worth, Texas; Gustave, of Sedalia; Mrs. Alma Koerner, of Cleveland, O., and Miss Dollie, of this city. He also leaves two brothers, one residing at Jefferson City and one in Germany, also a sister, living in the old country.

Prof. Friemel served in the Hussar regiment of the German army from 1865 to 1868, and saw active service in the war of Prussia against Austria. He also serve in the same regiment in the Fra o-German war, and during his service he was promoted to the rank of regimental musician. He was honorably discharged in 1871.

After coming to Sedalia Prof. Friemel first engaged in the saddlery business, continuing in that line until 1895, when he was appointed sanitary officer of the city, serving in that position four years. On retiring from office, in 1899, he engaged in the insurance business, which he continued up to the last city election, when he was elected city assessor on the independent ticket.

He was treasurer of Eintracht lodge No. 176, A. O. U. W.; had been president of the Pioneer Verein society for the past ten years; was a trustee for Missouri for the North American German league, and only last Monday received his degree as an honorary member of the Lafayette County Pioneer Verein society.

In commercial, social and religious life Prof. Friemel was always a foremost man, being ever ready to do his part for the uplifting and betterment of his fellowman. He was an active and esteemed member of the Roman Catholic church, and was never found wanting when his religious duties called upon him to attend services or lend financial assistance.

He was a man whom everybody was proud to call friend. He always met his acquaintances with a glad hand shake or a familiar "hello," and truly can it be said that he has never failed to assist a fallen brother when assistance was within his power.

Prof. Friemel died suddenly, it is true, but he has gone to a better world, where troubles are to be experenced no more, and in his removal hundreds of friends in Sedalia and elsewhere will join the Democrat-Sentinel in extending heartfelt sympathy to the btreaved widow and children, upon whom the blow falls most heavily.

Funeral services will be held at Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock Friday morning, and the Rev. Fr. Neiberg will officiate. Interment will be in the Catholic cemetery.

The following gentlemen will serve as pall bearers: Joe Lennartz, Joseph B. Kraus, Joseph Paradis, Frank Losbach, Clemens Honkomp and Charles L. Keck.

There will be children's day services at Union church the first Sunday in July.

Mrs. Amanda Farris, whose long illness was mentioned before, died at her home near Lookout June 9th, of lung trouble. She was 22 years old and had been married about two years. She leaves an infant son and a young husband, who will mourn her untimely demise. She was a Christian woman, having united with the Olive Branch Baptist church in 1894. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Joe Dewitt at the Union church this morning at 11 o'clock. He chose for the subject of his remarks these words, "Prepare to meet thy God." There was a lengthy procession of neighbors, friends and sorrowing relatives who turned out to pay the last tribute to the departed, and many and very pretty were the floral offerings. After the last hymn had been sung, when the last goodbye was over, then the casket was carried out to the cemetery by the pallbearers. Then followed the benediction, which was very impressive toward each individual, causing them to realize its true sense, that life is very uncertain, even for the young, and that death is sure to come.

A Slam on Mr. Heard.

Ex-Congressman Heard, of Sedalia, was in Chanute the other day, on his way home from Coffeyville, where he had been to look after business interests. He is the head of the Coffeyville Gas and Fuel company. According to a Chanute paper, Mr. Heard looks much like the newspaper pictures of "Uncle" Joe Cannon.

LOST MARRIAGE LICENSE

Then It Was the Ceremony Was Called Off Temporarily.

(Wednesday's Daily.)

Joseph Bradbury, of Beaman, aged over 80 years, and Dora Savage, a laundress of this city, were granted a marriage license several days ago.

The time for the ceremony was set for last night, to be performed at the home of Mrs. Polly Bryant Howe.

Justice of the Peace Clark was called to officiate, but when he arrived the intended groom had lost the marriage license.

Deputy Recorder Scott was called up by telephone and asked if a license had been issued. The reply came in the affirmative.

Bradbury asked Judge Clark to perform the ceremony, nevertheless, and he would get another license today. This Judge Clark refused to do and the ceremony was called off.

Two Dyspeptics

If you are too fat it is because your food turns to fat instead of muscle—strength. If you are too lean the fat producing foods that you eat are not properly digested and assimilated.

Lean, thin, stringy people do not have enough Pepsin in the stomach, while fat people have too much Pepsin and not enough Pancreatine.

Kodol

For Dyspepsia

Contains all the digestive juices that are found in a healthy stomach, and in exactly those proportions necessary to enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all foods that may be eaten. Kodol is not only a perfect digestant, but it is a reconstructive, tissue building tonic as well. Kodol relieves Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Palpitation of the Heart and Constipation. You will like it.

Digests What You Eat

Rests the stomach, rebuilds the tissues and gives firm flesh.

ONCE A 'BURGLAR BOLD'

SOME REAL EXPERT TESTIMONY IN REGARD TO SKELETON KEYS.

A CASE AT KIRKSVILLE, MISSOURI

A Prisoner Said His Tools Were to Seal Fruit Cans, but the Innocent Appearing Witness Convinced the Jury.

What is a skeleton key? Take your time now before you answer, writes a Kirksville, Mo., correspondent.

The question was presented to a jury in the circuit court here this week. John Allen, a little pale-faced wanderer, had been caught at Novinger, Mo., with a job lot of steel tools that looked like toothpicks of jackstraws, Missouri law makes it a felony to carry burglar tools, so the prosecuting attorney drew out this sort of a dragnet information:

"By then and there having in his possession a lot of seleton keys, nippers, jimmies, pliers, lockpicks, files, saws and lock breaking tools, against the peace and dignity of the state."

Allen laughed softly when he read all that.

"The rubes wouldn't know a burglar's kit from prize package of jewelhe said. "Them ain't burglars' tools; them's what you use to solder tin cans with."

In court this morning the queer looking instruments were spread out ry," he said. "Them ain't burglar's circuit clerk inspected them and said he didn't see anything there that looked like a key. Sheriff Curry said he had tried the locks in the court house and jail and he could open every one with the outfit. Still, he confessed he didn't know what a skeleton key was. The janitor exhibited a ring full of keys, two of the latter being somewhat ambiguous.

"They will open several different locks," he said. "They're what I call skeleton keys."

Several other witnessses gave conflicting evidence in regard to skeleton keys.

The little prisoner smiled compracently as a long, lank man from St. Louis took the chair. The man appeared so mild an inoffensive that to associate with the craft of fly-by-nighters seemed almost sacrilegious. The witness muttered something about some detective agency somewhere, and said his name was Bill Stamper.

"Do you know a skeleton key when you see it, Mr. Stamper?" asked the prosecuting attorney.

"I think so," said the witness, cautiously.

"Where did you learn what a skeleton key was?"

"When I belonged to the 'Lone Jim gang.'"

The prisoner quit smiling at the thin man in the witness chair. Instead he looked grave and bent his head forward on his chin.

"The profession calls 'em screws," said the witness. "They'll open any lock you can make in these parts. I've tried 'em. In '96 I had an order from the chief to capture 'Lone Jim,' 'Illinois Blackey' and 'Syracuse Slim.' I forget their other names. The department didn't have their photographs, and not a man on the force knew 'em by sight. There was only one thing to do; to join the gang.

"I did this and they showed me where to get a set of 'screws,' about like this gentleman here has. They were hand made by a mechanic in Warsaw, Illinois, and cost $10. That's cheap, though, because it puts every country store at your mercy in the night. I went along with 'Lone Jim' on several hauls; had to until I learned where 'Illinois Blackey' and 'Slim' was. I ate, slept and ran with the gang, same as one of 'em for two weeks. One day I got 'Blackey' and 'Slim' together and run 'em against the cops I had stationed. Then I took Jim at the point of the gun. He had a batch of 'screws,' a bottle of oil and two good guns. Here's his 'screws.'"

"Skeleton keys," suggested the prosecutor.

"Oh, yes, that's what they call 'em in the story books. When you get 'em you can have a spring opening in somebody's dry goods store every night. They're worth the money, all right."

The captor of "Lone Jim" produced a set of tools that looked like they were blood kin to those in evidence. When it came Allen's time to explain he said:

"Gentlemen, if they are burglars' tools I have been shamefully imposed on. I heard this was a great apple country and got 'em to fasten up the cans. I've been swindled, I have."

The jury gave him four years in the pen, two on the information and two for using burglars' tools to put up fruit with.

Robbed Express Safe.

Monk Dudley, charged wth assault on Pacific Express Messenger Womack and robbery of the express safe in the Elkhart train robbery of last March, pleaded guilty at Palestine, Texas, compromising on a sentence of twenty years in the penitentiary.

The agreement was made between the prosecution and defendant's attorneys. The jury rendered a verdict accordingly, though the court's charge read sentence of not less than five years, life imprisonment or death by hanging.

THE ASYLUM SCANDAL

EVIDENCE FOR DR. C. R. WOODSON WAS HEARD AT TUESDAY'S SESSION.

WIFE CONFIDENT OF INNOCENCE

She So Stated Last Night—Witnesses Point to the Physical Impossibility of the Maloney "Story."

St. Joseph, Mo., June 12.—The tide of battle yesterday turned in favor of Dr. Woodson at the investigation of charges against him at insane hospital No. 2. He was able to show by physical facts that the story told by Cornelius Maloney, who testified that he saw Dr. Woodson and Miss Minnie Everline in a compromising position was untrue.

Maloney said he looked through a hole in the floor. This was shown to be impossible by the testimony of Dr. J. C. Smith, who has charge of ward No. 13, where Maloney says he saw things.

Miss Effie Evans, matron of the institution, was before the board from 5:30 until nearly 9 o'clock last night, with an interruption of half an hour for dinner.

Miss Evans has been at the hospital for eighteen years and perhaps knows more about the institution than anyone else, Dr. Woodson, possibly, excepted. She said that Dr. Woodson had not made presents to Miss Minnie Everline, as charged by Miss Boyle, but the several articles mentioned, including a diamond ring, were bought by Miss Everline with her own money. Miss Evans says she was present when some of the purchases were made.

Mrs. C. R. Woodson made a statement for publication last night, in which she expresses every confidence in the innocence of her husband, and says she has done and will continue to do all she can to secure his vindication.

Judge A. M. Woodson, of the state supreme court, and a brother of Dr. C. R. Woodson, arrived from Jefferson City yesterday.

James Kelly, a painter, employed at the hospital, testified that Cornelius Maloney, the plumber, who gave sensational testimony against Woodson, approached him two years ago and suggested that they could make the doctor "come through" by spying upon him.

J. B. Maloney, the chief engineer at the institution, testified that it would have been a physical impossibility for Cornelius Maloney to have taken the course he described in his testimony last week, or to have gotten in the position he says he occupied in the manner described by him.

Miss Marie Van Pelt, a waitress in the officers' dining room, told the board that Mrs. Eleanor Davidson, of Dearborn, who testified against Dr. Woodson last week, was discharged for unhooking an inside elevator door at night and permitting a man to pull himself up on the elevator. Mrs. Davidson says the man brought her ice water.

OHIO BANKER DIED

While Attending His Daughter's Wedding Anniversary.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 12.—Richard Pow, cashier and vice president of the First National bank, of Salem, Ohio, for the past twenty-five years, died here suddenly at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. B. Kernohan, whose wedding anniversary he had come from Ohio to attend.

Mr. Pow was 55 years of age. His wife leaving the room for a short time found him dead on her return.

SEDALIA AND BUNCETON

Personal Paragraphs Clipped From the "Eagle."

The Bunceton Eagle of Tuesday had these items:

Chas. S. Foster, wife and little son, of Sedalia, who have been visiting with relatives in this city, their old home, returned to Sedalia last Friday morning.

Homer York and sister, Miss Beulah, of Sedalia, formerly of this place, arrived here Saturday and have been spending several days with friends and relatives.

Miss Bertha Allen, of Sedalia, arrived Saturday and has been visiting her parents and at the bedside of her grandmother, Mrs. A. E. Patterson, whose serious illness is mentioned in this issue. Miss Bertha has a nice position in Sedala and is doing well. She is one of Bunceton's most popular young ladies and her friends here are numbered by her acquaintances.

Will Give a Luncheon.

Mrs. W. F. Keyser will give a luncheon Saturday complimentary to Miss Ada Stanley, the guests being the six girls who entertained for Mrs. Keyser before her marriage last fall.

GOVERNMENT CROP REPORT

Conditions of Winter and Spring Wheat Better Than Expected.

Washington, June 11.—The June report of the department of agriculture, issued yesterday, makes the condition of winter wheat 77.4 compared with 82.9 a month ago, and 82.7 a year ago.

The spring wheat condition is 88.7, compared with 93.4 a year ago. The area sown to spring wheat is 16,464,000 acres, showing a decrease of 7 per cent, or 1,242,000 acres from the area sown a year ago.

The condition of the oats crop is 81.6, compared with 85.9 a year ago. The area of oats is 31,491,000, an increase of 532,000 acres, or 1.7 per cent.

By the usual way of figuring the above report indicates a probable winter wheat crop of 381,000,000 bushels, compared with 492,000,000 bushels last year. The indicated spring wheat crop is 255,000,000 bushels, compared with 242,000,000 bushels last year, making the total winter and spring wheat prospect 636,000,000 bushels, of 100,000,000 bushels less than last year's crop.

Conditions of both winter and spring wheat are better than were generally expected.

Will Not Hang Friday.

Davis Long, who was to have been hanged at Caruthersville Friday for the killing of a neighbor, as the result of a quarrel over a pig, escaped the gallows, the governor Wednesday night having commuted the death penalty to a term of life imprisonment in the nenitentiary.

ROBBED A RESIDENCE

The Home of E. O. Hansbrough Entered Early This Morning.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

E. O. Hansbrough's residence, at 218 South Grand avenue, was entered by robbers early this morning.

A ladies' gold watch, five gold rings with sets, $7 in money, a small-sized gold monkey wrench and a pearl hand with a gold ring on it were stolen.

Entrance was gained to the place by raising a pantry window, which was unlocked.

There is no clue.

RUEF IMPLICATES SCHMITZ

Says He Gave the Mayor Half of Bribery Money.

San Francisco, June 12.—In the Schmitz trial today with Abe Ruef on the stand the court overruled the objection of the deense to the question, "Did you in January, 1905, in the house at 2849 Fillmore street, give this defendant, Eugene Schmidtz, $2500 in currency?"

Ruef replied in the affirmative.

This $2,500 is claimed by the defense to have been one-half of the $5,000 obtained from the French restaurants for the privilege of conducting their business.

SHE ASKS $15,855 DAMAGES

A Woman Parker Carnival Attendant Wants Pay for Injuries.

Abilene, Kas., June 12.—Miss Ally I. Colwell, of Oskaloosa, Iowa, has filed suit for $15,855 against C. W. Parker, H. R. Raver and J. A. Darnaby for damages.

She attended the Parker carnival in Oskaloosa in 1905 and entered the moving picture show while the lights were off. She did not see the steps from the platform to the ground inside the tent and fell, injuring her hip badly and crippling her for life. For this she asks damages.

FATHER OF THE GIRL

Gave Smith Such a Beating That He's in a Critical Condition.

Bridgeport, Ohio, June 12.—C. A. Smith, proprietor of the United States laundry at Bellaire, and a prominent citizen, is in the hospital in a critical condition, the result of a beating sustained at the hands of M. J. Watson, of this place.

Smith is charged with having enticed Watson's 15-year-old daughter from home, and a warrant charging rape is in the hands of a constable.

Senator Hayman Joins the Elks.

At Wednesday night's meeting of Sedalia lodge No. 125, B. P. O. Elks, Senator Frank C. Hayman, of Houstonia, was initiated as a member.

Twelve years in the Soda Water business, and to the best of my knowledge and belief, we have not lost one single customer because they thought they could buy something better elsewhere. It has always been because they could buy cheaper elsewhere, or because the other fellow "spends more money with us." Some caterers seem to think if they can hand you something you don't want, they have made a good sale. That is a poor way to make friends. A better way is to serve what is called for, and in case of doubt just give them Crawford's. It's always first-class.

SENATOR MORGAN DEAD

HEART FAILURE FATAL TO THE DISTINGUISHED SOUTHERN GENTLEMAN.

HE DIED JUST BEFORE MIDNIGHT

For Several Years He Had Been in Bad Health, but Had Retained Seat in the Senate—The Funeral in Selma.

Washington, June 12.—Senator John Tyler Morgan, of Alabama, died here last night.

Senator Morgan had been in bad health for years, but had more or less regularly attended the sessions of congress. He suffered from angina pectoris, which was the cause of his death. He died at 11:15 o'clock

At the deathbed were his daughters, Miss Mary Morgan and Miss Cornelia Morgan, both of this city, and his secretary, J. O. Jones.

Mr. Morgan was a democrat. He was born in Athens, Tenn., June 20, 1824. His Alabama home was in Selma, where the funeral will be. The body probably will be taken from here Thursday.

Senator Morgan had held many important offices besides that of senator, including membership in the Hawaiian laws commission, and arbitrator on the Bering sea fisheries.

Green Ridge News

Green Ridge, June 12.

George E. Hollenbeck shipped three cars of fine cattle and hogs to St. Louis last Friday.

Col. M. Doherty shipped three cars of cattle to St. Louis Tuesday, where he expects to top the market.

Neal Anderson, an old resident of Green Ridge, who is located at Denver, Colo., is visiting friends and relatives this week.

Jeff Rawlins came in from Colorado Tuesday for a month's visit with friends and relatives.

The "lid" was on in Green Ridge last Sunday, by order of the city "dads," but it rained just the same.

A. J. Raines was a business visitor in Windsor Sunday.

The "Irish Lord's" Wire.

Mike Crotty, the big train dispatcher for the Missouri Pacific at Jefferson City, relieved a dispatcher here some time ago, and while on duty in the middle of the night an engineer on a passenger train coming from the west sent a message from a town west of here that "something must be sent to repair the engine, as it refuses to run."

Mike, who is always ready to answer anyone, at any time, wired back the following: "Good God, we don't send the machine shop out on the road."

The train got to Sedalia, but a little behind time, however.

WILL GET FULL PARDON

MISSISSIPPI GOVERNOR SAYS HE WILL PARDON SLAYER OF DOCTOR.

SENATOR'S NIECE ALMOST WRECK

Executive Refuses Even to Examine Record Affirming Her Sentence—She Is Not in Custody, Nor Will She Be

Jackson, Miss., June 12.—Mrs. Angie Birdsong, the slayer of Dr. Thomas Butler friend of her childhood and former family physician, will never don prison garb, despite the fact that her five-year penitentiary sentence has been affirmed by the supreme court.

Within five minutes after the sentence of the lower court was affirmed in the higher tribunal, Governor Vardaman granted a respite to Mrs. Birdsong that will keep her from the penitentiary until a petition for pardon can be prepared and be presented. The chief executive will then grant a full and unconditional pardon to the woman who invoked the "unwritten law" in her own behalf.

Governor Vardaman states positively that he will grant the pardon without even the formality of examining the supreme court record, or reading the evidence on which Mrs. Birdsong was convicted. He believes that justice should be tempered with mercy, and, irrespective of whether or not Mrs. Birdsong was justifiable in killing Dr. Butler, that she should not be compelled to serve a five-year term in prison, and he intends to spare her the humiliation of even spending a brief period in confinement.

Mrs. Birdsong is almost a wreck as a result of the nervous ordeal through which she has passed since the memorable tragedy in the village of Monticello on December 23, 1905. She has been for several years almost an invalid.

After receiving news that her sentence had been affirmed, Mrs. Birdsong left for Hazelhurst in custody of Deputy Sheriff Sanders, where she will remain until final action is taken on the pardon petition, which has been placed in circulation. She will not be kept in custody, however, the governor's respite being accompanied by an assurance that the $10,000 bond will hold good.

Public sympathy is unquestionably with the woman, and the governor's action was not in the least unexpected. He is familiar with the tragedy.

The supreme court mandate was transmitted by Clerk Meyers to Sheriff Hamilton, of Copiah county, but the governor's respite will act as a supersedeas.

Under the constitution, the chief executive is without power to grant a pardon until a petition has been published for thirty days, but when the document reaches the executive office it will obtain his signature.

Mrs. Birdsong is a niece of United States Senator McLaurin, of Mississippi, and Dr. Butler, whom she killed, was a cousin of ex-Governor Longino, of this state.

FARM AND GARDEN

MAKING TILE CEMENT.

It Is Easy Work When the Knack Has Been Learned.

It is surprising how fast one may make tile when once the knack is learned. Make a half dozen little troughs two feet long inside and three inches deep if you are to make a three-inch tile, and four inches deep for four-inch tile. These are quickly nailed together and are begun like No.

Forms for Making Cement Tile.

1 in the illustrations, and completed to look like No. 3. No. 2 shows a trough or mold that has a half inch of cement and sand laid over its inside and the tin form in place ready to cover with the same material.

After the six are filled, the first one may be set hard enough to turn out on some straw to fill again, says Farm and Home. But the tin lining must not be withdrawn until it is hard. One needs a large number of the tins, which can be made out of second-hand tin roof or any tin or stovepipe. They must be just two feet long so they will fit into the troughs.

To make them rapidly, select a sound pole and saw off six feet of it where it is three inches thick. Then nail legs to one end and at a point two and one-half feet from the other end. This leaves a horse that has a horn projecting on which the tin may be readily malleted. Shave the horse flat on top between the legs, to work on. First cut the sheet two feet long and putting the edges together, mallet it together through the middle lengthwise. Then spring it open on the horn and round it over so it will lap well at the top. It must not be riveted because it is to be sprung to take it out when the tile is hard. The tin is shown completed at No. 4 and the horse at No. 5.

The new tile must dry and season slowly so it will not check. To accomplish this sprinkle ocasionally with water. I prefer tile that is triangular in shape inside as it runs a deep current of water when laid edge down and is less likely to clog and fill. If used in soil that works into the tile a little form may be cast to place over each joint or flat stones may be used.

CORN ROOT APHIS.

Treatment Which Will Secure Protection Against the Pest.

As a means of replying to very many requests received for full and precise directions for the treatment of seed corn as a protection against injury by the corn root aphis, the Illinois state entomologist, Dr. S. A. Forbes, has prepared the following careful directions. The quantities mentioned are sufficient to treat the seed corn necessary to plant about 45 acres. If a larger or smaller acreage is to be planted, each can easily figure the necessary amount for himself.

1. Mix one pint of pure oil of lemon with one gallon of denatured alcohol or wood alcohol.

2. Put one bushel of seed corn into a tub or half a barrel, or similar vessel large enough to allow vigorous stirring of the corn.

3. Measure out one and a half pints of the mixture of oil of lemon and alcohol.

4. Slowly sprinkle this mixture on the corn, at the same time stirring the latter vigorously with a stout paddle or stick. Do not let the oil collect at the bottom of the vessel for lack of stirring and thorough mixing. Stir vigorously until the oil is well distributed. It should not take five minutes to prepare a bushel of seed.

5. Put the corn thus prepared into a grain sack and it is ready to take to the field for planting. Keep this sack in the shade.

6. Do not prepare more than can be planted in a half a day, unless it is convenient to return to the crib at noon.

Certified Milk.

Certified milk is as clean as it is possible to make it, it is free from objectionable bacteria in quantities sufficient to do any harm and it is of uniform quality. To produce certified milk the animals must be healthy and clean, the premises must be clean, the utensils must be sterilized and every one who works with the milk must have clean hands and clean clothes. All this costs extra money, and the product must bring a higher price to make it pay.

BODY CLEANING EVERY SPRING MORE URGENT THAN HOUSE CLEANING.

Many Women Have Discovered That a Course of Treatment With Pe-ru-na Cleanses the System of the Accumulations of Winter.

MRS. ALICE BRADLEY.

Mrs. Alice Bradley, Thorold, Ont., Can., writes:

"Two years ago I became weak and rundown and as time passed I gradually failed until a year ago, when I experienced a stroke of paralysis, which affected one side and I was helpless.

"I called in professional medical treatment, but steadily grew worse.

"I had decided I never would rise again from my bed, but, when Peruna was brought to me and after having taken four bottles of it, I was able to be out and a wonder to myself and friends.

"I consider Peruna a great blessing to the afflicted. I may add that my daughter has also used Peruna and has been blessed with renewed health. I believe Peruna saved our lives."

Health and Complexion, Strength and Beauty Depend Upon Clean Blood and Good Digestion.

Mrs. Daniel Passmore, Welland, Ontario, Can., writes: "For three years I was severely afflicted with stomach trouble, and for days at a time I could not eat anything. I grew thin in flesh, had headaches and was the picture of despair.

"I was attended by three doctors, but got no good results.

"Finally I began the use of Peruna. I soon noticed an improvement and after using three bottles, I was able to relish a meal, in fact, could eat anything.

"To-day I feel well and strong. I consider that Peruna has saved my life and I shall always praise it."

MRS. DANIEL PASSMORE.

Clean Up Once a Year.

CLEANING up the body in the spring is a duty everyone owes to himself. Face powders may hide a rough skin, but Peruna helps to produce a skin that need not be hidden.

The source of good blood is good digestion. Peruna aids digestion.

Those people who have regular bodily functions have a clear and delicate skin. Peruna helps to restore these functions.

Most skin deformities depend upon systemic derangements, which cannot be corrected by local treatments.

Peruna is a systemic remedy, reorganizing and regulating the whole body.

Mrs. N. P. Lawler, 423½ N. Broadway, Pittsburg, Kas., writes:

"Last spring I caught a severe cold which developed into a serious case of catarrh. I felt weak and sick and could neither eat nor sleep well.

"A member of our club, who had been cured of catarrh through the use of Peruna, advised me to try it and I did so at once.

"I expected help, but nothing like the wonderful change for the better I observed almost as soon as I started taking it.

"In three days I felt much better, and within a week I was well.

"I continued taking the entire bottle and within two weeks I was in fine health."

"Peruna is a wonderful medicine."

Mr. Lee King, R. F. D. No. 4, Farmersville, Tex., writes.

"My health has been better generally this spring and summer than it has been for four years and I have worked nearly every day.

"I suffered with dysentery and bowel trouble.

"Your remedy also cured my wife of constipation.

"I wish you continued success with your great medicine, Peruna."

SAYS CHILD IS NOT HIS

FATERNITY AT STAKE IN SUIT BROUGHT AGAINST A MILLIONAIRE.

ALL GOTHAM IS SAID TO BE AGOG

Not Trying to Dodge Responsibility, but Will Not Contribute to the Support of the Woman's Child.

New York, June 12.--W. E. D. Stokes, the millionaire proprietor of the Hotel Ansonia and eighty other New York properties, was called yesterday a defendant before Justice Jaycox in the supreme court in Flushing upon the complaint of Lucy M. Randolph, who claims that Mr. Stokes should contribute $500 a month to the support of her 4-year-old boy, upon the ground that the boy is Stoke's child.

Mr. Stokes absolutely denies the woman's claims, and in his determination to fight the case it is understood that several New Yorkers, prominent in the social world, are now being sought by subpoena servers as witnesses. Mr. Stokes in an interview, said:

"I am going to fight this case to a finish, no matter whom it may involve. If I thought that boy was mine I would take care of him. I hope I have no yellow sterak in me that would make me dodge responsibility, but I will not be imposed upon.

"This case is likely to develop some startling features before it is finished. I am unwilling to discuss the history of the woman who appears as plaintiff. I would not be led into making any statement against her. The witnesses in the case must speak for themselves, however, and now that the case has reached trial, it must go on to its conclusion.

"Other men of wealth have been obliged to go through somewhat similar ordeals and I shall not shrink from mine. I have many witnesses to be summoned, if necessary, and will tell my own story upon the stand as freely and as frankly as possible. The ordeal is making me nervous, I admit, but I shall not lose my courage to see it through."

Mrs. Randolph, who is a handsome blonde woman of about 30 years, today declined to make any statement regarding the case.

"I am told I shall be the first witness," she said, "and while upon the stand I shall tell all my pitiful story. Oh, how I wish it was over, but I shall go through it for the sake of my boy."

The little boy, over whom the suit is being fought, and it is no small suit, for if Mrs. Randolph wins it means more than $100,000 before the child is of age, is a handsome looking chap. Today he roamed at will among the lawyers and witnesses in the court room.

George Gordon Battle appeared as counsel for Mrs. Randolph, and Abe Gruber appeared for Mr. Stokes.

The present suit is one of three which the plaintiff has against Mr. Stokes. One suit, began two years ago, was to recover $3,500, the value of a team and carriage, which she claimed she had been deprived of. The present suit is for the boy's support, and Mrs. Randolph has one in her own behalf still pending.

According to the complaint of Mrs. Randolph she and Stokes met about the time he was divorced from his wife, who is now Mrs. Phil Lydig. at that time Mrs. Randolph was Miss Lucette Rylie, living in West Seventy-second street, having recently come to this city from Kentucky.

After two years of friendship trouble came upon Mrs. Randolph in the autumn of 1904. During the interval of two years Mrs. Randolph had attracted widespread attention by the beauty of her gowns and park equippages, and, when news of her trouble with "Mr. S." came, it was predicted in socal circles that the rupture would have disastrous consequences in a large circle.

In the questioning of jurors yesterday, hints were given by the lawtween "Mr. S" and "Mrs. R." were tween "Mr. S." and "Mrs. R." weer likely to figure in the case.

Justice Jaycox recognized the general interest in the trial when he said just after the case was called:

"I am given to understand that the case just called is one which is likely to excite great public interest. I wish to state in the beginning that this court will not do anything to aid in making the salacious details attractive, and must forbid the making of any sketches or photographs in the court room.."

Everyone was duly impressed and no sketches were begun for several minutes.

Trustee's Sale.

Whereas, Peter Meyer, by his certain deed of trust, dated the 23d day of January, 1906, and recorded in the recorder's office of Pettis county, Missouri, in Trust Record 177, page 158, conveyed to the undersigned, James T. Montgomery, as trustee, the following described real estate, situate in the county of Pettis, and state of Missouri, to-wit

The south half of the southeast quarter of section seventeen (17); also all that part of the north half of the northeast quarter of section twenty (20), lying north of the public road, containing about forty-eight acres. Also all that part of the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section twenty-one (21), except that part previously sold and conveyed by the grantor, all in township forty-five (45), of range twenty (20), which said conveyance was made in trust to secure his five certain promisory notes, in said deed fully described.

And, whereas, said note provides that if default be made in the payment of the interest on said notes when the same is due and payable, or if default be made in the payment of taxes on said land, as the same becomes due and payable, then all of said notes shall immediately become due and payable. And, whereas, default has been made in the payment of the interest on said notes, and the same is now due and unpaid, and default has been made in the payment of the taxes, and the same are now due and unpaid; and according to the tenor and effect of said deed of trust, all of said notes are now due and payable.

Now, therefore, I, the said James T. Montgomery, trustee as aforesaid, at the request of the legal holders of said notes, shall proceed to sell the above described real estate at public auction for cash in hand to the highest bidder, at the west front door of the court house in the city of Sedalia, Pettis County, Missouri.

On Saturday, the 6th day of July, 1907.

for the purpose of paying the notes herein secured, and the cost and expense of executing this trust.

PLAYERS ARE PLEASED

WHEN RAIN FALLS AND SCHEDULED BALL GAME CANNOT BE PULLED OFF.

THIS APPLIES TO BIG LEAGUES

Yarns By Hugh Fullerton of Games That Have Been Stopped By Rains—Sometimes Dampness is Artificial.

"No game, rain," is one of the bright spots in the life of a ball player. The deluge that brings sorrow to the fans and dismay to the management always is greeted with delight by the weary players—and with especial delight toward the end of a hard season, when there is but small chance to play off the postponement, writes Hugh Fullerton, prince of baseball story tellers.

It is on these rainy days that things are doing around the hotels. The first drop of rain is the signal for the poker games to start, and with a dozen players, all vulgarly healthy, cooped up in one hotel, and usually on one floor, there are certain to be things started.

When there is a game on the presence of a ball club in a big hotel is scarcely noticed by the other guests, but on rainy days the hotel management usually has its own troubles.

There was a game stopped by rain at Cament, a little town below San Bernardino, Cal., last winter, which the umpire never called. In spite of the fact, however, it was stopped all right.

The ball grounds were at the edge of town in a beautiful valley in the midst of vegetable gardens, strawberry patches, and a short distance up toward the foothills the orange groves began, and down below, perhaps 200 yards from the ball orchard, there was a river bed with a drop or two of water in it. Most of the bed of that river was as dry as a bone.

The team of Pomona was playing at Cament that Sunday afternoon, and the glorious sunshine of California was, for the first time in days, flooding the field. Perhaps two hundred rival rooters were present.

In the sixth inning, with Cament two runs behind, a cloud shot from one of the mountains and a little rain fell. Pomona wanted the game stopped, and Cament protested. The umpire decided to continue.

In the next inning a little more rain fell, and the argument was renewed. The players and umpire and most of the spectators were grouped in the field wrangling and arguing, when suddenly the center field fence started toward them, the center fielder ran, and an instant later a wall of water four feet high broke across the field. The umpire didn't wait to call the game. He saw that a cloudburst up in the mountains had swelled the torrent, and he fled. Three of the players and perhaps a dozen spectators came near being washed away before they reached the higher ground.

Mill creek, working in conjunction with the Ohio river at Cincinnati, once interrupted a game and caused one of the oddest decisions ever given. The Poplar Stars were playing down in the Liberty street bottoms against Jake Stenzel's team. This was before Jake broke into fast company. George Yeager, Barry McCormick, Big Mick Ryan, Eddie Ash, and a lot of others who afterward shone in basaball, were playing on the Poplar Star team—and on that afternoon in April they were enjoying the rare pleasure of playing in an inclosed ground—which had been the property of some gun club.

The Ohio was on the rampage, and for the third time in the spring had reached flood stage. On that afternoon, late in the game, one of Stenzel's hit a long fly to left. The fielder went after it—and just as he did so the left field fence started toward him, carried on the crest of a huge wave of backwater which had piled up in Mill creek. The fence acme so rapidly that the ball went over it—and the left fielder turned and fled. In two minutes the entire space was inundated and the players and spectators were squatting on a railway embankment and trying to fish out floating bats.

Then the argument arose. The Poplar Stars, who were a run ahead, claimed the game, while the Stenzel crowd argued that, as the ball went over the fece, it was a home run, and that they won.

The umpire finally decided that he had called the game on account of wet grounds and that the score reverted to a tie.

The meanest wet ground game ever played, however, was pulled off at Mowry, N. M., a few years ago. There was a great rivalry between the team at Mowry and the team representing Nutts, on the other side of the mountains. The Mowry team was composed almost entirely of cowpunchers, led by Dan Taylor, the cowboy wonder, who once pitched against the Chicago National league team, and with his spurs on at that. The Nutts team was composed mainly of miners and railway men, so, naturally, there was great rivalry, and much coin was wagered on the outcome. Nutts is on the east side of the Mimbres range and Mowry on the west. Nutts is on the edge of the mountains, on sloping ground, and Mowry, while it stands right at the base of Cook's peak, is situated in flat ground, irrigated, and alongside the Mimbres river. The ball ground is near where the old Santa Fe trail crosses the Mimbres.

There the teams met in daily combat, and beef steers were wagered against copper claims and lead mines with reckless disregard of values.

At the beginning of the eighth inning Mowry was leading by a score of 15 to 9, and Danny Taylor was pitching in great shape, using his famous lariat curve. Suddenly, however, in the first of the eighth Taylor hurt his arm and retired in favor of Bill Stratton, and Nutts began to crack the ball (no pun intended.) A regular team of Nutts players swarmed around the bases, and they had scored sixteen runs, with only one out, when "Blondy" Kiskadden decided to take a hand.

"Blondy" wasn't in the game, but he had some $250 in cash and about forty head of steers wagered, and he didn't propose to loses to a bunch of miners and sheep herders from the Rio Grande side of the hills. He bestrode his horse and spurred up the valley.

About five minutes later, with a score 31 to 15, and two out, there came a rush of water that flooded the irrigation ditches, poured over the field and broke up the game.

"Blondy" had opened the gates and let half the water out of the resorvoir, but he had saved Mowry, so there was no kick from the ranchers who had suffered from the flood and loss of the precious water.

Comiskey ran against a wet grounds postponement at San Francisco once, where two grasping native sons, seeking to beast easterners, were hoist by their own petard. They had guaranteed Comiskey's team $1,400 for the afternoon's game, and had put up certified checks to bind their agreement. Rain fell intermittently all morning, but not enough to stop play, yet the native sons would not give up. The idea of a small crowd and the payment of $1,400 after taking in perhaps $250 jarred them.

Comiskey happened to stray into the park about noon and found the native sons busily working with fire hose, flooding the grounds, and making them too wet for play. He called witnesses, watched the entire performance and waited. That afternoon the sun shone brightly, thousands flocked to the park to see the champions, but the game was called on account of wet grounds.

Oneof the men who attempted to turn the trick and beat the easterners out of their money later became a great prize fight manager, and later broke into the theatrical business. He has prospered and grown rich, but it is not recorded that he has ever turned the hose on to any grounds since then to save the guarantee money.

But, in spite of that, he has had imitators even in big leagues, who have helped out nature in making the grounds too wet to play, especially in the days when the home clubs guaranteed certain sums to visitors.

MARRIED LAST NIGHT

Knot Was Tied By Rev. Fuller—Bridal Couple Depart Today.

(Wednesday's Daily.)

Julius H. Vogelsmeier, of Sweet Springs, and Miss Anna Peterson, of Lamonte, were married at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. G. W. Stratton, 309 East Third street, at 8:30 o'clock last night, Rev. J. B. Fuller officiating.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. Elmo Warner and a few outside friends attended.

After the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stratton, and the bridal couple left today for Sweet Springs to reside.

The out of-town guests were: Miss Ethel Higginbotham, a special friend of the bride, and Mis Nelle Stienstuehler, a niece of the groom.

MORE HOMES REQUIRED

TO CARE FOR THE DELEGATES TO CONVENTION OF CHRISTIAN CHURCHES.

EXPECT FULLY 1,500 STRANGERS

The First Session Will Be Held Friday Night, and the Final Session the Following Wednesday Night, the 19th.

The state convention of Christian churches will meet here Friday evening and remain in session until the following Wednesday night. It is expected that not fewer than 1,500 visitors will be here, and it devolves upon the people of Sedalia to entertain them for lodging and breakfast.

The Rev. J M. Rudy, pastor of the First Christian church, stated to the Democrat-Sentinel today that more delegates were already booked than homes had been provided for, and he asks the good people of the city to "get busy" and see that all are cared for. The program for the entire six days' session follows:

Woman's Board of Missions.

Friday evening, June 14.—Song service, Sedalia choir. Devotional, Miss Emma D. Bouldin. Welcome, Mrs. Lela Kidd. Address, "China and the Chinese," Dr. Elliott I. Osgood, China.

THE CONFEDERATE HOME

Directors Met in St. Louis Tuesday at the Laclede.

St. Louis, Mo., June 12.—Following a meeting of the stockholders of the Confederate Home of Missouri, the annual session of the board of directors was held yesterday at the Laclede hotel.

The newly elected board and officers are: President, Elijah Gates, St. Joseph; vice president, Harvey W. Salmon, Clinton; secretary, Henry A. Newman, Huntsville; treasurer, A. E. Asbury, Higginsville. Directors—W. H. Kennon, Mexico; A. H. P. Catron, West Plains; James Bannerman, St. Louis; Frank Gaiennie, St. Louis; J. W. Halliburton, Carthage; A. E. Allen, New Madrid; T. W. Castle, Independence, and E. G. Williams, Waynesville. Mr. Williams was elected to succeed Dr. D. H. Shields, of Hannibal, who died last month.

The report of the treasurer showed a fund of $1,443.23 from the Young, Fields and Higgins estates. This fund is drawn upon for the support of the Missouri Confederate home at Higginsville, as occasion demands.

All members of the board of directors were present except Mr. Halliburton and Mr. Catron.

THEY TOLD THE WIFE

That Husband Had Lain for Weeks in Potter's Field.

Norwalk, Ohio, June 12.—When Mrs. Edward Ott, of this city, paid a visit to Charity hospital, at Cleveland, yesterday, she was startled by the information that her husband had died April 12, and was buried in the Potter's field in one of the city cemeteries, three days later.

Ott, who had been a helpless paralytic for six years, was taken to the Cleveland institution four years ago, members of the family visiting him at intervals. Mrs. Ott visited her husband April 5 and left him in his usual condition.

Mrs. Ott demanded an explanation of the matter, but hospital authorities were unable to tell why she had not been informed of her husband's death. The body will be disinterred and brought to this city.

Ott, who was 67 years old, is survived by a wife and three children.

Be "Hot Time in the Old Town."

At last night's meeting of Ritchie tent of the Maccabees John McLaughlin, jr., the enterprising and hustling young furniture dealer, presented his application for membership in the tent. The application was received and favorably balloted upon, and a large attendance can be expected when the time for the initiation of the prospective candidate arrives.

YOUNG HUSBAND

Who Shot Himself to Please His Aged Wife is in An Asylum.

Bellefontaine, Ohio, June 12.—Telford Knepper, aged 23 years, has been sent to the Toledo insane asylum at his own request.

Recently he shot himself with a target rifle, telling his wife, aged 70 years, that he wanted to make her happy.

Sunday, it is charged, he ran amuck with a gun, terrorizing the people of Middleburg.

Brought here his wife secured an attorney for him, but Knepper refuses his offices.

RESIGNED HIS POSITION

Mr. A. W. Vance to Leave Sedalia for Missoula, Montana.

(Wednesday's Daily.)

A. W. Vance, spiraling engineer for the Missouri Pacific, in charge of the work between Sedalia and Pleasant Hill, has resigned his position, and left last night for St. Louis.

Mr. Vance has accepted like employment with the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road at Missoula, Mont., and, in company with his wife and children, will leave for there tomorrow, carrying with him the best wishes of the many friends he has made in Sedalia.

Mr. Vance is succeeded here by Harry C. Reeder, who has been employed on the work for some time past and is thoroughly familiar with it.

Mr. Reeder is a son of Hon. William A Reeder, who for the past twelve years has represented the Sixth Kansas district in congress, and whose home is at Logan, Kansas, where he is engaged in the banking business.

MARRIED AT SMITHTON

The Rev. A. Sterling and Miss Fannie Rudy at Noon Today.

(Wednesday's Daily.)

A very pretty wedding occurred at the residence of Mrs. V. T. Chilton, at Smithton, at noon today, the parties being Miss Fannie Rudy, a niece of Mrs. Chilton, and Rev. A. Sterling, a very popular minister of Warrensburg, Mo., the Rev. McDaniels, of Kansas City, being the officiating minister. The house was beautifully decorated in field daisies, tea roses and ferns. After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served, which was enjoyed by all present. The couple left this afternoon for Sedalia and go from here on a trip to the Southland.

A FORMER LAMONTE GIRL

Has Been Accorded High Honor at Pueblo, Colorado.

A daughter of Lon Luther, former editor of the Lamonte Record, was written of as follows in the Pueblo, Colo., Chieftain of June 8:

Out of recognition for her efficiency and untiring work in the Centennial High school, the graduating exercises of which were held at the Grand opera house Thursday night, Miss Mabel Luther, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Luther, of 802 West Thirteenth street, and one of the class of '07, was yesterday morning presented by the school board with a special diploma, and also $20 in gold.

Miss Lena Lorraine Turner, who assisted largely in making the class play the grand success it proved to be, was presented by the members of the senior class with a very fine and costly cut glass vase. Mr. Schuppel, of the commercial department in the school, whose work in getting a high grade piano for the school was greatly appreciated, was presented on behalf of the seniors with a beautiful gold handled silk umbrella.

TWO FARMS ARE SOLD

Both Near Houstonia and Brought Good Prices.

John Hammock yesterday purchased the farm of S. Morgenstern, consisting of 120 acres, the consideration being $65 per acre, says the Houstonian. Mr. Hammock will not take possession until next March. Mr. Morgenstern is undecided as to where he will locate, but we hope he will see fit to purchase another farm in this neighborhood.

The Meyer & Paulsmeyer farm of 370 acres, which is rented by A. A. Silvey, was purchased last week by J. R. Thomas, of Marshall. We understand that Mr. Silvey will continue to reside on the place.

'TIS NOT A COUNTY ROAD

If It Was the Disgraceful Mud Holes Would Not Exist.

"West Fourth street isn't a county road, is it?" asked Harry Boullt, the clothing salesman, of the Democrat-Sentinel this morning.

"No," answered the news man. "But why do you ask?"

"Well, a friend told me this morning that it was a county road; but I assured him that it wasn't, or otherwise the disgraceful mud holes in the paving in front of the First M. E. church would be abolished by filling them up with a few wagon loads of macadam!"

"BOOZE" WAS SOLD

Woman Is Sent to Jail for Selling Liquor in Kansas.

Coffeyville, Kas., June 11.—Judge Flannelly yesterday sentenced Mrs. M. J. Wade, of this city, to six months in the county jail, and to pay a fine of $250 for violation of the liquor laws.

Mrs. Wade has been in the county jail many times on the same charge. She was associated with Louis Cohn at Wagoner in his long fight against the federal authorities on the charge of "introducing" liquor into the Indian territory.

Al Jesse was sentenced to thirty-five years for killing William Rodecker in this city.

INSANITY CAUSED SUICIDE

Priceton Man Charged With Forgery Cut His Throat.

Princeton, Mo., June 11.—Isaac Cunningham, a unmarried man about 30 years old, cut his throat with a razor in the barn at the home of his mother, Mrs. Margaret Cunningham, two miles southeast of Mercer, yesterday. He died soon after being found.

Cunningham is believed to have been demented. He had returned to this county from the Indian Territory about six weeks ago, soon after his release from a jail where he was awaiting trial on a charge of forgery. Cunningham's temporary release from the territory jail was obtained on the ground that he was insane. He attacked his fellow prisoners and tried to set the jail on fire.

TONS OF FISH FELL

From the Sky at Independence During Heavy Rainstorm.

At 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon a large quantity of small silver-colored fish, closely resembling mountain trout, fell from the sky at Independence during a heavy shower.

The fall of the fisn was heaviest over the public square, in the center of the town. So many of the fish fell that the catch basins built to carry the water to the sewers were clogged and the water backed up and covered the sidewalks.

Nearly everybody in Independence had fish for dinner Sunday evening. It is said that the total quantity was about two tons. Some of the fish were alive and swam around briskly, but the greater quantity of them had been killed by the fall.

GIRL ON FIRE IN A CAR

Stepping on a Match in a Trolley Causes Severe Burns.

Philadelphia, June 11.—Fire starting probably from treading on a match suddenly enveloped Miss Margaret Chance, 18 years old, while she was riding in a crowded Fox Chase trolley car yesterday afternoon, and, though the other passengers did all in their power to check the flames the girl's clothing was burned off.

She is at the Pennsylvania hospital, making a brave fight for life, but it is feared that she inhaled the flames and cannot recover.

The Invitations Issued.

Invitations reading as follows have been issued:

"Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Dumond Stanley request the honour of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Ada, to Mr. Harold Holmes Inge, on the evening of Saturday, the twenty-second of June, 1907, at half after eight o'clock, Calvary Episcopal church, Sedalia, Missouri."

The Rt. Rev. E. R. Atwill, bishop of Kansas City, will perform the ceremony.

SEDALIA, MISSOURI, FRIDAY JUNE 14, 1907—PART TWO

VOL. 1. NO. 23 $1 PER YEAR

TO FIGHT 2-CENT FARES

EIGHTEEN OF LARGEST RAILROADS JOIN IN SUIT TO RESTRAIN STATE.

FEDERAL COURTS ARE INVOKED

By Skillful Maneuvering a Knotty Legal Obstacle Is Believed to Have Been Overcome by the Railways.

Kansas City, June 11.—In the United States district court here today the legal representative of eighteen railroads doing business in Missouri asked that the state be enjoined from putting into effect the two-cent passenger rate law passed by the last legislature and which was to go into effect Friday, June 21.

Kansas City, Mo., June 11.— The railroads of Missouri will fight the 2-cent fare law in the federal courts. The announcement was made yesterday in Jefferson City by James L. Minnis, attorney for the Wabash. The railroads may sell a few tickets Friday morning at 2 cents a mile, but they do not expect to do so Friday afternoon or any other time in the next few years.

Frank Hagerman, of Kansas City, representing the eighteen railroads that are joined in the suit, confirmed the statement of Mr. Minnis yesterday and said that he had served notice on Herbert S. Hadley, attorney general, that at 10 o'clock Friday morning he will ask the federal court to enjoin the enforcement of the 2-cent fare law. A copy of the application for an injunction was sent to the attorney general yesterday. It is not known with certainty which of three federal judges will hear the application. It will be either Judge John F. Philips, of the district of western Missouri, Judge John C. Pollock, of Kansas, or Judge Smith McPherson, of the southern district of Iowa, who often sits on cases in Kansas City.

The Missouri statute was worded to provide for fines as penalties for failure to obed the 2-cent fare law. An injunction to restrain the enforcement of a criminal statute is some thing the courts do not grant, and it took a great deal of maneuvering on the part of the lawyers to figure out a way to get into the federal court with the case. All the railroads had their own attorneys, as well as Mr. Hagerman, who represents them all, working on the case and a decision to make the fight was reached several days ago in Chicago. Mr. Hagerman prepared the papers in the case in Kansas City within the last few days.

In many of the states the railroads have been unable to get into court with an injunction, and the way it is done in Missouri is novel, to say the least. There was already pending in the federal court a suit to enjoin the enforcement by the railroad commissioners and the attorney general of the freight rates provided by the law of 1905. Because the live stock rate was confiscatory the last legislature passed a new act changing the live stock rate of 1905 to a rate about 33 per cent higher, but considerably lower than the rates now charged by the railroads.

The railroads invented a fiction that the state had raised the rate on live stock to get away from a defective law and then reduced the passenger rate to make up for the difference to the people. Accordingly, they file an amended petition, asking for an injunction to restrain the enforcement of the new freight rates and at the same time the new passenger rate law. Each company sets forth the amount it earned last year from passenger traffic and the amount it would have earned carrying the same passengers at 2 cents a mile.

Following are the roads that are joined in the suit:

St. Louis and San Francisco Railway company.

Kansas City, Clinton and Springfield Railway company.

Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway company.

St. Louis, Kansas City and Colorado Railway company.

Missouri Pacific Railway company.

St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern Railway company.

Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railway company.

Quincy, Omaha and Kansas City Railway company.

Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company.

St. Louis Southwestern Railway company.

Kansas City Southern Railway company.

St. Louis and Hannibal Railway company.

Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway company.

Wabash Railway company.

St. Joseph and Grand Island Railway company.

Chicago Great Western Railway company.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company.

Chicago and Alton Railway company.

The relief asked for is a permanent injunction against the enforcement of the freight rate law, the passenger rate law and the new law governing demurrage charges. The court is asked to take up the whole question of what the railroads are earning and can earn and pass upon them all at once.

YOUNG GIRL IS SCALPED

ANGELINE TRECHOWSKA VICTIM OF ACCIDENT IN A FACTORY.

EMPLOYES IN HELPLESS TERROR

Tresses Caught as She Seeks Escape From Detection While Dressing Coiffure—The Girl Will Probably Die.

St. Louis, Mo., June 11.—One hundred and fifty girls screamed in terror when they saw Angeline Trechowska scalped yesterday in the factory of the Ferguson-McKinney Dry Goods company, No. 1006 Locust street The girl fell a victim to her habit of neatness and received injuries from which she will probably die. She is 17 years old and her home is at No. 8151 Florissant avenue.

The other girl employes of the factory were horror-stricken when they saw the tresses and the scalp of their companion torn from her head by the shafting. Two of them fainted, while a negro porter ran fifty feet, turned off the power and saved the girl from being mangled to death.

Angeline Trechowska is pretty, and like other girls in the factory liked to leave the place with her hair neatly arranged and her dress neat.

Quitting time is at 5:30 p. m. The girls have a habit of primping up before 5:30 that they may be ready to leave at the instant work is over. They have been forbidden to do this.

Angeline had loosened her hair, allowing it to fall over her shoulders. She was combing it when one of the two foreladies entered the workroom. The girl jumped under a table to avoid detection. While there her hair caught in the belting running in a narrow groove on pulleys in an opening in the floor. Her screams resounded through the entire building.

The other girls were in too great terror to move. Manager Lowenbaum was not in the room. The only person there with presence of mind was Charlie Lee, a negro, 27 years old. He shut off the power.

Lowenbaum had Miss Trechowska removed to St. John's hospital. She had not recovered from the anaesthetic at 10 p. m.

JILTED MAN'S CRUEL ACT

Woman Who Refused Him Has Both Eyes Burned Out.

St. Louis, Mo., June 11.—Albert Niesinger, a plumber, was arrested yesterday on the charge of having thrown vitriol into the face of Mrs. Lena Wunach, who had refused to marry him.

Both her eyes were burned out and her face disfigured. Fred Lautenschliegen, who was walking with her, was also burned on the face.

Niessiger denies having thrown the acid.

Went to the Country Sunday.

Coby Ploch, Jim Eakin Sam Fell, Earl Cundiff, Jesse Neff, Tom Davis and Dick Barrett drove out eight miles southwest Sunday morning and passed a delightful day communing with nature.

FOURTH DAY'S GRILLING

ORCHARD TOOK THE STAND TODAY CLEARER AND STRONGER THAN BEFORE.

ADAMS MAY REPEAT CONFESSION

State Thinks That Alleged Accomplice Will Conclude to Admit His Connection With Various Murders Testified To.

Boise, Idaho, June 11.—Harry Orchard went on the stand this morning for the fourth day of his cross-examination. He grows apparently stronger, clearer and more unshakeable every minute.

There is some belief today that Steve Adams, Orchard's alleged partner in many crimes, may yet repeat the confession which he made and which he afterwards repudiated.

The defense made an effort to show that Orchard had never seen nor heard of the Japanese servant who cleaned the porch at the Bradley flats the morning Bradley was blown up until Detective McParland told him about him.

Orchard denied this and swore that he saw the Japanese and had to wait for him to leave the porch before he placed the bomb.

Orchard, with marked calmness, drew a diagram for the defense, showing just where he placed the bomb and where Bradley would be upon opening the door. He stood up before the jury while making the drawing. Orchard then told of returning to Denver, after receiving more money from Pettibone.

CARL RAIFFEISEN DEAD

Burial Will Be Made in Sedalia on Thursday.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Carl Raiffeisen, father of J. C and Charles H. Raiffeisen, of this city, died of general debility and stomach trouble at his home, two miles southwest of Syracuse, at 12:10 o'clock today, aged almost 87 years.

He had been ill for some time, but bedfast only three weeks. Since his attack, he grew constantly worse, and for the last few days the relatives have been hourly expecting the final summons.

Besides the sons referred to, deceased leaves a wife and the following children: William, southwest of Sedalia; Mrs. Peter Siegel, near Syracuse; Misses Amelia, Marie and Sophia Raiffeisen, residing at home.

Mr. Raiffeisen was born in Germany and came to America fifty-eight years ago. He settled in Morgan county, where he had resided continuously since. He had been engaged in farming all his life, and for a number of years also practiced the profession of a doctor. Owing to advanced age he had not done any work for some time.

He was a member of the German Evangelical church, but belonged to no lodge or society. The remains will be brought here and funeral services will be held Thursday, interment to be made in the city cemetery. Further particulars will be announced tomorrow.

WILL WED THIS EVENING

Mr. E. W. Flournoy and Miss Kathryn Kahrs, By Rev. Hunt.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

E. W. Flournoy, a railway mail clerk on the Missouri Pacific river route division, and Miss Kathryn Kahrs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kahrs, will be married quietly, in the presence of only immediate relatives, at the home of the bride's parents, 515 East Third street, by Rev. E. J Hunt at 6 o'clock this evening.

There will be no bridesmaid nor best man, likewise no wedding march. A sumptuous supper will be served afterwards. The bridal couple will reside at Lexington.

The following persons arrived here from Wellington, Mo., today to attend the wedding: Robert Flournoy, wife and daughter, and Mr. ad Mrs. E. D. Ham.

Former Sedalian Dead.

J. M. Reed died at his home in Colorado Springs June 7th, aged 61 years. He leaves a widow and seven children, all grown. He was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America and leaves $2,000 insurance. He was an old resident of Sedalia and Pettis county, and was a member of the Southern M. E. church

A Record for "Deadheads."

The record for hauling "deadheads" on the street car line was made on a round trip to and from the Missouri Pacific shops Friday, when one of the conductors carried thirty-three "deadhead" passengers and fourteen paid passengers.

Wed by Judge Hoffman.

J. P. Maynor and Miss Sarah E. Johnson, both of Warrensburg, were married by Circuit Judge Louis Hoffman at the court house Saturday.

MEAT NOW MUCH HIGHER

CHICAGO TEAMSTER PUT EMBARRASSING QUESTION TO PACKERS.

WANT A HIGHER SCALE OF WAGES

In the Event Their Request Is Refused There Will Be a General Strike Inaugurated on Saturday Next.

Chicago, June 11.—If a mutton chop is worth six cents more a pound than two years ago, is a teamster worth four cents an hour more in wages?

Substantially this proposition was put up to the Chicago packers by the Packing House Drivers' union, the members of which have voted to go on strike next Saturday unless better wages are granted.

George F. Golden, business agent of the union, called up Stephen Conway, superintendent for Armour & Co., over the telephone.

"Mr. Conway, what is the retail price of mutton chops today " inquired Golden.

"They are selling at 22 cents a pound in the markets," was the answer.

"That is about six cents a pound higher than two years ago. Steaks and roasts also are higher, are they not " asked Golden.

"Yes, they are higher," said the superintendent.

"Then I have to inform you, Mr. Conway," said Golden, "that your teamsters voted that, inasmuch as living expenses have increased practically 25 per cent, we cannot work any longer unless we receive an advance in wages of 15 per cent."

Golden told about the same story to representatives of the other packing houses. They thanked him, without indicating what will be done in the matter. It is believed that they will attempt a compromise.

WILL WED ON JUNE 19

Mr. S. E. Savage, of Sedalia and Miss Estella C. Shelton.

S. E. Savage, secretary and treasurer of the Sedalia Woolen Mills and bookkeeper for the company, and Miss Estella C. Shelton, of St. Louis, will be married at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. W. P. Berry, at Eldon, Mo., at 10 o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, June 19.

Rev. J. S. Bickel, of that place, will perform the marriage ceremony, after which the couple will come to Sedalia to make their home at 218 East Broadway.

Mr. Savage is a genial and well-liked young man, with a legion of friends throughout the city, all of whom will take pleasure in joining the Democrat-Sentinel in extending hearty congratulations, wishing for the popular couple a long and happy married life.

Nomination Still in Doubt.

Oklahoma City, O. T., June 11.—C. N. Haskell today claimed his nomination as the democratic candidate for governor of the new state by a majority of 13,000, while Lee Cruce's managers say it will require an official count to determine the result. Both sides charge fraud.

CLINGS TO HER INFANT

THOUGH SHE IS HELD IN CUSTODY AND IS SAID TO BE INSANE.

NDIANA OFFICIALS ARE PUZZLED

The Case of Mrs. Ida Winters, Who for Two Years Has Been Inmate of the Home for Friendless Women.

Richmond, Ind., June 10.—The attention of the Wayne circuit court has been called to the very remarkable case of Mrs. Ida Winters, who for a period of two years has been a prisoner in the Home for Friendless Women, also used as a jail for women by Wayne county.

Ostensibly Mrs. Winters was jailed for assault and battery upon her mother, but, as a matter of fact, she was taken in custody and held on this charge while waiting admission to the Eastern Indiana hospital for the insane.

A month after her incarceration began Mrs. Winters became the mother of a girl baby, and during the two years she has been confined in the home she has taken care of the babe.

She refuses to permit the authorities to separate her from her child, threatening, it is alleged, to kill herself and babe if such an attempt is made.

She also recognizes the fact that she is being held without due process of law, though she does not care to gain her liberty.

The authorities are in a quandary as to what disposition to make of the woman. Legally she cannot be held nor placed in an insane hospital, yet she is thought to be a dangerous person to be at large.

Mrs. Winters' husband lives at East Germantown, this county.

SEDALIA AND GREEN RIDGE

Paragraphs Clipped From the Weekly Local News.

The following paragraphs are from the Green Ridge Local News of June 7th:

Mrs. J. F. Guenther, of Sedalia, was the guest of friends in this city on Wednesday of this week.

Col. Mike Doherty has as his guest this week his brother, Mr. E. F. Doherty, of McCook, Neb., who contemplates spending the summer in this section.

It is understood that at the regular meeting of the city council, last Monday night, steps were taken to put a new clamp on the "lid" in this city, which had become considerably loosened in places of late. The council will enforce the Sunday closing law, if it requires the "entire force" to do so.

N. J. Koyl, one of the oldest residents of this locality, this week closed a deal for the 55-acre farm in Washington township owned by Lon Proctor. In the deal, Mr. Proctor secures Mr. Koyl's residence property in this city, which he will rent for the present, as he will reside in Sedalia. Mr. Koyl and family will move to their new home in the near future.

PAY STATION ROBBED

That of the Queen City Telephone Co. at the Antlers.

The pay station of the Queen City Telephone company at the Antlers hotel was broken into by some unknown party some time Friday night and the contents, amounting to about $1, stolen.

This is the third time that the pay station has been robbed at the Antlers hotel, the first robbery occurring over a month ago, on Sunday.

The following Monday a patron of the hotel wanted to use the long distance telephone and called for a number. "Central" notified him to put the money for using the telephone in the pay station, which the patron was unable to find.

The clerk was called and he, too, was unable to find the station, and it was then that the robbery was discovered.

COUNT BONI WINS CASE

THAT IS, HE IS GRANTED AN APPEAL IN THE FAMOUS DIVORCE SUIT.

COURT SETS THE DECREE ASIDE

Creditors Rejoice Over Decision—Believed Sensational Testimony Will Be Given at the Next Hearing.

Paris, June 11.—Count Boni de Castellane has won his appeal from the verdict which gave the countess, formerly Anna Gould, of New York, her divorce.

The court of appeals has granted the application of the count's lawyers, setting aside the verdict and ordering a new trial before a higher court.

This means that the sensational case must be brought out again in the courts with, perhaps, new and more startling details added.

It may be that the actual names of the women referred to by the countess in her original suit will be given to the public when the second trial of the famous suit begins.

The action of the court gives a new hope to Boni and to his creditors also. Boni feels that he may yet reestablish himself as the husband of the enormously wealthy American countess, while his creditors feel that they may yet again have a chance to squander some of the Gould millions.

The divorce granted last November was one of the most sensational ever heard in Paris. The women referred to in the bill of complaint filed by the countess were mercifully shielded under the names om "Mme. M.," or "Mme. B."

There were charges of cruelty and the count's unparalleled extravagances were brought out.

IN HONOR OF VISITORS

Mrs. Sue T. Rosse and Miss Patty Tracey Entertained.

Mrs. Sue T. Rosse, 201 South Prospect street, and her sister, Miss Patty Tracey, were hostesses yesterday afternoon to a company of twenty-five ladies, complimentary to their sister, Mrs. A. C. Bowen, of Louisville, Ky., and her daughter, Miss Olive.

The rooms were prettily decorated, and the presentation of what was called "The Musical Romance," with Genevieve as the heroine and Robert Adair as the hero, proved delightfully entertaining.

Mrs. J. S. Rogers played the airs, and in the contest Mrs. Sallie Potter Sneed was awarded the prize, a Japanese memory bell.

Dainty refreshments of strawberry sherbert, angel food and mints were served by Rembaugh.

VETOES TWO CENT BILL

Governor Hughes of New York Not in Favor of Low Passenger Rate.

Albany, N. Y., June 11.—Governor Hughes today vetoed the bill instituting a flat passenger rate of two cents a mile on all railroads in the state.

The bill passed both houses of the legislature by good majorities.

THEY WANT REVOLUTION

WINE GROWERS OF FRANCE WILLING TO OVERTHROW THE GOVERNMENT.

SOLDIERS REFUSE TO INTERFERE

Arrest of Youth With Incendiary Banner is Resented and Police Forced to Give Him His Liberty to Restore Quiet.

Montpellier, France, June 11.—After announcement of the resignation of the municipal council here last evening, in accordance with wine growers' program, the arrest of a youth for carrying a banner the inscription, "March on to Paris long live the revolution," led to serious disorders. The Hussars were called out and charged the people repeatedly. Several persons were injured and calm was only restored by the release of the prisoner. Marcelon Albert, leader of the movement, has issued a circular declaring for the employment of peaceful means only, and adding, "No disorders or violence. The hour has not yet come; we still hope that it will never come."

Nabonne, France, June 11.—The one hundredth regiment of infantry here last night refused to stop the cheering of passing trains loaded with wine growers and going to Montpellier. The soldiers informed their colonel that they absolutely refused to march against their friends and relations.

The Cause of the Troubie.

The revolt of the wine growing population in the south of France is causing considerable apprehension in government circles.

By the terms of the resolutions, which half a million people at Montpellier yesterday swore with uplifted hands to execute, the departmental, city, town and communal officials should resign today and the inhabitants refuse to pay taxes unless parliament affords relief. Several mayors, headed by M. Farroul, mayor of Narbonne, resigned last night, and if this example is followed a condition bordering on anarchy will result and the civil government will cease to reign from the Spanish frontier to the Rhone, comprising the departments of Hercalt, Aude, Naute-Garonne and Pyrennees-Orientales. The situation is all the more grave because it constitutes a unanimous protestation of the population and being unaccompanied by disorder, furnishes the government with no pretext to resort to force.

Marcellon Albert, the leader of the movement, was until a couple of months ago an obscure wine grower of Argeliers. Now he is acclaimed as a "redeemer" and seems to hold the south of France in the hollow of his hand. His orders are implicitly and unquestionably obeyed, and by the powers of organization with which he is endowed he has proved himself to be a born leader of men. It is realized among the hot blooded people of of the south that such a man might fire a formidable revolution.

The government's bill providing for the suppression of the manufacture of fraudulent wine comes up in the chamber of deputies this afternonn, but beyond passing this bill the government can do little, although the experts who have investigated the conditions have found that the real depression was caused by overproduction for which even the rigorous suppression of fraud will be no remedy. The only solution they report is the abandonment of much of the wine acreage in favor of regular farm crops and truck gardening.

The outlook has caused much agitation in the press. The Aurore says it thinks the government should treat the impoverished wine growers as if they had been overtaken by a catastrophe and distribute money for their relief.

"It would cost several millions," the paper adds, "but if it would restore tranquility, why hesitate."

The Echo de Paris says the government undoubtedly has the right to arrest M. Albert, the leader of the movement, but it dreads the consequence of such action. The paper further asserts that the government "can not yield to the anti-republican, illegal and anti-patriotic challenges."

STRONG Again

is what Mrs. Lucy Stovall, of Tilton, Ga., said after taking Kodol for Dyspepsia. Hundreds of other weak women are being restored to perfect health by this remedy. YOU may be well if you will take it.

Indigestion causes nearly all the sickness that women have. It deprives the system of nourishment and the delicate organs peculiar to women suffer—weaken, and become diseased.

Kodol
For Dyspepsia

Enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all of the wholesome food that may be eaten. It nourishes the body, and rebuilds the weak organs, restoring health and strength. Kodol relieves indigestion, constipation, dyspepsia, sour risings, belching, heartburn and all stomach disorders.

Digests What You Eat

CHAPTER ON FASHIONS

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE WOMAN WHO TRAVELS THAT ARE TIMELY.

ARTICLES FOR A TRAVELING BAG

It Is None Too Soon to Get Ready for the Season's Outing, and You May Be Benefited by Reading What Follows.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

New York, Jnue 8.—With women most of the comforts or discomforts of travel depend upon the clothes worn. These must not be of wash goods that easily crinkle or of things that are hard to do up, yet some of these easily crinkled wash goods are necessary for a long trip. Besides the clothes, toilet conveniences must be carried by the traveler, as those furnished by the railroads and the steamboats are necessarily limited. You will find comfort only in such creams, lotions, powders and soaps as you take with you.

For the all-round useful costume a tailored suit of light weight cloth or mohair is indispensable. No applied trimming should be used on this costume which is much smarter made in plain mannish style, with a semi-fitting coat and pleated or circular gored skirt, short enough to clear the ground in comfortable walking length. As to the hat, a wide-brimmed sailor of black straw is very smart, but if the wearer is not sufficiently youthful, or for any reason a plain sailor is not beoming, any simple trimmed straw hat or toque can be substituted. Hats trimmed with flowers are not desirable, as they too soon look crushed and dusty, but wings and quills and ribbons are most appropriate on the most desirable hats, designed for such wear.

Have two petticoats of pongee or grass linon (the latter is much the cheapest), and wear tan shoes and stockings and dog skin gloves. With this suit, as described above, have one pongee waist, two of Butcher's linen, one of white wash silk, one of dark cotton cheviot. Do not get those of mull or lawn, which do not keep clean longer than a day, even under the most favorable circumstances. Have one dark crush leather belt, two of linen that will wash. Linen collars that will wash, plain and starched, are the neatest neckwear, and can be made fresh in a few hours in any stopping place, but if too uncomfortable wear a ribbon stock or a dark ribbon, the color of the suit, with white turnovers.

Do not wear an elaborate traveling gown or a much trimmed night dress and a conspicuous sack. A very useful dressing sack is made of black crepe, with a colored border in kimona stlye. People most accustomed to traveling do not wear their handsomest clothes, but dress simply, keeping their best for other places than dirty coaches. For a night dress, cuting flannel or henley serge is good, or a figured cotton voile will give one less the feeling of undress.

The traveling bag includes brush and comb, tooth, nail and clothes brush, wash cloth and sponge, soap cases, tooth powders, plenty of fresh handkerchiefs, a fresh linen collar or ribbon stock, a night dress and dressing sack. It is usual to include in the list of toilet articles a box of talcum powder, a small hand mirror, a bottle of toilet water and a pair of slippers. It is restful to remove one's walking boots during a long day and put on instead light soled slippers or ties. It is also perfectly permissible to sit in a coach without a hat, and in which case, to protect the hair from dust, a large, long veil of the automobile type can be used; this also protects from drafts.

At night when you are traveling or sight-seeing, bathe the face with olive oil soap and warm water, wipe the face dry and massage with pure cold cream. In the morning put a teaspoonful of borax in a tub of cold water and take a bath. Be sure the borax is in the traveling bag, as you will find it very useful many times; a little in water to bathe the eyes with is restful after a day's journey, and will certainly brighten them amazingly, almost as well as belladona, and is not so injurious to the sight. Borax is also good for washing out handkerchiefs, turnovers, and various other little things while traveling.

A small pillow, tucked in the side of the suit case will be found to make the journey an easier thing, and bid sleep where otherwise it could never be wooed.

It is none too soon to get ready for the season's outing. To prevent the discomfort and ruining of a gown, the wise traveler always takes a coat, if she doesn't have a gown made of the rain proof goods. Experience has proved that two sorts of gowns are needed for real comfort on a tour of weeks or more. One of these costumes should be of stylish, light weight cloth, made so as to be dressy or plain, according to the waist worn with it. To accompany this one needs a rain coat that will serve for a wrap for cool days and evenings, or a protection in wet weather. Such a coat can be properly carried over the arm. The other suit may be a costume made of rain proof cloth, skrt and jacket, the jacket to be carried on the arm, if the weather is too warm to make wearing it comfortable. This suit is not, can not be, dressy. It can be plainly elegant, quite tailormade in finish, but it is not appropriate, as the other may be, for evening. It is, however, the more comfortable for use, as when wearing it one is never uneasy as to what the weather may be. The coat is, of course, convenient for use with ny kind of gown; the costume is nice because it leaves one free from luggage or worry about spoiling one's dress.

The modern dust coat is a particularly chic affair. Whether it is intended for motoring or simply for traveling use, it succeeds in fulfilling its humble purpose without being prosaic or unbecoming. For summer wear, the linen coat, in some of its forms, is the cheapest of its class.

These coats are, of course, severely tailored, as are all the coats under consideration. The full-flowing, fanciful coat, though picturesque, is of little use for motoring or traveling. Some linen weaves of the coarse sort, firm texture and natural color, have collar, cuffs and buttons of brown velvet, instead of black silk, and this combination of linen color and brown has found much favor in coats of more expensive grades also. Gay tartan plaid silk is introduced upon other linen models, and more impracticable but very pretty are the cuffs and collars of soft light blue, relieving effectively the string color lines.

But after all, it is the heavy rain proof tweeds and homespuns, coverts, etc., that furnish practical materials for motor coats, warmer than those of silk or light weight rubber, and for any woman who expects to do much automobiling such a garment is desirable, if not absolutely essential, even during the midsummer months.

The heavy wool coats are perforce built upon severe tailored lines, and, like a majority of the rubber coats, owe their success to the cleverness with which they are cut, stitched and strapped. The best of the models are quiet in coloring, the soft mixed having the preference. One of the most effective coats of this class which we have seen is a mixed gray tweed of medium tone, beautifully cut and tailored. The only touch of color is the hair line of light blue and the silk of the same shade which trims the deep standing collar.

Sweaters of all kinds are worn under automobile coats, when more warmth is required, but the straight falling sweater, that reaches but a short distance below the waist and down slightly at the neck, is considered the most suitable under the motor coat.

For walking skirts for the woman who takes long jaunts on foot, the skirts are very near the ankles, and there are a few bolder that quite display the boot tops, and after all, this is the best mode for such trips. The English walking skirt is particularly noticeable in this respect. There are dresses made for the London season that are shortened so full that they swing clear of the ankles, frankly displaying a pair of very handsome boot tops. And this brings one to the question of how the fashionable boots are built, both for the sports and for the street.

SECRET OF KRUGER GOLD

A WOMAN KNOWS WHERE $4,000,000 IS BURIED IN THE TRANSVAAL.

SHE HAD A "DUPLICATE CHART"

If Husband is Alive, He, Too, Knows the Hiding Place; if Dead, Woman Alone is Possessor of the Secret.

The woman who can keep a secret has been found, writes the New York correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. The secret is one of millions—$4,000,000, to be precise. It concerns the present whereabouts of Krueger's gold.

She is Mme. Marie von Veltheim, wife—or maybe the widow—of Ludwig von Veltheim, the man who buried crafty old Oom Paul's millions when he fled from the Transvaal just before Lord Roberts occupied Pretoria.

Mme. von Veltheim had a duplicate chart on which was marked the spots where the gold was buried. It was not sunk at sea in the wreck of the Zululand, as some would have it. Nor was it taken to Europe, as others insisted. Neither was it let down beneath the waters of the ocean in iron chests.

It was carefully buried in the dead of night in the mountains of the Transvaal, just before Krueger escaped to Europe It was not put in one spot—Krueger didn't want to leave all his eggs in one basket. The gold was carefully divided into four parts. In all, there was about $5,000,000, so each part was from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000. Of this, one part has been found by John Kemp.

It was twenty years ago that Marie Yearsley met Ludwig von Veltheim in Australia. They were married in Perth, West Australia. It wasn't long before the bride found her handsome husband was a good deal of a rolling stone. First they tried Australia, but Von Veltheim couldn't make a go of business there, and they journeyed to the United States of Columbia, where Von Veltheim went into the banana trade.

"When this South American venture failed," said Mme. von Veltheim, "Mr. von Veltheim joined the Boer army.

"As everybody knows, fight as they might the little handful of Boers couldn't hold out against the overwhelming numbers of the British. Lord Roberts took Pretoria, and Krueger and his friends had to flee.

"Before he went he intrusted the little capital of the republic—about $5,000,000—to my husband and three other men. One of them was Jan Potgieter, another Peter Smuts, and the third I did not know. These four men took the money, put it into chests, and loaded the chests into carts. These they took up into the mountains at dead of night and buried carefully, far from the places where men might go.

"He made a chart of all the land about where the gold was hidden. Of this he took a copy, sealed both, and awaited developments. In 1901 Lord Roberts deported Von Veltheim. He was too pro-Boer to suit the British and they wanted him out of the Transvaal forever. So he went to London. When my husband arrived in London he found no one to turn to but myself. The hand of every one else was turned against him—his reputation as a pro-Boer was too well known.

"'I am going back to the Cape again,' he said to me one day. Before he went he told me the story of the buried gold. He gave me an exact copy of the chart which he made, and told me, too, not to expect to hear anything from him after he left Alexandria, because he expected to sink his identity.

"Now I am going to stay here till I get some definite clew which will lead to proof that my husband is alive or dead. If he is alive the secret belongs to us two. If he is dead it is mine alone."

Will Hold Memorial Services.

At Friday night's meeting of Crescent tent No. 4, K. O. T. M., arrangements were made to hold the annual memorial services of the order jointly with the Lady Maccabees at the hall over the Democrat-Sentinel office next Sunday. J. H. Laukenau, Chas. Koock and L. V. Ware were appointed a committee to arrange for the same, while Mrs. E. J. Nicholson, Mrs. G. W. Bradfield, Mrs. Joseph Herrick and Mrs. Ida Hackenyos will look after the Lady Maccabees' part of the services.

WIFE AND DAUGHTER WEPT

When Cashier Smith Was Sent to the Penitentiary.

Columbus, Ohio, June 8.—Harry Smith, for more than a dozen years teller in the Hocking Valley National bank, of Lancaster, who was found short for more than $12,000 in his accounts, pleaded guilty yesterday and was sentenced to seven years in the Ohio penitentiary. He was taken immediately to prison by Deputy United States Marshal William Sanderson, and arrived in time to partake of dinner.

Mrs. Smith and daughter were in the court room when the husband and father was sentenced. They held up bravely until United States District Attorney Sherman McPherson scored the ex-teller for his crime, when both wept bitterly.

"Well, I guess I will have to make the best of it," was the philosophical remark of Smith after his sentence. He was accompanied to the doors of the prison by his wife and daughter, where he bade them farewell. The actions of the prisoner at the penitentiary carried out his remark and lacked any interest whatever.

Smith for years was one of the leading spirits in Lancaster, and he can blame his predicament to extravagance and fast living. According to one of the officials of the bank, he was not a gambler, further than that he would chance a bet occasionally on some innocent sport. He will be given a clerical position.

Keeps the Eggs Fresh.

Theodore Bergfelder, employed at Guenther's as a salesman, who has been experimenting three or four years with a liquid egg preservative, feels confident that success has crowned his efforts.

Sunday he broke a couple of eggs in the Democrat-Sentinel office that have been preserved since March, 1906, and to all appearances they were as fresh as the day they were laid.

BOY DYING OF FEAR

Strenuously Objected to Having a Doctor Called.

Hamilton, Ohio, June 8.—Coroner Schumacher has started an investigation into the death of Waldo Kennel, a 15-year-old lad of Trenton, Butler county.

The boy's father is a strong believer in Christian Science, and Miss Nellie Victoria Freshman, the leader of the cult in this city, was called into the case.

The usual methods were employed in an effort to restore the boy's health, and as young Kennel was also a believer he refused to have a doctor called and his father acceded to his wishes.

Miss Freshman said: "When I saw that the boy's condition was growing serious I requested the father to call in the services of a physician, but the boy strenuously objected, as did the father, and I could do no more.

In all serious cases believers of Science may call in the aid of a physician I do not fear an investigation."

Coroner Schumacher said that he would hold an inquest and would then determine if there should be a prosecution. Twenty witnesses have been subpoenaed.

The post-mortem examination held showed that the child died of appendicitis.

FISHERS RETURN HOME

Crowd of Sedalians Have Good Luck and Much Fun.

The party of fishermen and funmakers, who left here last week for a week's fishing trip on the Osage river near Warsaw, returned home Saturday, delighted with the time spent and ever so complimentary in their remarks of the good time had.

They caught about 250 pounds of fish and Thursday entertained a crowd of people from Warsaw at the fishing camp. Street parades, each member of the party being attired in comical uniform, were given at Warsaw, Lincoln and Cole Camp, and every person in that part of the county extended the glad hand to the men.

Those in the party were: J. G. Bond, president; C. A. Kelling, secretary; H. A. Blatterman, chief fisher, and Bert Baley, assistant fisher; Bob Hyatt (the Swede), valet; Will Geigel, hunter; Virgil Bryant, the dog; Fred Butcher, stahler; Charles Crump, the chef; Maggie, the pup, mascot.

DECORATED THE GRAVES

OF DECEASED MEMBERS OF FRATERNAL ORDERS OF THE QUEEN CITY.

A GREAT OUTPOURING OF PEOPLE

Woodmen of World and Auxiliaries, M. W. of A. and Auxiliaries and I. O. O. F. and Auxiliary Pay Tribute to Dead.

An unusually large crowd, estimated at between two and three thousand people, attended the memorial services of the three fraternal orders at the city cemetery Sunday afternoon, written of in detail in the Sunday morning Democrat-Sentinel.

The Modern Woodmen of America, two camps, and Violet camp of the Royal Neighbors, with the Second Regiment band, met at the hall over the Sedalia Drug company store at 1 o'clock and were the first to hold their services at the cemetery, the line of march being as printed Sunday.

Rev. James Parsons delivered the address for the Modern Woodmen, after which the graves of the deceased members of the order were decorated.

The Woodmen of the World, with the members of the Woodmen circle, the latter in carriages, preceded by the Sedalia Military band, were the next to follow, their line of march being the same as the Modern Woodmen.

A very large crowd attended the latter organization's services, but the address of the day had to be postponed on account of the rain. The graves were decorated, however.

Prairie Queen and Neapolis I. O. O. F. lodges, the Encampment and Loyal Rebekahs were the last to hold their services, a large crowd attending.

The members met at the Odd Fellows' hall at 1:30 o'clock and marched to the cemetery by the same route as the other organizations.

At the cemetery Rev. G. H. Ayers delivered the memorial address, after which a committee of the Odd Fellows proceeded to the Jewish cemetery, where the graves of two deceased Odd Fellows were also decorated.

The Blinds Were Not Drawn.

A member of the Ministers' alliance informed the Democrat-Sentinel today that not all of the saloons of the city had their blinds drawn and screens removed Sunday, so that a passerby could obtain an unobstructed view of the entire inside of the premises. The resort keeper who persists in refusing to comply with the suggestion of the county court and the city ordinance recently passed, in this matter, will surely find that he has a rocky road to travel.

HE ADMITS THE MURDER

PROFESSOR WHO WAS CHARGED [illegible]

WIFE'S SUICIDE BRINGS IT OUT

Was Teacher in the George Washington University Law School and Shot His Rich Mother in-Law for Gain.

Karlsruhe, Germany, June 8. — Prof. Karl Hau, of the George Washington University Law school of Washington, who has been under arrest here for some time, charged with the murder of his mother-in-law, Frau Moliter, at Baden-Baden, last November, confessed today that he was guilty of the crime. Hau's confession followed the news that his wife had committed suicide by drowning herself in a lake in Switzerland, whither she had gone after the double affliction of the death of her mother and the arrest of her husband had befallen her.

Hau was told of her death today and this culminating tragedy apparently was too much for him, as he confessed he was guilty of his wife's mother's death, a crime he had hitherto strenuously denied.

Hau's case has attracted much attention in Germany, England and the United States. Although German by birth, he had lived for some time in Washington, where he was well known, both socially and in the legal profession. Money troubles prompted Hau's crime.

His Career in Washington.

Washington, June 8.—Prof. Hau's arrest, the suicide of his wife and his subsequent confession have created a profound impression in Washington, where both he and Mrs. Hau were well known and held in high esteem.

The Haus had made their home in this city for seven years. After their marriage at Frankfort in 1900 they came directly to Washington in order that Mr. Hau might pursue his legal studies in an American law school. He became a student of the George Washington University law school and was graduated with distinguished honors, So brilliant, in fact was his work that he was made a member of the faculty of the law school.

R. Ralph Burton, counsel for Hau, who had charge of his affairs in this city since he and Mrs. Hau left for Europe a year ago, was inexpressibly shocked, both at the information of Mrs. Hau's distressing death and Hau's confession. He had believed that Hau was innocent of the crime. He said today that Mrs. Hau undoubtedly had been afflicted with melancholia because of the charges brought against her husband. She, too, he said, had believed in her husband's innocence, and had done all in her power to relieve him from the mental anguish incident to his arrest.

The Murder of Frau Moliter.

According to the German papers Hau was insane on the subject of money. Frau Moliter was rich and her son-in-law had planned to secure it by putting her out of the way. His plot was clearly arranged. Hau married the daughter six years ago. One child, a girl, now 3 years old, was born.

Last summer Hau gave up his office in Washington and went to Baden-Baden. His wife preceded him and when he arrived was stopping with her mother, who owned a villa near the town. Hau arrived ostensibly from Constantinople, where he said he had been on legal business, and was welcomed by his mother-in-law. They seemed to be on excellent terms. Then Hau left saying that he had decided to return to America. His wife and child went to London. Hau was believed to have taken a steamer at Bremen for the United States three days later.

Frau Moliter was called on the telephone in the evening and some one told her over the wire that there was an important package for her at the post office. The servant who answered the call believed she recognized Hau's voice.

Frau Moliter took one of her young daughters and started out. While passing through a narrow street near the post office a man shot her in the back, killing her. The murderer fled, but a glimpse was got of him by the daughter of the dead woman, who said that the man who fired the shot wore a long beard. This now is believed to have been false. Hau bought it of a hair dresser in Frankfort who remembered him. It was established that Hau was at Frankfort the morning of the murder and that he left there shortly before noon on a train bound for Baden. Late that evening he was again seen at Frankfort, where he sent a telegram to his wife at the Hotel Cecil in London. The telegram read:

"Arrive tomorrow night. Don't betray address."

This was the first intimation the police had of the identity of the murderer, and the London police were notified at once. The result was that when Hau reached London he was arrested and held for extradition.

Hill's Business College Notes.

The standing of this growing institution among school men, who are the best qualified of any class of people to judge the merits of an educational institution, is clearly shown by some of the recent enrollments.

Mr. Mohler Shirkey, of Norborne, Mo., who has been in attendance at the Missouri State university during the past year, entered the first of the week. This is the fourth student enrolled this spring who has had more or less university training. The selection of Hill's Business college by these students, from the many schools soliciting their patronage is due entirely to its excellent reputation at the university for thorough and practical work.

Mr. Carl C. Crews, a recent graduate of the Fulton High school, debated for some time the question of which business college to attend He finally referred the matter to his superintendent and principal of the High school, with the result that he has just registered with us for the combination course.

Mr. Edgar C. Nelson has just returned to complete his work in the shorthand department. Mr. Nelson came to us from his senior year at William Jewel college, and is preparing for court reporting as a profession He has been absent for the last few months on account of being selected as assistant to the chief clerk of the house of representatives of the recent regular and special sessions of the state legislature.

The standing of a business college is also determined by the class of positions which its students are holding, and by the character of the employment department. Since the calls for help which is made upon its last list of students accepting positions has appeared in this paper, twenty-six good positions have been filled with our students. We shall be pleased to have anyone interested call and look over the records of our employment department.

We have recently placed one of our students as chief clerk to the trainmaster at Jefferson City at $70 per month. Mr. Gerd Tonges recently left for Wellington, Kas., to accept a $55 position with the Santa Fe railroad. The head of one of the departments of the Missouri State university called us up on the long distance telephone last week and asked us to nominate a suitable young man to act as his private secretary at $70 per month.

In Sedalia, we have recently placed two of our students with the Sedalia Light and Traction company, one with the Missouri Credit and Collection Agency, and another with E. A. Strong, architect.

The standard of our teaching force is being gradually raised, the quality of instruction constantly improved, and never has the college graduated students more competent to fill first class positions.

As the boys and girls from the country are needed at home during the summer months, the attendance is smaller than in the fall and winter. We are therefore prepared to give a great deal of individual instruction to students who enter now. This is an opportunity for ambitious young men and women to complete their course in less time than the average.

If interested, write us for our new 76-page catalogue, or call at the college and investigate personally.

ONLY A PLAIN DRESS

To Wear at Commencement Caused a Suicide.

Woodward, Iowa, June 8.—Because she feared her classmates would appear at the graduation exercises of the high school here in better clothes than her widowed mother could afford to give her, Emma Jacobson committed suicide with rat poison.

She was one of the prettiest girls in her class and was popular with all her fellow students. She was only 15 years of age, one of the youngest pupils to finish a High school course.

After taking the poison, which she purchased from the family grocer, Miss Jacobson informed her mother and explained the reason for ending her life.

LIVE STOCK

DIPPING SHEEP OR HOGS.

Good Tank Which Can Be Made of Cement or Galvanized Iron.

A good tank for dipping sheep, goats or hogs may be made of cement or galvanized iron. A good size is 10 or 12 feet long at top, eight feet at bottom,

An Iron Tank.

(It is possible to make a good tank of cement, using these dimensions. Before trying such work write to secretary of agriculture, Washington, D. C., for Bulletin No. 235, "Cement on the Farm.") with a height of at least five feet, width two feet. The tank shown in cut corresponds to these measurements, and D. H. Stovall, Oregon, writes has been in use for several years, giving good satisfaction.

THE BALKING HORSE.

Diverting His Attention May Succeed in Getting Him Started Again.

A horseman who seems to know what he is writing about, says if the attention of a balking horse can be diverted half of the trouble is over; yet how few men will refrain from beating him at such times. When a horse in inclined to be balky he should be put in charge of the best horseman about the place and not driven by every one on the farm. If he is inclined to stop say "Whoa!" sharply. Then he will not think he is stopping of his own free will. Get down and walk about him, lifting up one foot and then another, tapping them with a stone may answer in diverting his attention. Pretend to fix his collar; perhaps his mane is under it and needs attention. There are many ways of diverting a horse's attention to make him forget his bad habits, like pouring a little water in his ears or rubbing sand in his mouth. Then if you speak to the quiet horse alongside of him they may start off together or they may not. In any event keep cool. One scheme may work this time and may never work on the same horse again. The only alternative is to be ingenious, patient, long-suffering and kind until you find some other fellow that wants to take a hand at driving a balky horse.

HOGS AND SHEEP.

Don't think that a pig eats merely to live.

A wet, slippery pen often makes a lame hog.

It is well to shift the hog pasture every year or two.

In crossing, use males from the smaller of the two breeds.

Have you any animals on the farm that return such large profits for the money invested as sheep?

Keep the best pasture for the lambs. Clover is good, so is a fresh blue grass pasture, but an old one is productive of worms and possibly death.

Never buy a poor sheep; you have no time to fool with it. Let your neighbors experiment and throw away their feed if they wish Buy the best quality you can, but try to have the whole flock uniform.

It is best to have salt boxes in the pasture where the sheep can find them at will, but if not done, make a practice of salting them every Sunday morning. You will get acquainted with your sheep then, and careful shepherds know it pays to promote friendship between flock and flock-master.

Parent hogs overfed with corn always produce offspring weak in bone and muscle. It requires bran, middlings and ground oats to make healthy pigs, and the sooner the farmer learns this the larger will be his profits.

The Kind of Ram You Want.

In selecting the head of the flock strive to encourage the development of stamina. Males possessing full chest development, well sprung ribs, head well set upon the shoulder, and broad forehead with a deep, open nostril giving plenty of capacity for breathing, are the most important qualities in the ram. The flockmaster wants lambs that show evidence right from the start they are going to make a live of it, and, when sold, replenish the pocketbook. Such lambs are profitable, and if more flocks possessed this quality, far more sheep would be maintained upon American farms today.

Piles in Swine.

For piles in swine give sulphur in swill, one to two tablespoons a day per head until better, then every few days until all right. Keep the hogs dry as possible. We had much trouble a few years ago, caused by feeding too rich, heavy bran slop without salt. Hogs should have salt and sulphur every week in the year.

Castrating Pigs.

All castration necessary should be done when the pigs are six weeks old, and while they are still with the sow. It might be well to add that all males from common litters should be castrated, as no reliance can be placed on the offspring of such boars, even though they were sired by a pure-bred.

SEEKS A NEW EXPOSURE

TO GET PARTICULARS OF HUSBAND'S RECENT DINNER TO ACTRESSES.

HANDSOME GIFTS FOR A DOZEN

Jeweled Stick Pins, Garter Buckles, and Money Filled Purses Were Favors Bestowed by Mr. Howard Gould.

In support of her charges that her husband was stingy with her while he lavished money and presents on other women, Mrs. Howard Gould, the former actress, is endeavoring to secure the names of twelve young women who were recently entertained by her millionaire husband, according to a story that has reached her attorney, Clarence Shearn, at a cost which an ordinary man would consider a comfortable fortune, says a New York dispatch.

The twelve are all said to be actresses, some enjoying places of prominence. The dinner was given at one of the most expensive and exclusive restaurants in New York. The management had carte blanche for the table decorations, and the menu and wines, and a firm of jewelers of national reputation had an order for unique and costly souvenirs.

Each woman guest found an article of jeweled stick pins, garter buckles and gold purses, not empty, were among the host's gifts.

Mr. Shearn will make another effort to have the postal authorities take up Mrs. Gould's charge that her mail has been tampered with. This he is expected to do this week.

Another transaction in letters came to light yesterday. Mr. Shearn received a package of five letters which were addressed to Mrs. Gould in October, 1904. This packet, it was said, was found hidden in the upholstering of a chair in Castle Gould on Monday by one of the servants. All were addressed to "Mrs. Howard Could, 824 Fifth avenue."

A pencil line was drawn through the street number, and written also in pencil beneath the first address on each was "195 Broadway, room 300." This is the business address of Howard Gould.

How the letters came to be in the lining of the chair is a mystery to Mrs. Gould, and Mr. Gould says that he cannot account for it. In October, 1904, the month in which the five letters were written, Mr. Gould and his wife were at Saratoga. They had given up their Fifth avenue house.

The discovery of the letters was made known at once to Mr. Gould, and he instructed the caretaker, Maurice Malloy, to deliver the letters to Mrs. Gould's attorney. This was done yesterday.

They have not yet been opened, as Mrs. Gould was not in town yesterday. The envelopes bear no sign of ever having been opened and resealed.

Legal experts in the employ of Mrs. Gould have been busy for several weeks trying to learn just how much Mr. Gould is worth. Their labors are about completed. A statement showing the properties owned by Mr. Gould and a partial list of securities, stock and personal property will accompany Mrs. Shearn's motion for alimony.

The valuation of Mr. Gould's wealth as approimated by his wife and her legal staff is $20,000,000. Their estimate of his annual income is $1,000,000. Their claim for alimony will be one-fourth of that.

A NAIL IN HER HAND

Girl Hung in Midair Until Screams Brought Assistance.

Terre Haute, Ind., June 10.— Miss Mary Carr, aged 17, daughter of Michael Carr, a farmer near Midland, was climbing down a ladder from the hayloft when the foot of the ladder slipped and she was thrown against the wall.

A sharp nail penetrated her hand and she was suspended in space. She screamed for help and her father rushed to her assistance.

Her hand was lacerated by the nail and her body was bruised by falling against the wall, which, with the nervous shock, has made her condition precarious.

SLEPT ON MOTHER'S GRAVE

Lonely Boy Made Nightly Visits to the Worshiped Spot.

Chicago, June 10—Charlie Hopkins, aged 11 years, wanted to be near his dead mother, so every night he went to the cemetery and slept on her grave. Today he is at Harrison street police station, following his removal from the cemetery by a policeman. There is no charge against the boy.

Charlie's mother died last February. Since then a stepmother has come to his home. The stepmother was good to him, but she was not his mother. That is why the boy preferred his mother's grave as a sleeping place to a warm bed.

The discovery that the boy was using a mound in Park Ridge cemetery for his couch was made by F. H. Sears, who notified the police. Detective Sergeant Sacklin went to the cemetery and found the little fellow, who had crept under shelter from the rain.

Although wet to the skin, the boy wept when he was taken away. He is being kept at the Harrison street police station until arrangements can be made to keep him within doors at night.

FAILED TO GET DIPLOMA

And It Is Feared Despondent Student Ended Life.

Louisville, Ky., June 8.—Despondent because he failed to pass his examinations, J. W. Ramsey, aged 36, and a fourth-year student at the University of Louisville, medical department, has disappeared, and it is feared that he may have committed suicide.

To support his wife while studying he worked as a soda fountain clerk. Three weeks ago a son was born to them, and the worry of his wife's illness and dwindling finances so preyed upon his mind that he failed in his examinations.

The faculty has reconsidered his case, and it has been decided to give him a chance to take the examinations of Kentucky university within the next few days, and thereby secure his diploma. If he returns in time he will be allowed to take the tests.

HE GOT 100 DAYS IN JAIL

NOT FOR CRIME CHARGED, BUT FOR GROSS CONTEMPT OF COURT.

L. T. PARKS, ALLEGED TILL TAPPER

Prisoner Told Judge Gresham That He Was a Blankety-Blanked Liar, and Then It Was Punishment Was Meted Out.

"L. T. Parks. Mr Parks, stand up," read Judge Hugh Gresham in police court Saturday morning.

Parks arose.

"You're charged with stealing $2.50 from the money drawer at the Commercial hotel," continued the judge, as he looked at the defendant.

Before Judge Gresham had time to ask whether or not the defendant was guilty, Parks shouted, "You're a G—d d—n liar."

"Young man, I'll give you one hundred days," continued the judge. "Take the prisoner to jail," and Parks sat down.

The case of Parks was the only one in police court. He was arrested early one morning the past week by Officer Baley for tapping the till at the Commercial hotel. Owing to Prosecuting Attorney Dow being engaged in circuit court, the case was deferred until Saturday, when it was taken up.

Several minutes after sentence had been imposed Parks arose and said:

"Judge." No one paid any attention.

"Your Honor," repeated Parks. and Judge Gresham looked up.

"Your Honor, don't you think you could drop a few of those days;" I was mad when I cursed that way."

"Yes, and I'm mad, too," continued the judge; "I should have given you six months in jail."

Officer Jackkson took Parks to the county jail, where he will be kept to serve out his sentence.

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

S. S. S. is recognized everywhere not only as the best of all blood purifiers and the greatest of all tonics, but the one medicine that can be taken with absolute safety by everyone. Young or old, those in robust health, or those whose systems are delicate and run-down, may use it with the same good results, and equally without fear of any unpleasant or injurious after effects. Next in importance to removing the cause of any disease is the condition in which the system is left after a course of medical treatment. Medicines containing mercury, potash or other strong mineral ingredients often do permanent injury by eating out the delicate lining and tissues of the stomach, producing chronic Dyspepsia, unfavorably affecting the bowels, and so deranging the system otherwise, that even if the original disease had been removed from the system it is left in such a weakened and deranged condition that the health is permanently impaired. S. S. S. enjoys the distinction of being the only blood medicine on the market that does not contain a mineral ingredient of some kind. It is made entirely of the healing, cleansing extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks gathered directly from the forests and fields of nature, under our own supervision, and when they reach our laboratory contain all their original valuable tonic and blood purifying properties. We offer a reward of $1,000 for proof that S. S. S. contains a particle of mineral in any form. Being made entirely from these vegetable ingredients S. S. S. is absolutely harmless to the system, and while curing disease adds health and strength to every part of the body. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, and all other blood troubles by removing the cause and supplying the circulation with health-giving and strength-producing qualities.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

DEATH OF J. F. SEWELL

Passed Away at 3:30 O'Clock Friday Afternoon.

Joseph F. Sewell, for many years a well-known caterer of this city, died quite unexpectedly at his home, 400 West Sixth street, at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, of heart trouble, with which ailment he had suffered for several years.

Mr. Sewell was a native of Bonaparte, Ia., where he was born 48 years ago, and where two sisters are still living. Besides his sisters, deceased leaves a widow, formerly Miss Ella Ramey, of Hughesville, a son of five years and an adopted son of 23 years.

Mr. Sewell was a member of Wichita tribe of Red Men and also belonged to the Sedalia aerie of Eagles.

The funeral services will be held at the house at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, the Rev. S. S. Martin officiating, and the interment will be under the auspices of the Eagles and Red Men, the pallbearers being selected from the two orders, viz: E. M. Thatcher, Thoams Rowe, Edward Hough, C. H. Jackson, Henry Mercer, and Wallace Cohen.

A CASTLE IN SPAIN

Will Be Miss Blair's Home When She Weds the Nobleman.

Chicago, June 8.—Miss Italia Blair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey M. Blair, and one of the most noted beauties of Chicago's younger social circles, will become the bride of a Spanish nobleman and already has entered the Church of Rome so that no barrier may be placed in the way of the marriage.

The name of the nobleman is unknown, because it was so long and so involved in the letter announcing the happy event to Chicago relatives that no one here has yet been able to make it out.

The letter, written by Miss Blair's relatives, who are now in Paris, reached Mrs. Watson F. Blair at her home, on Rush street.

"Miss Blair's fiancee is the son of a Spanish nobleman," said Mrs. Watson Blair. "His father is a marquis and hereditary senator of Spain. The family possesses a palace in Madrid, where they make their home."

THE NEW DRAMSHOP LAW

IT IS WHAT THE RETAIL DEALERS IN LIQUOR CALL A "CORKER."

TO BE NO "MONKEYING" UNDER IT

Wholesale Whisky Dealers and Brewery Workers Make An Earnest Appeal to the Retail Men of the State.

Missouri's new dramshop law is a "corker." It goes into effect the first of August. In order that the retail trade may be made cognizant of the stringent provisions of the new measure the brewers and wholesale liquor dealers of the state are now sending out to the trade a circular letter that gives all the "agonizing details."

All classes of Missouri's citizenship, the man who "smiles" occasionally as well as the Anti-Saloon League worker, are interested in the new law, and no doubt the letter of the Wholesale Liquor Dealers' association and Brewers' association will be perused with interest by Democrat-Sentinel readers. Here it is, verbatim:

To the Trade: For your information we beg to call your attention to the changes of the dramshop laws which have been recently enacted by our legislature. We hereby submit them for your perusal, with the earnest request that you instruct those in your employ of the requirements of the present laws and have them strictly abide by them, as any infraction may cause a revocation of your license, which means that you will be forever barred from conducting a dramshop in the state of Missouri.

The last legislature of Missouri, regular and special sessions, made various changes in the dramshop law of the state, a statement of which is as follows:

A provision was added to the existing law providing that no person, firm or corporation, or agent, employe or representative of any person, firm or corporation engaged in the manufacture of malt of spirituous liquors, shall be licensed to keep a dramshop. This would, of course, prevent any brewer, or agent, employe or representative of a brewery, from obtaining a license to keep a dramshop; and every applicant is required, by another provision of this law, to state, in his application for a license, that he is not engaged in the manufacture or sale, as a wholesaler or jobber, of such malt or spirituous liquors, and is not the agent, representative or employe of such manufacturer or wholesaler.

There was also inserted a provision that liquors cannot be sold by the owner of a license at any place other than the place named in his license at any time.

The new law also prescribes the following additional requirements for the application: That the application be sworn to, in addition to being in writing, as required by the old law; that it describe the building in which the dramshop is to be kept, and all the entrances of said building; also, that no license shall be granted to keep a dramshop in a building occupied or used for an immoral or unlawful purpose, or in any room or portion of a building connected in any manner, or by means of communication, with any room or place used for an immoral or unlawful purpose.

Another section provides that the application shall state that the applicant is not disqualified under any law of this state to receive a license to keep a dramshop, and that he is not the agent or partner of any person so disqualified, and that he shall state therein that he is not the agent, employe or representative of any person engagegd in the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors (which, of course, includes brewers); and that he shall also state in his application who is or is to be the owner or owners of the dramshop.

A person is disqualified from keeping a dramshop, under the laws of this state, within the meaning of the dramshop law:

(1) When he is not a law-abiding, assessed, tax-paying citizen.

(2(When he has been convicted of violating the law requiring the closing of saloons on Sunday and on any general or primary election day, and between one and five o'clock a. m., or when he has been convicted of allowing musical instruments for the purpose of performing upon or having the same performed upon in his dramshop, or permitting any sparring, wrestling or other exhibitions or contest or cock-fighting in his dramshop; or setting up, using, keeping, or permitting to be kept or used in or about the premises by any other person, or run or to be run in connection with such dramshop in any manner or form whatever, any billiard table, pool table or other gaming table, bowling or ten-pin alley, cards, dice or any other device for gaming or playing any game of chance, within two years next before the filing of the application.

(3) When he is engaged in the manufacture or sale of malt or spirituous liquor, as wholesaler or jobber, or is the agent, employe or representative of such manufacturer, wholesaler or jobber.

(4) When he is the agent, or partner, or representative of anyone who is disqualified to obtain a license.

(5) When he has previously had a license revoked for furnishing liquor to a minor or an habitual drunkard, or been convicted of violating any of the provisions of the dramshop law, or can be shown to have sold, given away or otherwise disposed of intoxicating liquors to any minor, or have had in his employ, in his business as a dramshop keeper, any person whose license has been revoked.

(6) When he shall have carried on business, at any time, without a license or after the expiration of his license.

The new law also provides that any citizen remonstrating against the granting of a dramshop license, shall have a hearing, either orally, or by affidavit, or petition, or by counsel, and the court, board of police commissioners or excise commissioner hearing the same shall examine witnesses, under oath, who may be produced either by the remonstrator or the applicant to prove that the applicant is or is not qualified to keep a dramshop; that the dramshop is not legally located, or that collusion has or has not been used to obtain the license. It also requires that such application or affidavit, petition and remonstrance, offered against the granting of the license, shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county court, board of police commissioners or excise commissioner, where it shall be subject to public inspection for a period of not less than one year from the date when the license was granted or refused, and that the remonstrance shall be in writing and filed three days before the petition is to be heard, and shall set forth the objections to the granting of the license, and whether the same is to the petition or to the applicant.

The old law provides that every dramshop keeper, before the license is granted, shall give a bond, conditioned that he will, at all times, keep an orderly house, and that he will not sell, give away or otherwise dispose of, or suffer the same to be done about his premises, any liquor in any quantity to any minor; that he will not violate any of the provisions of the dramshop law, and will pay all fines, penalties and forfeitures assessed against him.

The new law provides that this bond shall be in a form approved by the attorney general and executed upon a blank printed and furnished by the secretary of state, who must, at all times, keep a sufficient supply on hand, printed at the expense of the state.

The new law provides for proceedings for the forfeiture of this bond at the suit of two or more reputable tax-paying citizens. The petition for forfeiture must state the breach and manner of breach of the bond, and when and where and by whom committed, and shall be accompanied by a certified copy of the bond, and the suit shall be tried as an ordinary civil suit. If the bond is forfeited the dramshop keeper and his bondsmen must pay the amount of the penalty assessed, the costs of the suit and a reasonable attorney's fee, not to exceed 10 per cent of the penalty assessed, to relator's attorney; if not forfeited costs of the suit are to be paid by the persons signing the petition.

The new law also provides that any person placing the name of any other person on a petition for a license as a dramshop keeper or a remonstrance against the granting of said license, without his consent, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not more than three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Another new provision is that after the granting of a license the court, board of police commissioners or excise commissioner shall delver to the applicant a printed notice showing the dates from and to which the dramshop license is granted, and that after that time it shall be unlawful for the keeper or any other person to sell, give away or furnish in any manner to any person, any intoxicating liquors in the place described in the license, or in any room or place therewith connected or adjacent thereto. Such notice must be signed by the officer granting the license and must be kept posted in a conspicuous place in the dramshop by the keeper. A failure to do so is made a misdemeanor.

Dramshop keepers, under the old law, are prohibited from selling to minors; the new law also makes it unlawful for any dramshop keeper to knowingly or negligently permit any minor to enter or remain in his dramshop. Any dramshop keeper violating this provision is subject to a fine of not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars.

It is also made unlawful for any person, not a licensed dramshop keeper, or by law authorized to sell liquor as a wholesaler, to order for, receive, store, keep or deliver, as agent or otherwise, of any other person, intoxicating liquors of any kind, providing that the same shall be deemed a misdemeanor, punishable by fine or imprisonment or both.

It is also made a misdemeanor to keep, store or deliver for or to another person any intoxicating liquor in any local option county.

It is also provided that no dramshop license shall be granted to any person to keep a dramshop within five miles of any state educational institution which now has enrolled fifteen hundred or more students. This provision applies only to the State University at Columbia.

There is also a provision making this dramshop law, as a whole, old and new, apply to and be enforced in every incorporated city and town in the state.

The new provisions above enumerated will all go into effect about the middle of August, 1907.

The new law raises the state license tax, so that every dramshop keeper will now have to pay a state tax of not less than one hundred nor more than two hundred dollars, instead of not less than fifty nor more than two hundred, as formerly.

The old law provides that no liquor shall be sold or given away on any general election day in this state. The new law provides that it shall be unlawful for any person, directly or indirectly, to furnish, deliver, give away, or otherwise dispose of, any intoxicating liquor, or to act as the agent or employe of another in furnishing, delivering or giving to any person any intoxicating liquor in any quantity on any general primary or election day between the hours of 5 a. m. and 7 p. m., and provides that a violation of these provisions shall be a misdemeanor punishable by fine; also that any dramshop keeper keeping open between the hours of 1 and 5 o'clock a. m. shall be subject to a fine and shall forfeit his license, and shall not be again allowed to obtain a license for two years next thereafter.

It is further provided that the provisions forbidding the sale of liquor between 5 a. m. and 7 p. m. on any general primary or election day, shall not apply to any physician prescribing liquor for medicinal purposes, or to any person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of manufacturing, selling or delivering intoxicating liquors in wholesale quantities in the ordinary course of trade.

It will be observed that the new enactment changes the law so as to include the agent of the dramshop keeper, and makes him personally liable for selling liquor on the days on which sale is forbidden, whereas, the old law only holds the dramshop keeper himself responsible and makes him liable if his agent sells any liquor on a general election day; the law still holds the dramshop keeper liable for illegal sales of his agent, but holds the agent liable also; and also, that it includes a primary election day as well as a general election day, and prohibits keeping the saloon open from 1 to 5 o'clock in the morning.

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To be sure, Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, but taken early—at the sneeze stage—they break, or head off these early colds. That's surely better. That's why they are called Preventics.

Preventics are little Candy Cold Cures. No Quinine, no physic, nothing sickening. Nice for the children—and thoroughly safe too. If you feel chilly, if you sneeze, if you ache all over, think of Preventics. Promptness may also save half your usual sickness. And don't forget your child, if there is feverishness, night or day. Herein probably lies Preventics' greatest efficiency. Sold in 5c boxes for the pocket, also in 25c boxes of 48 Preventics. Insist on your druggists giving you

SWEET SPRINGS NEWS

HAPPENINGS IN THE CITY OF HEALTH DURING THE WEEK JUST PASSED.

HAD MANY SOCIAL FUNCTIONS

A Number of Weddings, the Brides and Grooms Being of Unusual Prominence—Concert by Cornet Band.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Sweet Springs, June 8.—Darwin Harwood, of Kansas City, is here for a two weeks' vacation.

Miss Nellie May George, of Kansas City, is making an extended visit with Whit George and wife.

Mrs. A. W. Willis and daughter, of Higginsville, visited Mrs. S. C. Neale last week.

Walton Wright came in from Columbia Thursday for a short visit with relatives.

Misses M. L. Bulkley and Margaret Huston came down from Higginsville Wednesday for a short visit.

Mrs. A. E. Huston returned to Pueblo, Col., Wednesday afternoon, after a few days' visit in this city.

E. L. Spurgeon and wife were in Sedalia Wednesday for the day.

Mrs. Mary Shelton and daughter are in Wellington, Kan., for a week's visit with Mrs. Shelton's grandfather.

Miss Annie Andrew is in Marshall, attending the summer term of Missouri Valley college.

C. H. Bauer and family are home from a month's stay in California.

Mrs. Whit George went to Sedalia Monday for a short visit with Mrs. G. A. Widder.

Miss Ethel Curry came up from Sedalia Monday for a few days' visit with Miss Edna Miller.

C. E. Ferguson came in Tuesday from a ten days' visit at points in Oklahoma.

Mrs. Lyman Free and son, of Kansas City, are guests of Mrs. Free's grandfather, P. D. Van Dyke.

Miss Alice Wilkerson went to Kansas Citly Saturday for a brief visit.

J. F. Matthews returned from Kansas City Tuesday, accompanied by his niece, Faun Moore.

Miss Jessie Bellamy returned on Thursday afternoon from Fulton, where she attended Synodical college the past year.

A number of out-of-town guests were here this week for the Thornton-Grayson wedding, among them being John E. Grayson and wife, of El Paso, Texas; J. A. Walker, wife and two children, of Marshall; Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Martin, of St. Louis; Mrs. R. P. Cruzen and daughters, of Warrensburg, and Mrs. Steele, of Marshall.

George King and wife are in Columbia this week, where their son, Frank, graduates from the University.

Rev. Dr. McNutt, of Boston, Mass., delivered three excellent lectures at the Baptist church in this city during the past week. Sweet Springs people have had the pleasure of hearing this talented lecturer before, and the audiences which greeted him on these occasions are indicative of the high esteem in which he is held.

A quiet wedding was solemnized in the City Hotel parlors Wednesday evening, June 5, at 8 o'clock, at which time Miss Mary Chipman, of this city, and Mr. Gilbert H. Tevebaugh, of Houstonia, were united in marriaaage. Rev. S. G. Welborn, of the Methodist church, was the officiating minister. The bride has resided with her mother at the City Hotel since the death of her father, Mr. B. Y. Chipman, several years ago, and the friends she has made during her residence here wish for her much happiness. The groom is one of Pettis county's prosperous young farmers and is in every way worthy of the charming young bride he has won. The couple will make an extended eastern trip, including the Jamestown exposition.

Another wedding that will be of interest to Sweet Springs people, many of whom know the bride, will occur in Kansas City June 29th, when Miss Lillian Cromwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Cromwell, will be married to Mr. J. Leslie Adams, of Tennessee. Miss Cromwell is a niece of Mrs. E. L. Spurgeon and has been her guest on several different occasions. She is an accomplished musician, having been teacher of vocal music during the past year in the University of Tennessee, and in addition, possesses all those domestic and social qualities which make up the highest type of young womanhood. Mr. Adams is highly spoken of by those who know him, holds a splendid position under the government, and is a southern gentleman in every sense of the word.

Arrangements have been made whereby the Sweet Springs Cornet band will give weekly concerts on the streets, as they have done for several seasons past. The members of this popular organization have been in constant training during the winter and are better prepared than ever to entertain the people of Sweet Springs and the surrounding country.

Mrs. C. L. Jones was hostess to a few friends Tuesday at a course dinner, in honor of Mrs. C. K. Smith, of Milwaukee. Mrs. Jones has no superior in matters pertaining to culinary skill, and her friends thought she excelled herslf on this occasion. Those present, in addition to Mrs. Smith, were: Mrs. E. T. Orear and Misses Mary T. and Angie Berry.

A few friends of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Prigmore were delightfully entertained at their beautiful country home, south of this city, Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Prigmore are an ideal host and hostess, as all can testify who have enjoyed their hospitality. The dinner served on this occasion was complete in every detail, and a most enjoyable day was spent by each guest.

One of the most beautiful and impressive weddings ever solemnized in Sweet Springs was that of Miss Nelle Grayson to Mr. James M. Thornton, of Milwaukee, at the Presbyterian church Thursday evening, June 6, Rev. C. H. Morton, of St. Louis, officiating at the service which united this young couple for life. The church was a bower of beauty for the occasion, the decorations all being in the wedding colors, green and white. The music was in charge of Miss M. L. Bulkley, of Higginsville, assisted by Miss Myrtle Smith, of Dunksburg, who sang "All for You" just before the arrival of the briday party. The gentlemen in the party were Lake D. Tisdale, who accompanied the groom as best man, and Messrs. Frank Foster, of Higginsville, and Charles Owens, of this city, who were ushers.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John Grayson, of El Paso, Texas. The young ladies were: Miss Nell Smith, maid of honor; Misses Mabel Cruzen, of Warrensburg, Bernice Vance and Rachel Van Dyke, of Marshall, and Miss Katie Chastain, of Independence, bridesmaids.

Little Miss Frances Walker, of Marshall, carried the ring in a large rose.

The bride was beautiful in an exquisite gown of white silk crepe, made over taffeta. She wore a long tulle veil and carried a boquet of bride's roses.

The maid of honor wore a gown of green radium silk, while the bridesmaids were dressed in white organdies with fichus and sashes of apple-green silk.

After the ceremony the bridal party and a few intimate friends were entertained at the residence of the bride's parents, Misses Bess Nelson, Dorothy Simrall and Nan Goggin doing the honors, after which the bride and groom went to Sedalia, en route to their future home in Milwaukee. They have hosts of friends in this part of the state who wish for them all life's blessings in the home created by their union.

The members of the Whist club and a few invited guests met with Mr. and Mrs. R. Sam Hays on Friday evening at their home on Locust street. The interior of this home is perfect in all its appointments, the tables for the games being placed on the third floor, which is fitted up as a club room. Seven tables participted nd at the close of the game Miss Gem Binkley showed the highest score for the ladies, and Mr. Charles Owens for the gentlemen. Miss Bess Nelson received the lemon for scoring only twice. Dainty refreshments were served, and the pretty little daughter of the house, Miss Anna Mildred, served punch throughout the evening. The entertainment was enjoyable in every particular, and Mr. and Mrs. Hays scored another triumph as a capable host and hostess. Out-of-town guests present were: Miss Mabel Cruzen, of Warrensburg, and Messrs. Walton Wright, of Columbia, and Frank Foster, of Higginsville.

On Friday afternoon at 2:30 the Old Timers' baseball team met the regular team on the diamond north of the city, much to the latter's discomfiture, the score standing at the close 8 to 4 in favor of the "has beens." However, the winning team was enforced by outside help, and at the next meeting the younger boys hope to reverse the score.

MET A HORRIBLE DEATH

A Bleeding Leg Was Hurled Among the Workmen.

Bedford, Ind., June 10.— William Tapp, aged 35, married, met a horrible death here at the United States cement plant.

He was caught in a conveyer and grabbed a strong rod to hold himself from being ground into mince meat.

The machinery tore off his leg, which, with the foot, was carried to the floor above and thrown out among the other workmen, who, horrified at the ghastly sight, rushed below to find the unfortunate man still clinging to the rod. He died in great agony.

YOUNG NUN IS KIDNAPED

HER FATHER, A NON-CATHOLIC, OBJECTED TO HER TAKING THE VEIL.

THE GIRL IS ONLY 24 YEARS OLD

Parent is Superintendent of Terminal Railroad Yards at St. Paul—The Girl Was Finally Located.

Sister Dorrome, of St. Clement's Catholic school at Duluth, who was kidnaped in the presence of her pupils yesterday, was found today at the home of her father, Edward Deigle, in this city, says a Duluth, Minn., dispatch. Deigle and his son admit that they abducted her.

She is 24 years old, and her father is superintendent of the St. Paul Terminal railroad yards. Deigle is a non-Catholic and opposed to his daughter's taking the veil. She was to make her final vow binding hed for life on July 11.

The two men entered the school, their faces hidden by masks, seized her, placing a hand over her mouth, hastily carried her from the room to a cab standing about a block away, thrust her in, leaped on the box and whipped the horses to a gallop.

Her young pupils were spellbound with terror and stood mute for several seconds. But when the sister was being borne screaming to the street they regained their senses and raised an outcry which alarmed the entire neighborhood.

Hundreds of persons gathered and gave chase to the fleeing carriage.

The police were notified and every officer in the city was warned to look for the kidnapers. A special detail of six men was put on the case.

Child Scalded to Death.

Mrs. Mary Condon, of East Ninth street, received word Sunday that Mary Brill, a 2-year-old daughter of Mrs. Charles Brill, a sister of Mrs. Condon, who formerly resided at Lake Creek, but now lives at Norman, Okla., had been fatally scalded at her home last Thursday, and died the following day, burial being made Saturday.

NEW CHILD LABOR LAW

IT GOES INTO EFFECT IN MISSOURI ON SUNDAY, THE 16TH INSTANT.

MANY CHILDREN ARE PROTECTED

Measure Affects Messenger Boys, Bundle Boys, Factory Employes, Etc., Under the Age of 14 and 16 Years.

The people of the city of Sedalia are interested to a greater extent than many have any idea of in the child labor law passed by the Missouri general assembly at its last regular session, and which law goes into effect on the 16th inst.

In order that readers of the Democrat-Sentinel may know just what the law provides for in cities of 10,000 or more inhabitants, the bill practically in its entirety is herewith presented:

Section 1. No child under the age of fourteen years shall be employed, permitted or suffered to work at any gainful occupation in any theatre, concert hall, or in or about any place of amusement where intoxicating liquors are sold, or in any manufacturing establishment, laundry, bowling alley, freight elevator, factory or workshop within this state, nor in any store or mercantile establishment in which more than ten persons are employed; nor in the transmission or distribution of messages or merchandise.

Sec. 2. No person under the age of sixteen years shall be employed, permitted or suffered to work at any gainful occupation in any theatre, concert hall or place of amusement where intoxicating liquors are sold, or in any mercantile institution, store, office, hotel, laundry, manufacturing establishment, bowling alley, passenger or freight elevator, factory or workshop, or in any messenger or express service, or at any boot blacking establishment more than fifty-four hours in any one week, nor more than nine hours per day; or before the hour of seven o'clock in the morning or after the hour of seven o'clock in the evening. Every employer shall post in a conspicuous place in every room where such minors are employed a printed notice stating the hours required of them each day of the week, the hours of commencing and stopping work and the hours when the time or times allowed for meals begin(s) or end(s).

Sec. 3. It shall be the duty of every person, firm or corporation, agent or manager of any firm or corporation employing minors over fourteen and under sixteen years of age in any manufacturing or mercantile establishment, store, office, hotel, laundry, bowling alley, theatre, concert hall or place of amusement factory or workshop, or as messenger or driver therefor, within this state, to keep a register in said manufacturing or mercantile establishment, store, office, hotel, laundry, bowling alley, theatre, concert hall or place of amusement, factory or workshop in which said minors shall be employed or permitted or suffered to work, in which register shall be recorded the name, age and place of residence of every child employed or suffered or permitted to work therein, or as messenger or driver therefor, over the age of fourteen and under the age of sixteen years; and it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, or agent or manager of any firm or corporation to hire or employ, or to permit or suffer to work in any manufacturing or mercantile establishment, store, office, hotel, laundry, bowling alley, theatre, concert hall or place of amusement, factory or workshop, or as messenger or driver therefor, any child over the age of fourteen years and under sixteen years of age, unless there is first produced and placed on file in any such establishment or place of employment, as heretofore mentioned in this section, an age certificate, approved as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 4. Every person, firm or corporation, agent or manager of a corporation employing or permitting or suffering to work five or more children under the age of sixteen years and over the age of fourteen in any mercantile institution, store, office, laundry, hotel, manufacturing establishment, factory or workshop, shall post and keep posted in a conspicuous place in every room in which such help is employed, or permitted or suffered to work, a list containing the name, age and place of residence of every person under the age of sixteen years employed, permitted or suffered to work in such room.

Sec. 5. No child under sixteen years of age and over fourteen years of age shall be employed in any mercantile institution, store, office, hotel, laundry, manufacturing establishment, bowling alley, theatre, concert hall or place of amusement, factory or workshop, passenger or freight elevator, or in any messenger or express service, or as messenger or driver therefor, unless there is first produced and placed on file in such mercantile institution, store, office, hotel, laundry, manufacturing establishment, bowling alley, theatre, concert hall or place of amusement, factory or workshop, elevator or messenger or express office, and accessible to the state factory inspector, assistant factory inspector or deputy factory inspector, an age certificate as hereinafter prescribed: Provided, further, that the state factory inspector, assistant factory inspector or deputy factory inspector shall have power to demand a certificate of physical fitness from some regularly licensed physician, in the case of children who may seem to said inspector physically unable to perform the labor at which they may be employed; and no such child shall be employed who cannot obtain such a certificate.

Sec. 6. The state factory inspector, or any assistant factory inspector acting under his authority, shall have full power to issue an age certificate to minors over fourteen years and under sixteen years of age seeking employment in any part of the state, but in all counties of this state where the state factory inspector has established no permanent office, it shall be the duty of any justice of the peace for and within the township in which such minor resides to issue or approve such age certificate: Provided, however, that no person authorized to issue an age certificate as aforesaid shall have authority to approve such certificate for any child then in or about to enter his own establishment, or the employment of a firm or corporation of which he is a member, officer or employe. The person approving these age certificates shall have authority to administer the oath provided therein, but no fee shall be charged therefor. Every person issuing or approving these age certificates shall keep a record of the same, and shall forward to the office of the state factory inspector a duplicate of each certificate issued or approved All such age certificates shall be subject to review by the state factory inspector and may by him be canceled if he finds that such certificates have been obtained through fraud, misrepresentation or falsification of facts. In such cases the state factory inspector shall give written notice to the employer, who shall at once cause the minor affected to be dismissed from employment.

Sec. 8. The state inspector of factories, his assistants or deputies, shall visit all mercantile institutions, stores, offices, laundries, manufacturing establishments, bowling alleys, theaters, concert halls or places of amusement, factories or workshops, and all other places where minors are or may be employed, in this state, and ascertain whether any minors are employed contrary to the provisions of this act. Inspectors of factories may require that age certificates and all lists of minors employed in such factories, workshops, mercantile institutions and all other places where minors are employed as provided for in this act, shall be produced for their inspection on demand.

Sec. 9. No child under the age of sixteen years shall be employed to adjust any belt to any machinery or to oil or assist in oiling, wiping or cleaning machinery; nor shall any such child operate or assist in operating circular or band saws, wood-shapers, wood-jointers, planers, sand paper or wood polishing machinery, emory or polishing wheels used for polishing metal, wood-turning or boring machinery, stamping machines in sheet metal and tinware manufacturing, stamping machines in washer and nut factories, operating corrugating rolls, such as are used in roofing factories, nor shall they be employed in operating any steam boiler, steam machinery, or other steam generating apparatus; they shall not operate or assist in operating dough brakes, or cracker machinery of any description; wire or iron straightening machinery; nor shall they operate or assist in operating rolling mill machinery, punches or shears, washing, grinding or mixing mill or calender rolls in rubber manufacturing; nor shall they operate or assist in operating laundry machinery; nor shall such children be employed in any capacity in preparing any composition in which dangerous or poisonous acids are used; and they shall not be employed in any capacity in the manufacture of paints, colors or white lead; nor shall they be employed in any capacity whatever in operating or assisting to operate any passenger or freight elevator; nor shall they be employed in any capacity whatever in the manufacture of goods for immoral purposes, or any other employment that may be considered dangerous to their lives or limbs, or where their health may be injured or morals depraved; nor in any messenger or express service, which requires them to carry messages or merchandise to or from houses of ill fame, nor in any theatre, concert hall, or place of amusement wherein intoxicating liquors are sold.

Sec. 10. The presence of any person under the age of sixteen years in any manufacturing establishment, factory or workshop, shall constitute prima facie evidence of his or her employment therein.

Sec. 12. Whoever, having under his control a child under the age of sixteen years, permits such child to be employed in violation of the provisions of this act, shall, for each offense, be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, and shall stand committed until such fine and costs are paid. A failure to produce to the inspector of factories, his assistants or deputies, any age certificates, or lists required by this act, shall constitute a violation of this act, and the person failing shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars for each offense. Any person, firm or corporation, agent or manager, superintendent or foreman of any firm or corporation—whether for himself or for such firm or corporation, or by himself or through sub-agents or foreman, superintendent or manager, who shall violate or fail to comply with any of the provisions of this act, or shall refuse admittance to premises or otherwise obstruct the factory inspector, assistant factory inspector or deputy factory inspectors in the performance of their duties as prescribed by this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each offese, and shall stand committed until such fine and costs are paid.

A WELL-KEPT SECRET

Married Man Got Divorce and Took Another Wife.

Winamac, Ind., June 10.—A secret, well kept, has just come to light, the marriage of Prof William E. Jackson, of Holly Springs, Miss., to Miss Elnora M. Bader, a teacher in the Winamac High school. They were married by Rev. H. D. Brown, of the First Baptist church of Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 7, 1905.

Mr. Jackson, in 1890, was principal of the Winamac High school, and later was appointed postmaster at this place under President Cleveland.

Miss Bader became deputy and it was during this period that their friendship is said to have ripened into love.

At that time Mr. Jackson was a married man, but in 1905 he divorced his wife and later married Miss Bader.

The latter recently resigned her position as teacher and has gone to Terre Haute, Ind., to complete a course in stenography and typewriting so she can assist her husband in his work of preparing a southern history, on which he is at work at Holly Springs, Miss.

NOVELS CAUSE INSANITY

McCray Bought a Star and Traveled in Search of "Desperadoes."

Robert McCray, a well-known young farmer of near Pithian, was adjudged insane this week and conveyed to the asylum at Kankakee, says a Bloomington, Ill., dispatch. He was an inveterate reader of 5-cent novels, investing in all that were published until he accumulated a wagon load.

He recently became imbued with the idea that he was a detective and would travel all over the state searching for imaginary criminals. He obtained a star and diploma from an Indianapolis agency and was very proud of the possession. His family did not make any objection until this week, when he became destructive of the household furniture and his wife and two children became afraid of him. He is 35 years of age.

POULTRY AND BEES

AN UNHEATED WAX-PRESS.

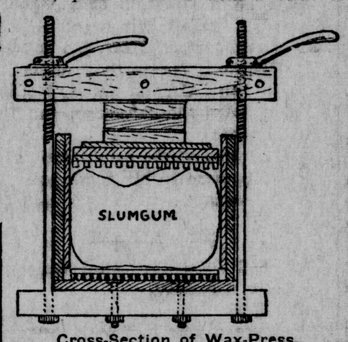

How to Construct Such a Press Entirely of Wood.

The drawings shown herewith make the construction of my wax-press plain writes a correspondent of Gleanings in Bee Culture. To begin rendering wax, first put the cleated rack into the bottom of the press. Take a burlap sack that is big enough to hold 100 pounds of bran and rip the seam in one side and the bottom. Spread this burlap sheet over the press; push it down in and see that it fits well into the corners, letting the edges hang out over the top. Now take a whole sack and put it into the press with a hoop in the top to hold it open. Now dip into your tub, full of boiling comb; take the hoop out of the sack; push it down with a stick to make it fit on the bottom and in the corners. Fold up the mouth of the sack and the sheet over it. Put the follower on, with the blocks on top. Swing the cross-bar over and push the screw up through the hole in it. Put on the handle and turn both handles down, one at a time.

After the wax is pressed out, take off one handle; let the screw slip down even with the top of the press and unfold the first burlap so it hangs over edges. Now get hold of the top of the sack and pull it up some so it can cool a little. Then empty out the slumgum, put the sack back, and fill it again as before.

To boil the comb, use a four-hole stove with all the lids off. Put on a big tub containing two buckets of water, and add the comb as it boils, until the tub is nearly full. The water and free wax flow out of the press immediately, leaving only the slumgum to press.

HELP FOWLS TO LAY.

The Reasons Why Green Bone Makes Eggs.

It is not enough that a given food contain a certain per cent. of lime or a certain per cent. of phosphates; it must also be decided whether these different chemicals can be assimilated by the hen. Dalton, who is indisputable authority, says: "It is well known that inorganic substances, although they afford the necessary material for vegetation, are not sufficient for the nourishment of animals, which depend for their support upon elements already combined in the organic form, by the action of the sun's rays and plant life."

That market bones produce wonderful results when fed to poultry is indisputable. The lean meat and gristle form the white of the egg and about 16 per cent. of the yolk. The marrow and other fat on the bones supply the remainder of the yolk.

The lime phosphates in the bone yield all the necessary lime, salts for the shell and the necessary phosphates for the interior of the egg. When it is considered that all the above substances are found in green bone in a specially digestible condition, far more so than any food supplied by dry meat, corn or wheat, is it surprising that such glowing reports are so often heard about this new food for poultry?

With modern machinery obtainable on easy terms, poultry men should feed more liberally of green cut bone, especially to pullets and cockerels during the cold winter months when other lime food is hard to find.

HER BIBLE SEARCHED

For a Verse to Cure Burns, While Tot Remained in Agony.

Columbus, Ind., June 10.— While playing with some matches at her home here the clothing of Mary, the 6-year-old daughter of Ed Miller, a tanner, caught fire, and she was probably fatally burned.

At the time of the accident the child's parents were absent from home, and she fled in terror to the home of a neighbor, a faith curist.

Instead of sending for a physician, the woman is said to have searched for a considerable time for a passage in the Bible with which to charm away the burns.

When she finally found the passage she stood over the little sufferer and recited it. When she finished she declared that the child was much better and that no physician was needed.

Other neighbors, however, thought differently, and, after much delay, which the physician said endangered the child's life, medical attention was procured for the little girl. She was burned more or less all over the body.

MADE THE CHILDREN HAPPY

Mrs. Pratt Was Hostess to Seventy-Five Saturday Afternoon.

Mrs. H. A. Pratt entertained seventy-five little children at her home until 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in compliment to little Lillian McCalley, of Washington, D. C., who, with her mother, is visiting Hon. John T. Heard and family.

A continuous vaudeville show, made to represent the amusements on Coney Island, was the feature of the afternoon, and four prizes were awarded, each of the following winning one: Beulah Rodes, Miss McCalley, Lura Dugan and Tom Cloney.

Fortune telling was one of the enjoyable amusements, Mesdames J. H. Rodes and Newton Cannon acting as the clairvoyants.

Dainty refreshments were served during the afternoon, and after the children's amusement was concluded about twenty-five adults were entertained by Mrs. Pratt and the members of the household, who also assisted in entertaining the children.

LYING ON A COT

Beside a Box Containing a Corpse Aeronaut Found Himself.

Marion, Ohio, June 8.—Lying on a cot beside a rough box containing a corpse, T. H. Kinkade, an aeronaut, who narrowly escaped death while making an ascension in this city, was shipped to his home in Crooksville, Ohio, yesterday.

When Kinkade realized his proximity to the corpse he fainted, and upon reviving asked to be moved to the other end of the baggage car.

A FIRE AT KNOBNOSTER

A. C. SWAIN'S TWO-STORY DWELLING TOTALLY CONSUMED LAST NIGHT.

THE OWNER HAD A NARROW ESCAPE

Was Rescued Through a Window—Was Sound Asleep When the Fire Was Discovered by Some Young People.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Knob Noster, Mo., June 7.—A. C. Swain's large two-story dwelling on McPherson street and the contents were totally destroyed by fire about 11 o'clock last night.

Mr. Swain had gone home from his store about 10 o'clock and was sound asleep when the fire was discovered by some young people who were sitting in the hotel yard.

Mr. Swain was rescued through a window, saving only his pants.

The Elliott hotel and the Christian church, which were on either side of the Swain home, also two dwellings and a blacksmith and wagon shop across the street were in great danger of catching fire.

The loss is about $4,500, which was covered by $2,500 insurance.

Mr. Swain's wife is visiting relatives in Bates county, and his son, who stays with him, was at the Woodmen lodge.

This is the second fire he has had within eight months, having lost his large barn and contents before.

WINDOW ON GIRL'S NECK

And Soon Afterward Her Father Found Her Lifeless Body.

Wautoma, Wis., June 10.—Emma Frater, 13-year-old daughter of a Mt. Morris township farmer, was the victim of a curious accident.

The girl went to the school house early to decorate it before the arrival of the teacher. Finding the door locked she attempted to climb through a window.

The block of wood on which she stood slipped and the window dropped down on the child's neck, strangling her.

Her father, who left home soon after his daughter, drove past the school house and saw the little figure hanging from the window. He ran to her assistance

On nearing the schoolhouse he recognized his daughter's dress and a moment after had his child's dead body in his arms.

A STORY OF SHAMEITOLD

EVEN THE KAISER IS TOUCHED BY AWFUL TALES OF DEBAUCHERY.

THE WICKEDNESS OF "OUR PHILIP"

Offenses Such as Marred the Reputation of Oscar Wilde Led to the Fall of Court Favorite in Germany.

Berlin, June 10.—With the impending fall of "Our Philip," as Emperor William has been wont to style Prince Philip Zu Eulenberg, his intimate and favorite, and the threatened disclosures involved in his last stand for respect before the world in the prosecution of Maximillian Harden, the editor of Die Zukunft, a scandal has been let loose, whose malodorous fumes have reached the very foot of the throne.

It promises to be in the way of sensational disclosures of German court secrets what the Dreyfus affair was to the French army.

It is an unparalleled story of sybaritic debauchery after the practices of Oscar Wilde indulged in by a cliue of men whose names are the proudest men in the empire, whose circle included as its dupe and prey the emperor himself.

The climax of the revelations comes in the assurance that the information which has crept into the newspapers and so inflamed the country is given by a lady of the nobility, who divorced her husband, one of the "Round Table Knights," for that species of offense against his marriage vows which does not figure in ordinary court records.

The ascendancy which a man of the personal and intellectual gifts of Prince Philip Zu Eulenberg, who is a scholar, pere, diplomat and soldier, might gain over the emperor is readily understood.

The emperor, who excels in many polite accomplishments, has always been a generous admirer and patron of his intellectual peers. The associates of Fulenberg were men of note and distinction, but their chief hold on the monarch seems to have been through his study of mysticism and the study of the occult. Blinded by the appeal to his superstition, he was caught in the mesh of the plotters who combined political intrigue and unspeakable moral obliquity To accomplish their own ends they deliberately played upon his interest 'n the supernatural.

While no personal blame attaches to the emperor, he has lost prestige enormously because he has been imposed upon so readily, yielding to the influence of such men in more than one political intrigue

Tho first breath of the trouble came on November 24, 1906, when Maxmilian Harden, a noted publicist and friend of Bismark, published in the paper, the Zukuft, a cryptic dialogue, veiled to the uninitiated, but sufficiently illuminating to the Round Table Knghts to strke terror to their hearts.

No one had the courage to broach the matter to the emperor, and finally the crown prince brought the matter to his father's attention. The emperor believed that Harden was actuated by personal malice against Eulenberg until within the past few weeks, when his eyes were opened to detestible practices of his associates.

Eulenberg, who is a member of one of the oldest Prussian families, rose gradually at court till he became ambassador to Vienna. After serving at this post for some time he returned to Germany to be received into the closest intimacy of the emperor. He was consulted on almost all great affairs of state. The extent of his influence may be judged by the fact that he and his friends at Castle Liebenberg forged the plot which resulted in the retirement of Count Caprive from the chancellorship of the empire.

VALUE OF A GOOD COOP.

Day When the Old Barrel Can Be Used With Profit Is Past.

In years gone by a farmer turned a decrepit barrel on its side and drove vertical stakes down in front of it to serve as a coop for the hen and brood. If he thought to bore several holes in that part of the barrel nearest the ground so that the water could drain out, he prevented the possibility of a heavy rain flooding the quarters and drowning the chicks.

In later years the up-to-date farmer has adopted more modern and more practical quarters for the little chicks and the broody hen. Sometimes the adoption of a good coop means the successful rearing of strong, healthy youngsters instead of stunted birds which can never be more than culls.

The brood coop of the present day protects the brood from wind in cold weather, from driving rains in all seasons and is also capable of admitting a goodly supply of pure air. It is also so constructed that it may be easily cleaned. Most of them have fronts of vertical slats and if they are equipped with tight floors these floors should be made removable in order that the floors may be easily cleaned. If the floors, however, are not nailed to the coops, the latter may be lifted off and the floors cleaned readily. Again if no floors are used but the coops are allowed to sit directly on well-drained ground, cleaning the coop is simply a matter of moving it to a fresh location every morning.

The interior of a coop should always be dry, says The Farmer, and it is advisable therefore to cover the roof and sides with some sort of waterproof material; for example, some of the prepared roofings or tar paper. To prevent the entrance of animals that would kill the chickens a stout frame covered with fine mesh wire netting may be made to be placed in front of the coop at night so that protection may be afforded without cutting off the supply of air.

An ordinary packing box with each of its dimensions about two feet may be made into a satisfactory coop by covering it with roofing fabric and providing it with a slat front, etc.

POULTRY NOTES.

Sunflower seed makes good poultry food. Raise some this season.

Thoroughly cleanse and whitewash the poultry house this month.

The time spent in learning how to prevent poultry diseases will save twice the time needed to effect a cure.

Beekeeping gives open-air exercise, brings one into contact with the beauties of nature, and is an interesting, fascinating study.

If the reader is not able to own a green bone cutter, he can take a sharp hatchet and cut up the green bones into particles, which the birds can eat.

Do not put more than 50 chicks in one flock in any brooder, no matter how much room the machine may provide. Fifty is as many as will do well together.

Do not feed all the skim milk to the hogs. It is a valuable food for eggs and growth and may be used to mix the mash or may be given to drink in addition to water.

Lice breed faster as warm weather comes on. To combat them paint the roost and roost supports frequently with some of the best liquid lice killers, or with kerosene.

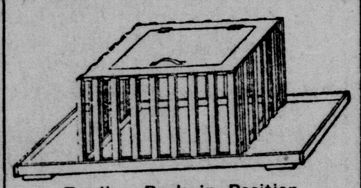

The difference in the consumption of honey, when wintering in the cellar compared with wintering out-of-doors, is only from the fact that the temperature is more uniform, and therefore the bees keep more quiet.

Overfeeding and underfeeding should both be guarded against by the beginner in poultry raising. Overfeeding is certain death, while underfeeding is death to development and growth. Both are unprofitable and should be avoided.

GOOD FEED RACK.

One Which Will Prevent Poultry From Wasting Feed.

A serviceable feeding rack, shown in the illustration, is designed to prevent waste of feed given to poultry and to keep water from being soiled, says Orange Judd Farmer. It consists of a crate and a base tray of any desired size. The tray has two cross pieces beneath to prevent warping and a rim of two-inch stuff. The crate is made of lath, say one foot long, nailed to a top consisting af a board one inch thick and a base frame of wood 1½ by one- half or three-fourths. The cover may or may not have the hinged trap door, as shown in the drawing. Water or feed, or both, may be set under the crate without fear of loss or pollution.

Peanuts for Dairy Cows.

Prof. Corbett of the department of agriculture is a great believer in peanuts—as a food for dairy cattle. He urges the farmers of Texas to grow them for this purpose.

LOST HIS LIFE SUNDAY

E. D. JOSLIN, EMPLOYE OF THE SEDALIA LIGHT AND TRACTION COMPANY.

WAS ELECTROCUTED AT THE PLANT

Came in Contact With a Live Wire and Was Dead in a Few Minutes —An Inquest Was Held This Forenoon.

E. D. Joslin, aged about 45 years, employed as section man for the Sedalia Light and Traction company, was electrocuted at the company's Broadway power plant about 5:25 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Joslin was helping install new bearings in an engine at the plant, and at the time stated he walked toward the rear of the electric switch.

He was noticed by John Zarr, another employe, who called to him several times to stay away from behind the switch.

Mr. Joslin did not hear the warning, however, and walked behind the board, and, while looking around, he leaned with his back against the switch board, coming in contact with a live wire. He immediately fell to the ground and died several minutes later.

Dr. Guy Titsworth, coroner, was summoned, and ordered the remains removed to McLaughlin's undertaking establishment, where the body was prepared for burial.

An inquest was held at the court house at 9 o'clock this morning, the jury being composed of the following: Edward Donohue, Bedford Shobe, Douglas Lane, Captain W. H. Mason, William Jolly, the carpenter, and W. H. Thompson.

The verdict of the jury was that Mr. Joslin came to his death by coming in contact with an electric switch.

Frank Clark, engineer at the plant, and John Zarr were the only witnesses examined.

Mr. Joslin was a married man and leaves a wife and four children.

Mr. Joslin belonged to Sedalia camp No. 16, Woodmen of the World, and carried $1,000 insurance in that order.

The funeral services will be held at the family residence, 508 Howard street, at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and the burial will be under the auspices of the Woodmen, members of Sedalia camp serving as pall bearers.

PASSENGERS SANK WITH BOAT

Captain and Crew Reached Shore Safely Yesterday.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative and my book on either dyspepsia, the heart or the kidneys. Troubles of the stomach, heart or kidneys are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean stomach weakness, always. And the heart, and kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me today for sample and free book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by W. E. Bard Drug Co.

THE SCAB INSECT.

Of All External Parasites It Is by Far the Most Dangerous.

Of all external parasites the scab mite is by far the most dangerous and troublesome, once it is permitted to effect a lodgment upon the sheep. It is not a common ailment upon farms in the east, but is sufficiently prevalent upon the ranges of the west to make the danger of infection great. In fact, upon the ranges, scab and starvation are the two principal diseases among the flocks.

The scab mite is an insect so small that it is not quite visible to the naked eye, lives upon the skin, and by irritating the surface, it causes a flow of the fluid upon which it lives, and finally, by continuing this irritation, scabs or crusts are formed beneath which the insect deposits its eggs. In the course of two or three days, says Rural New Yorker, these eggs hatch. The newly-born parasite becomes adult in 15 days. Each female parasite will lay about 15 eggs, 10 of which will bring forth females and the other five males.

The new parasites, as soon as they are hatched, migrate and infect the adjacent territory, which makes the scab patch spread, by the constant advance of its circumference, and the eggs of new parasites are deposited upon posts or boards upon which the sheep rub themselves, and thus are ready to seize any advantage to again locate themselves upon other sheep, when they in turn become centers of infection. Gerlach, a German authority, computes that in three months a single female scab insect may become responsible for the existence of 1,500,000 progeny, thus in 45 days after infection the increase from one parasite might be 1,500; in 75 days, 150,000, and in 90 days, 1,500,000. As a matter of fact, it requires about 90 days for the scab disease to become well spread and very troublesome after introduction into a clean flock.

SILAGE IN FATTENING STEERS.

Prof. Thomas Shaw Thinks That Corn Silage Cannot Be Beat.

In corn growing areas it is my conviction that no food for growing or for fattening steers will prove cheaper or more valuable than corn silage. In saying this I know the opinion expressed is counter to what many believe who live in the corn belt, but I will not take back or modify the statement.

A steer that is fattening and that weighs 1,000 pounds should be fed from 30 to 40 pounds of corn silage daily. It goes well with clover hay or alfalfa or any leguminous fodder. Of the latter five pounds or about that much would be wanted per day. The grain ration, fed ground, would be about a pound or slightly more per day for every pound of the live weight of the steer. The amount mentioned is for a steer after he is on full feed. Leading up to full feed, considerably less would be used. The meal should be fed on the silage. When the silage is put in the feed box, the meal is thrown over it and the meal and silage are mixed while they are being eaten, which means that all is rechewed in chewing the cud, which is favorable to thorough digestion.

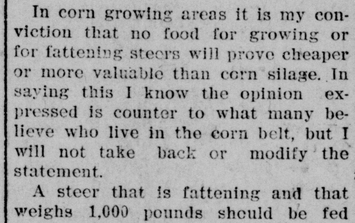

It will not answer to feed only silage as the fodder ration. Some dry fodder is necessary as a safeguard, but when the silage is sweet and good, it would be safe to feed somewhat more than the amounts mentioned. Fed in suitable amounts the succulence exercises a favorable influence on digestion.

The day is certainly coming when there will be a great extension in the building of silos, and it cannot come too soon. No other method of saving corn will compare with it. It utilizes the entire product, stalk and grain.

HOGS IN SUMMER.

Shelter from the Heat of the Sun Should Be Provided.

The sketch shows a simple means of providing shelter for hogs. This plan is intended to afford protection from the hot sun and sudden storms. In a corner of the hog lot may be erected four posts in addition to two fence posts, says Prairie Farmer. Three stringers are placed across three pairs of these posts and boards nailed over the top as indicated in the sketch.

Americans Eating Mutton.

The Americans are getting the mutton eating habit. Heretofore they have been wedded to the sirloin steak, but now they are catching on to the merits of the mutton chop. This change in taste means much for the future of the sheep man, for the sheep will make good meat out of much food which is generally wasted on the farm, while the income from the wool may be counted anyhow as so much clean profit.

The Head of the Herd.

One farmer says that the poorer the sows are the greater is the necessity for a good boar. This is true. A medium-quality boar bred on poor sows will not lift up the average very fast. The head of the herd is the chief factor in the improvement of the herd.

STEVE ADAMS IS THERE

ALLEGED ASSOCIATE OF ORCHARD ARRIVED IN BOISE THIS MORNING.

HE MAY REFUSE TO TESTIFY

Attorneys for the Defense Say That Self-Confessed Killer Is the Most Difficult Proposition They Have Ever Met.

Boise, Idaho, June 10.—Steve Adams, the alleged associate of Harry Orchard in some of his crimes, reached Boise this morning in charge of a deputy and accompanied by his attorney.

It is believed that Adams has made up his mind to refuse to testify when he is placed on the stand.

Adams was placed in a cell in the county jail adjoining that occupied by Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone.

Begins Fifth Day's Grilling.

Harry Orchard began his fifth day's grilling on the witness stand in the Haywood murder trial this morning. The counsel for the defense themselves do not hesitate to pronounce Orchard the most difficult proposition they have ever been called upon to face.

Orchard admitted conferring this morning with Detective McFarland and with Attorney Hawley yesterday, but he denied that they had instructed him to make the few corrections in his testimony which he asked to be allowed to make. He then denied that he had ever talked over the mining troubles with Nelson Franklin and A. E. Carlton, of the Mine Owners' association. He said he had discussed the Independence mine matter with Parker and Davis and declared that it was because Haywood's control of the federation was in jeopardy in the convention that the leaders wanted "something pulled off."

After lengthy questioning that developed little that was material, Attorney Richardson suddenly turned on Orchard and shouted, "Look here, have you been cautioned not to give definitely any time or place during this cross-examination?"

"I have been cautioned as to nothing," retorted the witness, with feeling, "but to tell the truth."

"Who cautioned you," demanded Richardson, "McPharland and Hawley?"

Orchard denied that either McPharland or Hawley had coached him and denied also that he had received a letter from Superintendent William A. Pinkerton encouraging him in the stand he was taking.

NATURE'S WARNING.

Sedalia People Must Recognize and Heed It.

Kidney ills come quietly—mysteriously.

But nature always warns you.

Notice the kidney secretions.

See if the color is unhealthy.

If there are settlings and sediment,

Passages frequent, scanty, painful.

It's time then to use Doan's Kidney Pills.

To ward off Bright's disease or diabetes.

Doan's have done great work in Sedalia.

Joseph Adams, blacksmith, at 211 South Osage street, and living at 417 West Fifth street, Sedalia, Mo., says: "I was troubled for years with a constant misery in my back and sharp pains along the channel running from the kidneys to the bladder. During the night I would have to get up four or five times to pass the secretions, especially in cold or damp weather. I went to W. E. Bard's drug store and got Doan's Kidney Pills. It did me so much good that I got a second box. After using three boxes in all I did not have to arise at night so frequently, and my back was free from the pain and was stronger than it had been for a long while. From my experience I can say that Doan's Kidney Pills can be relied upon to bring beneficial results in all cases of backache and kidney trouble."

ROTATION AND FERTILITY.

The One Bears Intimate Relation to the Other.

Our experience has proven that one method of conserving soil fertility is by a proper rotation of crops. Of course we are not decrying the use of commercial fertilizers, for they are no doubt beneficial in the majority of instances. They have been tried and proven, but there are a great number of farmers who have not used them, and yet by careful and constant crop rotation have been able to keep up the fertility of their land.

After 25 years of intense farming, the 160-acre farm where I was born and reared is as fertile as in the beginning. This is due more to a sensible crop rotation than anything else. Of course the manure that accumulated about the barn and old straw ricks was scattered over the thin land every year, but the supply of fertilizer of this nature was very limited on the place, not sufficient to enrich over three or four acres any year. Then, too, our grain was always fed on the place, but it was soon discovered that land could not bear corn, wheat, oats or any one crop year after year with the light fertilizing it would get, without its strength being exhausted, which, of course, must inevitably mean lighter crops.

So we took care of our land by varying the crops, says a writer in Farmer's Voice. After a 40-acre field had been in timothy or clover two or three years, it would be broken up and planted in corn. The first crop was always good, but the second crop was generally immense. Sometimes we planted corn the third year, but very seldom. More often the ground was put in oats. This was done by breaking the stalk fields in the spring with cultivators, then sowing the oats and harrowing them in. The oat crop would often yield as high as 40 or 50 bushels to the acre. When the oats were harvested and threshed, the ground was immediately plowed and prepared for wheat. The wheat was sown early enough to get a good growth and become well rooted by winter. Sometimes we sowed a mixture of timothy and clover seed with the wheat, but experience finally proved that clover did not get sufficiently rooted to stand the rigorous winters, so thenceforth we sowed the clover and timothy on the wheat fields, in the early spring, about the first of March.

When the wheat was harvested there would generally be a good stand of clover and timothy, and the next year there would be a heavy crop of good meadow to reap. This field was left in meadow for two or three years; was then again broken and put through a similar rotation of crops, and these rotations seemed to build up rather than destroy the fertility of the soil. Anyhow, year after year our toil was rewarded with good crops, and the land seemed to be as rich and mellow at the close of each rotation as at its beginning.

Now, I do not claim that rotation of crops alone will render soil inexhaustible, for science and experience teaches that any soil will become impoverished and unproductive with continuous cropping unless the plant food taken therefrom be replaced by the means of some fertilizer. But there is no doubt enough plant food in good rich land to yield abundant harvests for many years if the crops are properly rotated.

POTATO CHUTE INTO CELLAR.

Convenient Device for Putting the Tubers in Storage.

Here is a handy device for storing potatoes in a cellar. It is a kind of a chute, as illustrated in the accompanying cut, which extends from the wagon box down into the cellar through an opening. The bottom of chute is made of four or five narrow boards with space between to let the dirt and small potatoes fall through.

If the opening into the cellar is very narrow, says Prairie Farmer, two boards can be placed at the lower end, as shown, to form a funnel at bottom of chute.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT.

Don't let the weeds get the whip hand over you.

It's a wise man as well as a good farmer who fights weeds when they are small.

Farm implements in operation should be examined in every part at least once a day and the nuts thoroughly tightened with a wrench.

Attach the wrench to the plow or other implement with a good strap or wire. Many wrenches are lost because they are not properly attached or not even fastened at all.

How about sowing some rape? It will come in pretty handy along about July and August. Five pounds of seed to the acre sown about corn planting time will make good sheep pasture.

Every farmer should have a ten-foot pole. Dress down a piece of pine or basswood one and one-fourth inches square and saw it off exactly ten feet long. Mark it off every foot and with indelible pencil mark the feet. Some find 12 feet a more useful length. Keep it dry and straight.

A VERY NARROW ESCAPE

HAD BY A PARACHUTE JUMPER WHO WAS IMPALED ON A BOUGH.

A THRILLING STORY WELL TOLD

Faint From Loss of Blood, But After a Week or Two Spent in a Hospital the Aeronaut Was Able to Be Out Again.

For twenty-seven years I have been engaged in making balloon ascensions, parachute jumps, and in experimenting with all kinds of paraphernalia for navigating the air, says a writer in the Chicago Inter-Ocean. I have had all kinds of falls, escapes from drowning and other mishaps, and it is hard to pick out one among them which I would consider the closest call. There are two, however, which are so far out of the ordinary that I will leave it to any one to select which was the nearest.

The first which I will describe occurred in Kentucky, where I happened to be at the time of the first election of McKinley. I had been engaged to make a flight at Frankfort at a big gathering and barbecue, and there were thousands of people there. Everything seemed to be favorable to the ascension, and it was without any qualms that I cast loose and the big gas balloon shot up in the air. I was to come down in the parachute, but I had done this hundreds of times before, and there seemed to be nothing to fear. I don't remember exactly how high up I was when I determined to cast loost, but suddenly as I was descending I realized that the air current had taken me in a diagonal direction, and I was making directly for a cliff where there was a heavy growth of timber. It all happened so quickly that I can hardly describe it. At any rate, I found myself coming down in an immense tree, and the branches seemed to be fairly bristling.

I endeavored to get a foothold on a branch, so that I could hold myself there until help came, but I got tangled in the parachute, and the next thing I knew a sharp branch penetrated my throat just under my jaw and came right through into my mouth, knocking out two teeth. I was made unconscious almost immediately, and I must have hung there for an hour and a half before I found that the people were trying to rescue me. It was a most difficult place to get to, and, as there were only negroes about, it seemed an age before anything was done. I hung there by the throat, being supported more or less by the rigging of the parachute, which had become entangled with the upper branches of the tree. Finally a man was let down from the top of the cliff by means of a rope, and in a short time I found myself disengaged from the branch and hauled up. I was faint from loss of blood, but after a week or so spent in the hospital I managed to recover.

In the other escape I had I have always considered myself virtually a dead man for two hours. Not that the life actually left my body, but it lay there dormant until restored to activity by the most heroic measures. If they had not been taken I would have expired. It was several years ago, when I had been engaged to make an ascension and parachute jump at Sheboygan, Wis. I made the ascension all right, but when I cut loose in the parachute I found I was booked to descend into Green bay. I was only 700 or 800 feet from the water, but I came down a good deal more rapidly than the steam launch that was out after me could get to me. I was in the water about 20 minutes when it finally arrived. It had on board members of the life-saving crew, who were expert in handling men taken from the lake. They used bags of rock salt to keep up the heart action, and it was more than two hours before they got the slightest visible signs of life from me. I recovered from that experience all right. While it may seem commonplace in view of the hair-raising episodes in the careers of other aeronauts, I think it was my closest call from death.

Try Chamberlain's Pain Balm for Rheumatism.

Mr. J. W. Jamison, a merchant of Newport, Iowa, says: "I have sold Chamberlain's Pain Balm for several years and have recommended it for neuralgia and reumatism, as well as for more common pains, and it has given good results.
